PARIS, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 10, 1982

Established 1887

General Claims Victory Aide Says In Guatemala; Others Charge Election Fraud Stays Clear

GUATEMALA CITY — Gen.
Angel Anibal Guevara, backed by squads and that the voting was rigged in provide a facade of support for the government. the military-diminated ruling par-ty in Guatemala's presidential election, claimed victory Tuesday and rejected charges of fraud by noonsitinn candidates, whn planned a protest rally.

"We won these elections cleanly and freely, through our own work," Gen. Guevara said at a news conference at his headquarters. "I said it before and I'll repeat it: If we win these elections, we'll win them at the voting booths, and if I lose, I'll lose at the voting booths. But I'm also going to claim my triumph in the streets, if it's possible," he added, referring to a planned victory rally.

Authorities said a bomb exploded late Monday outside the elec-toral registry office, which was in charge of overseeing the ballnting. They said no injuries were report-ed and damage was light.

Gen. Guevara, 56, an army general and furmer defense minister, said his three opponents had nn proof of fraud and were following the tradium of past elections, when the losers also claimed to

Leftist Boycott

Early Tuesday, Gen. Guevara, the candidate of the Popular Democratic Front coalition, had re-tained his lead with 184,084 vntes. Mario Sandoval Alarcón, a far-right candidate, was in second place with 136,146 vntes; Alejandro Maldonado Aguirre, a moder-ate, had 122,872; and Gustavo Anzueto, a pro-business candidate, had 51,571.

The leftists boycotted the election, saying that their candidates in 60 days. But they offered little

1

LASSER

NO US

An election registry spokesman said he did not know how many of the 3,039 ballot boxes distributed nationwide for 2.3 million eligible voters still remained to be opened. Western observers said about 800,000 people — 35 percent of the registered voters — cast ballnts Sunday. Election officials said more than 40 percent voted.

Besides choosing a new president, the voters also voted for a vice president, 66 members of Congress to take office July 1, and municipal officials. Nn returns from those races were available

The returns indicated Gen. Guevara would win a plurality of the votes but not a majnrity, leaving the choice of a new president to the outgoing Congress, where Gen. Guevara's coalition has a majority. President Romeo Lucas Garcia, who was prohibited by the constitution from seeking another term, is also a member of the coalition. Gen. Guevara's election therefore seems certain.

Mr. Maldonado, Mr. Anzueto and Mr. Sandoval met Monday to plot a strategy for trying to force the government to nullify the elecdonado and Mr. Sandoval said their supporters would stage a mass demonstration Tuesday night in the capital's main plaza to protest alleged fraud by Gen. Guevara's backers,

Mr. Sandoval and Mr. Maldonado demanded that the vote be oullified and a new election held withwould be killed by rightist death evidence to back their charges.

Nicaragua

Defends Policy On El Salvador

By Joanne Omang Washington Past Service
SAN SALVADOR — The Nicaraguan chargé d'affaires in El Salvador has acknowledged that there may be Nicaraguan merce-naries fighting with rebel Salva-dorans, but he stressed that their existence has not been demonstrat-ed and that his government discourages any such activity.

Meanwhile, heavy fighting erupted throughout the country Monday in what appeared to be the start of a major new guerrilla offensive designed to disrupt the elections set for March 28.

"Nicaraguans are a free people," the envoy, Sandino Rafael Somar-riba Guevara, said Monday in an interview. "Any citizen can go and enroll in any guerrilla or govern-ment army he likes — Chinese, Japanese, whatever — but this is not to say that this is a [Nicaragu-an] government policy... These are mercenary individuals."

He said it would not surprise him if there were Nicaraguan mer-cenaries in El Salvador. "There may be, but they haven't been seen," he said. "I don't know that they exist." He denied that a young Nicaraguan arrested at the Salvadoran-Guatemalam border last month was anything more than a 19-year-old Nicaraguan student at the University of Nueva León in Monterrey, Mexico, wbn was on his way home to Managua for vacation

In a separate interview, Salva-doran Foreign Minister Fidel Chavez Mena said the government (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Charles J. Haughey was surrounded Tuesday in Dublin after being elected premier of Ireland.

Haughey Wins Vote in Parliament To Become Ireland's New Premier

By Leonard Downie Jr.

LONDON — Charles J. Hanghey, a controversial politician with a knack for survival in admier of Ireland for the second time Tuesday with a surprisingly large parliamentary majority after last month's indecisive oatinnal election.

Mr. Haughey, 56, who was previously premier from December, 1979, until last June, defeated the incumbent, Garret FitzGerald, by 86 votes to 79 in the 166-seat Irish parliament in Dublio. Mr. Haughey won the support of five independent or minor-party legis-lators in additioo to the 81 members of his Fianna Fail party.

gestions that the president

The members of Parliament are might hear heckling from those displeased that the Labor Party leader. Michael Foot, was not consulted about the invitation to Mr.

Reagan to make the speech to both houses of Parliament June 8. Only one foreign head of state, De

Gaulle, has ever addressed both

Mr. Foot, who is opposed to many of Mr. Reagan's policies, re-acted angrily Monday when he heard about the invitation on a ra-

After a meeting with Prime Min-government as the reason for their tor, said that there were "a considerable number of MPs who feel tinguished presidents in the past, or existing heads of other states, who might reasonably receive such

But, he said, "they do not be-lieve there are a substantial number of British people who welcome

such an invitation to the present

The Sun newspaper reported Tuesday that some Labor MPs had "threatened to boo" the president.

president of the United States."

Reagan Budget

President Reagan offers Senate Republicans his "full co-operation" in reaching an agreement on the 1983 budget, but only if it preserves his commitments on tax cuts and military spending. Page 3.

Black and White

When the young white minister was laid to rest the way he had tried to live, in the company of blacks, it was the second time in less than a month that the unremitting racial confrontation that is almost universally assumed to exist in South Africa dissolved for a few hours. Page 3.

·

The state of th

INSIDE

Frank Dobson, a Labor legisla-that there are a number of dis-dio news broadcast.

opposition.

whn dn attend.

A spokesman for Sinn Fein The Workers' Party — a leftist group that is not connected with Sinn Fein, the political wing of the Irish Republican Army — said after the vote that its three members of parvote that its three members of par-liament supported Mr. Haughey because they believed a Fianna Fail government had a better chance of surviving than a minori-ty government led by Mr. FitzGer-ald. His party, Fine Gael, has 63 members in parliament, and its furner coalition partner, the La-bor Party, has 15.

Mr. Haughey now must keep the support of the five minor-party and independent members while trying to deal decisively with pressing economic problems that in-clude dangerously large govern-

"Hear! Hear!" and

The Guardian newspaper said in an editorial that the whole affair

but added, "It would be churlish

... to attempt to block or deny the president his privileged platform io Westminster Hall."

Premature Appointment

Government officials said that Mrs. Thatcher had "conveyed ber displeasure" to the White House on Monday about the premature mnouncement of the appearance. Government sources said that the U.S. ambassador in London, John

Louis, expressed his regret to the Foreign Office for any embarrassment that Washington caused Mrs. Thatcher, one of Mr. Reagan's

The counselor for public affairs at the U.S. Embassy, Philip Arnold, said that there was an apology for the disclosure of Britain's invitation to Mr. Reagan "before there was a formal joint announce-

In light of the flap, the U.S. Embassy declined to state categorically if Mr. Reagan would make the Buckingham Palace, however, confirmed Mr. Reagan's visit to Windsor Castle on June 7 and 8 as the guest of Queen Elizabeth and her husband, Prince Philip.

The arrangements are part of Mr. Reagan's first European trip as president, which also will in-clude attendance at the summit meeting of industrialized countries in France and a NATO meeting in West Germany.

staunchest allies.

ment from both sides,"

had been "woefully mismanaged,

Laborites May Boycott

Reagan in Parliament

From Agency Dispatches Heckling of British prime minis-LONDON — Labor Party legis-

Shame!"

laturs threatened Tuesday to boy- the House of Commons, where the cott President Reagan's address to leader appears regularly to answer Parliament in June, and there were colleagues' questions amid shouts ment budget deficits and foreign debts, 20-percent inflation and 13-percent unemployment.

His return as premier is the latest of a series of political comebacks that have marked his career.

Mr. Haughey served in several senior ministerial positions during the 1960s. But he was dismissed as minister of finance by Premier Jack Lynch in 1970 after being charged with participating in a conspiracy to import arms for use in British-ruled Northern Ireland. He was acquitted.

He returned to government as health minister and won a bitter Fianna Pail leadership fight to be-come premier when Mr. Lynch re-tired in 1979.

British Budget Holds Line on Taxes, Deficits

New York Times Service LONDON - Britain's Conservative government unveiled a new budget Tuesday that held out the promise of reaching Prime Minis-ter Margaret Thatcher's goal of lower tax rates and smaller deficits.

Combined with a sharp cut in interest rates almost certain in fullow quickly, the announcement provided both confirmation that Britain's economy was emerging from recessinn and encouragement that the recovery would be sus-

The economic package outlined before the Hnuse of Commons by Sir Geoffrey Howe, the chancellor of the exchequer, provided virtual-ly none of the new spending and other stimulative measures sought by oppositinn parties. It represents no significant change in Mrs. Thatcher's insistence that the economy must be kept under tight

But tax cuts and modest spending concessions, such as nn social security increases, appear likely to silence most critics of Mrs. Thatcher within her own party. As Sir Geoffrey sat down, he was cheered by Conservative back-benchers, many of whom have been sharp

Under the parliamentary system, enactment of the budget is virtually automatic, and some of the changes, such as in excise taxes, will take place almost immedi-

The budget bas been widely viewed as the most significant statement of policy likely to be before the next general election, which must be held by May, 1984, but which is expected by late next

"My aim in this budget is in nurture and to help sustain that recovery." Sir Geoffrey said in a t08-minute presentation.

This is a budget which will strengthen the fnundations of eco-nomic recovery," he said during an address frequently interrupted by the customary catcalls and eheers.

With the economic growth being projected, the government share of spending in the economy will despending in the economy will de-eline modestly in the coming year. Spending is projected to total £114.9 billion ($207.1 billion) next year, compared to £105.2 billion in the current budget year.

The tax burden would also be reduced slightly, although the tax changes would almost certainly benefit higher incomes more than lower incomes. Individual tax brackets will be fully adjusted to nffset the effects of inflation, and persunal allowances will be increased by 14 percent, 2 percentage points more than the 1981 in-

At the same time, a variety ni excise taxes nn tobacco, liquor and petroleum products will be raised. although in tutal by less than the inflation rate. For example, cigarettes will go up 5 pence a pack, gasoline 9 pence a gallon and beer 2 pence a pint. On April 1, a previ-ously announced increase in national insurance payments by workers takes effect.

Much of the tax benefit under the new budget will go to industry. Fur example, the national insurance surcharge will be reduced by l percentage point, which will cost the Exchequer £1 billion in the next budget year.

"This will be a budget for indus-try and so a budget for jobs," Sir Geoffens said

Geoffrey said.

in the coming fiscal year, the government projected that the govcriment borrowing requirement would total £9.5 billion, slightly above projections made last fail but a drop from £10.5 billion this

The achievement of the seemingly conflicting goals of lower taxes and a lower borrowing rate was made possible in large part by nearly three years of relentless austerity, which included sizable tax increases and a recession that has sent unemployment to 11.7 percent. But the downturn also gave the economy a substantial shove toward lower inflation and higher productivity.

Perhaps most dramatically, the inflation rate in Britain, which was as high as 21.9 percent in May, 1980, has been dropping steadily. At the moment, it is just above 10 percent, and the government pre-dicted Tuesday that prices would rise by 9 percent in 1982, a forecast at the optimistic end of private estimates.

Although unemployment has continued to rise, the economy as a whole has been expanding modestly since last spring. The govern-ment on Tucsday projected growth of 1 percent in 1982. In the past year, productivity has risen by nearly 10 percent, according to seated at center, held a news conference to announce a rally to protest alleged election fraud. Flanking the candidates were their running mates — Roberto Carpio, left, and Leonel Sisniega. ister Margaret Thatcher in which, according to ber aides, she attempted to head off a confrontation, Mr. Foot declared that if he had been consulted about inviting U.S. Envoys in Latin America Fear Mr. Reagan be would have objected. Other Labor members of Parlia-Policy 'Taints' Embassy Reports ment said that they would boycott the speech. Many mentioned Mr. Reagan's support of El Salvador's

Hans-Dietrich Genscher, West German foreign minister, with Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. after their talks.

By Christopher Dickey

Washington Post Service
SAN SALVADOR — Some U.S. diplomats in Central America are concerned about what they see as a widening gap between what they report and Washington's policy toward the area.

The diplomats say they are par-ticularly worried about what they perceive as a tendency of the seninr decision-makers to force often inconclusive and possibly misleading information to match the policy, rather than tailoring the policy to the facts There is little disagreement with the administration's basic policy of trying in keep Soviet-aligned Com-munists from taking power any-where in the area. And it is commnn to find differences of opinion between Washington and virtually any of its embassies around the world, given the different audiences and pressures each set of officials must confront.

But as the battle for El Salvador and the region grows more costly and more dangerous to the region as a whole, the concern expressed by half a dozen experienced diplomats at different levels of the em-bassy hierarchy in San Salvador, and some senior diplomats in other Latin American posts, is that Washington may be acting on the basis of wishful thinking.

"In order in justify policy you make propaganda and interpret facts in justify a position. That's fine," said a diplomat in San Salvador. "Now the question is, are we making policy on the basis of our nwn propaganda? Is the information tainted by our own view?" The answer, this diplomat and some nthers concluded, is, "Yes, absolutely. While this was certainly nnt a unanimous conclusion, there was widespread acknowledgment, especially in the San Salvador embassy. that the basic reporting from diplomats on local military and politi-

Guatemalan presidential candidates Alejandro Maldonado Aguirre and Mario Sandoval Alarcón, become centered on the relative reliability of wildly conflicting ac-counts of what is going on in El Salvador — from the various gov-ernments interested or involved, from the warring military camps, from nongovernmental figures with vested interests, from the me-

"I'll tell you what the problem with our embassy reporting is," said a senior diplomat. "It's full of doubts. We say this guy does this or that. But we don't know. We don't get out to see."

Over the past year, the fighting in El Salvador's civil war has moved out of the capital, leaving it in relative peace. But while major confrontations occur in the countryside, the diplomats in San Salvador's understaffed embassy are mostly trapped behind its sand-bagged walls by their work load and by security considerations.

At the moment there are only two staff members, both relatively junior, who regularly get out into the countryside. Both frequently do so on their own initiative and necasionally withnut prior

A striking example of what happens with the resulting gaps in in-formation once it gets to Washing-ton appeared in the congressional testimony of Assistant Secretary of State Thomas O. Enders early last

Mr. Enders stated that "we sent two embassy officers to investigate recent reports of a massacre in the Morazán village of El Mozote. They reported that ... no evidence could be found to confirm that government forces systematically massacred civilians in the operation zone. He clearly implied that the twn

cal events is often seriously, una- embassy officials sent to investigate the case actually got there, looked around and reached the As controversy over U.S. policy has grown, the debate has in part conclusion he cited. But embassy officials in San Salvador said the usual two field men were not able to get closer than 3 miles to the

> Later, despite the basic conclusion of the report that "something god-awful" happened at El Mo-zote, as Ambassador Deane R. Hinton put it, no deaths from the incident were ever recorded in the embassy's weekly violence statis-tics, on which the administration bases much of its public case for an improving buman rights record

> On the crucial question of arms flow from Nicaragua to Salva-doran rebels, which has been cited oran repeats, which has been cited repeatedly as the cause for much of the U.S. administration's hostility toward Managua, embassy officials in the region say they have no concrete idea of bow much trafficking it taking place.

ficking is taking place. Embassy staff members in El Salvador say that the tendency toward what they feel are errors in perception and judgment in Washington is probably heightened as diplomats are encouraged to report raw data as if they were facts.

In one example mentioned by several diplomats, the Salvadoran junta vice president, Jaime Abdul Gutiérrez, dismissed reports of a "death squad" dumping ground at the El Playon lava beds east of the capital as a "press invention." This seemingly authoritative statement was initially relayed to Washington Without caveaus, even though high-level Salvadoran government officials are known for nbfuscation on such questions, which are particularly embarrassing since the death squads are of-ten linked in government forces. On this occasion an embassy Playon and see the bodies, and the record was set straight.

Afghan Rebels Military analysts say armed resistance to the Soviet military presence in Afghanistan is continuing, but on a smaller scale than that reported by the insurgents. Page 2.

LORD BUTLER DIES -Lord Butler, who became an adviser to Prince Charles at the end of a career that included service as Churchill's wartime education minister, has died at 79. Obituary, Page 3.

Genscher Affirms Bonn to Fulfill Natural Gas Contract With Russia

From Agency Dispatcher
WASHINGTON — The West German foreign minister, Hans-Dietrich Genscher, indicated Tues-day his country will go through with purchases of Soviet natural gas regardless of whether the situa-tion in Poland deteriorates.

At the same time, Mr. Genscher made it clear on television that West German foreign policy seeks to prevent a sharpening of the Pol-ish crisis or an outright Soviet in-Mr. Genscher, the leader of the Free Democratic Party, which is the junior coalition partner of Chancellor Helmut Schmidt's Social Democratic Party, was in Washington for two days of talks, mcluding a meeting Tuesday with President Reagan, to try to im-prove Bonn's image in Washington at a time of strains within the alliance over how to react to the events in Poland.

He made his comment about the pipeline during a television ap-pearance with U.S. Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. for broadcast in West Germany late Tuesday, Mr. Genscher was asked whether Bonn could continue participation in the natural gas deal if the situation in Poland worsened or Soviet troops were dispatched

He said a Soviet invasing of Poland would be "the kind of measure which would fundamentally change the world situation," adding that Bonn's policy is to show that East-West cooperation is in the Soviet Union's own best inter- es among them. The idea, he said ests in order to discourage the after his meeting with Mr. Haig, is Russians from hostile moves in Po-

"As far as the natural gas pipe-line deal goes, it is understood bere that the Federal Republic is a country true in its contracts and that therefore this contract will be fulfilled," Mr. Genscher added. Mr. Haig said the United States remains opposed to the deal, which it fears will make Western Europe too dependent on Moscow. Mr. Haig added, however: "I think Americans understand that certain commitments have been made, contracts signed, and that we are today engaged in a very important question with respect to Poland."

The secretary discounted recent suggestions by Sen. Theodore F. Stevens, Republican of Alaska, that the United States should withdraw its 300,000 troops from Europe if its allies buy Soviet natural

"I do not anticipate that this viewpoint represents a very strong attitude in the American Congress today," he said. Underscoring concern about Bonn's image, Mr. Genscher began his talks on Monday by paying a call on the Senate Republican leader, Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee, to discuss the mood on Capitol Hill.

Mr. Genscher proposed that a new, informal arrangement be established to allow the foreign ministers of the Atlantic alliance to meet in discuss political differencmodeled on the practice of the 10 foreign ministers of the European Economic Community, who meet twice a year, in seclusion, without aides present. "This makes for better understanding." be said.

Later, a State Department spokesman said that the Reagan administration would give "careful consideration to the proposal." Canada Bill Voted By U.K. Commons

United Press International LONDON - The Hause of Commons has approved the Canadian constitutional bill and sent it to the House of Lords for further debate. The Communs approved the bill Munday by a vate of 177-33. Both the Conservative government and Labor opposition had backed the bill, which is designed to give Canada sovereign control over its con-stitution, the 1867 British North America Act.

The bill was submitted to the Hnuse of Commons just before Christmas and underwent its first full debate at the end of January. More than 60 amendments were submitted, but all were either de feated or withdrawn. Thus, the legislation goes to the upper house in exactly the form in which it was sent here by the Canadian government and Parliament. Debate in the Hnuse of Lords will begin

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

BONN — West Germany has stopped issuing state-backed export credit guarantees for Romania because of its current problems in repaying Western debts, the Economics Ministry said Tuedsay.

A spokeman said the move was prompted by what he called Romania's "special circumstances" on debt rescheduling and Bonn's own risk-policy considerations. West Germany last year halted all state backed export credits to Poland, its main East European debtor, with the exception of those for emergency food aid.

The Economics Ministry has put Romania's total official debt to West.

Germany at under 1 billion Deutsche marks ($425 million), consisting credits. Romania's foreign trade bank last week asked Western banks to defer for over six years repayments of 80 percent of the commercial debt solely of export credit guarantees rather than government-to-government

Spanish General Denies Coup Charge

MADRID - A general and former tutor of King Juan Carlos denied

Tuesday that he had ever used the name of the king to spur a com-

May. Gen. Alfonso Armada Comyn, who was the king's tutor for 17 years, was said by other leaders of the coup attempt to have assured.

them that the king supported their plans. Thirty-two officers and coval-ian are on trial on charges of plotting a takeover in February, 1981, in which members of partiament were taken hostage for several hours. Lt. Gen. Jaime Milans del Bosch told the court in earlier testimony that Gen. Armada gave him a detailed account of the king's wishes to install a new government. Gen. Armada said he and Gen. Milans del Bosch never held such a discussion.

Finnish Chief Assures Russia on Ties

MOSCOW — President Manno Koivisto of Finland assured Soviet leaders Tuesday that he intends to continue unaltered the Finnish policy

Mr. Koivisto, on his first trip abroad since taking office in January, made the pledge in remarks prepared for a dinner in his honor at the Kremlin after talks with President Leonid I. Brezing.

as president will continue unfailingly on the path laid out by my predecessors J.K. Paasikivi and Urho Kekkonen," Mr. Koivisto said. He pointed to the growing trade between the two nations as an example of the "farsightedness characterizing economic relations between our na-

BRUSSELS - Common Market countries have been urged to step up

A commission report, recently submitted to member governments, deplores the fact that the planned nuclear energy development agreed to in 1974 has suffered "a scrious — more than 50 percent — setback" and proposes a publicity campaign to counteract widespread anti-nuclear

These have led to the abandonment of planned projects in Denmark, and considerable delays in the Netherlands, Italy and West Germany.

New York Times Service

ip C. Habib, arrived here Tuesday with reassurances that he had done everything possible to avert an Israeli invasion of Lebanon, but he

Mr. Habib was ending his mission to the area after apparently having won a reprieve for the seven-month truce between Israel and the Pales

He conveyed to the Lebanese an Israeli commitment not to invade

PARIS - The refusal of a police official to accept a transfer ordered

François Le Mouël was replaced as head of the Paris-based Police by the Interior Ministry led Tuesday to a shakeup at the top of France's.

national police force and sparked accusations that the Socialist govern-

Judiciaire, the national investigative branch, a day after quitting in protest over attempts to shift Marcel Leclerc, the criminal division chief-under him, to Marseilles. Mr. Le Mouël was succeeded by Pietre.

In a resignation statement, Mr. Le Mouël accused the union that represents lower-ranking detectives of pressing for the forced transfer of Mr. Leclerc. He resigned just a week before the Socialist government was to face its first real political test in national local elections. Opposition conservatives quickly accused the Socialists of bowing to union pressure and conducting a "witch-hunt."

The leftist press characterized the controversy as a test of wills between Interior Minister Gaston Defferre and a tight-knit police hierarchy, which it said has operated for years with disregard for everything

BWD:

22:-- southern Lebanon without "a genuine provocation," according to knowledgeable diplomatic sources. Nevertheless, he is understood to have stressed that the situation remained very dangerous.

Touraine, an assistant director of the police force.

France Shakes Up National Police

BEIRUT -- President Reagan's special envoy to the Middle East, Phil-

Ireland and Luxembourg do not have or envisage the use of maclean

Habib in Beirut With Reassurances

their nuclear power programs by the Enropean Economic Communic Commission, which says development of nuclear energy has suffere

EEC Report Urges A-Plant Speedup

"For my part, I would like to underline that Finland during my tenure of economic and political cooperation with the Soviet Union.

due for 1981 and this year.

attempt last year.

serious delays.

warned that danger persisted.

tine Liberation Organization.

ment is bending to union pressure.

W. Germany Cuts Romanian Credit

Soviet Army Appears To Be Striking Harder Against Afghan Rebels

By Drew Middleton New York Times Service

NEW YORK - Armed resistance to the Soviet military presence in Afghanistan is continuing, but on a smaller scale than that reported by the insurgents, and Soviet forces appear to be responding with a much heavier hand, according to U.S. and British analysts.

As the Soviet occupation enters its 27th month, Moscow appears to be combining tougher retaliation with an extension of its economic ties with the government of President Babrak Karmal.

Leaders of insurgent organiza-tions in Pakistan, where 2½ million Afghan refugees have fled since the Soviet Union intervened in late December, 1979, continue to report gains against the Soviet forces, which are now estimated to number 90,000. But the Soviet retaliations have been fierce.

Kandahar, a center of resistance, was bombed and shelled recently after a few Russians were killed by insurgents. A guerrilla operation at Herat was followed by an extensive Soviet operation that resulted in the forcible conscription of hundreds into the Af-

The more aggressive use of the occupation forces has been accompanied by the establishment of a new secret police force, directed by Soviet and East German expects.

Very Difficult Life'

The Russians in Afghanistan are having "a very, very difficult life," said a recent article in Krasnaya Zvezda, the Soviet Army newspaper. According to Western analysts, the difficulties are the result of poor living conditions, the prevalence of hepatitis and the monotony of occupation duty.

The Soviet command's answer is to keep the troops at work. According to a British report, since late last year Soviet and Afghan troops have been clearing vegeta-tion, felling trees and demolishing buildings along main highways in an effort to reduce the possibility

A longer-term program, which could have strategic implications for all of Southwest Asia, has been the improvement of existing airfields and the construction of new ones, especially in south and southwest Afghanistan, The Rus-

N.Y. Baudit Shoots Himself United Press Inter

NEW YORK —A bandit fleeing a bank with $8,000 in cash accidentally shot himself in the stornach while putting his gun away, the police said. Orlando Rodriguez, 57; was captured after he shot himself ontside a Manhattan bank Monday, officers said.

sians have also continued to build depots and barracks.

Efforts to increase the size and enhance the morale of the Afghan Army have apparently failed. Afghan Army strength is now about a third of the 80,000 men under arms when the Soviet intervention began. Higher pay, a lower entry age and harsh punishment for evasion of military service have failed to rebuild the Afghan Army. One consequence, a NATO source said, is that the Russians must do most of the patrolling, which they would prefer to leave to their allies.

The Soviet command and the 2,000 political advisers in Afghan government ministries have been quick to reward acceptance of their rule. Cities and towns that refuse to shelter insurgents are spared bombing reprisals. The Russians have also worked to tie Afghanistan to the Soviet Union by economic agreements that cannot be easily broken.

Sharp Growth in Trade

According to a British estimate, in the first six months of 1981 trade between the two countries grew to $504.6 million, an increase of 35 percent over the period in 1980. Under a trade treaty signed early in 1981, the volume of trade is to triple from 1981 to 1985.

Particularly important to the Russians is access to Afghanistan's natural gas reserves. Analysts estimate that about 95 percent of current production is exported to the Soviet Union and that production is planned to more than double been now and the end of 1983. The Russians buy the gas at lower prices than West European countries pay for Soviet gas, and they pipe it to industrial centers in Kirz and Kazakhstan in Soviet Central Asia.

No Western source saw even a remote possibility that the Russians would voluntarily leave. The consensus was that continued occupation is essential to Soviet strategic and political planning. They cited these factors:

 It is possible that a change at the head of the regime in Iran would improve the position of the Communists there, affording greater opportunities for the Russians in Afghanistan. Soviet forces in Afghanistan are fairly close to the Guif, where poorly armed governments are likely to be vulnerable to Soviet It is probable that the Soviet view of a British expert. Thus, experts said, a Soviet withdrawal could be imagined only as a result of some major change in the policy of the Soviet government. They saw no chance of such a change.

Residents of San Vicente, El Salvador, with the body of a national guardsman killed in fighting with leftist rebels.

U.S. Congressmen Move Warily on El Salvador

By Margot Hornblower Washington Post Service

WASHINGTON - Don Bailey represents the gritty steel towns east of Pittsburgh. His resume says he is "the most highly decorated Vietnam veteran in the House of Representatives." In 15 months of combat duty, he was awarded a Silver Star, two Bronze Stars with V for valor and several other

Even now, Rep. Bailey is a combative man. In an interview, he shouts rather than speaks. He Union will become a net importer pounds a hefty fist on the desk. He of oil late in this decade, in the rises to his fect and waves a memento he says he took from the corpse of a Viet Cong major.

Yes, Rep. Bailey sees parallels between El Salvador and Vietnam. "If you ask me personally, I think we should fight," he said.

But Rep. Bailey says his constituents do not see it that way. There's little or no sympathy for American troops being involved," he said.

Practical Politician

That is why Rep. Bailey, a sec-ond-term Democrat, and many other members of Congress, no matter how anti-Communist, are reassuring constituents that they are not going to send American soldiers to fight Marxist guerrillas in El Salvador.

"I'm a practical politician," Rep. Bailey said, "You shouldn't get involved in a fight you're not going to see through. People don't want the country caught up in that kind of divisive thing again."

For most of the country the economy — high interest rates, un-employment, deficit spending — eclipsing foreign policy. Many members of Congress say they find little interest in El Salvador.

Others, however, report a grow-ing number of letters and questions in town meetings in the past month, especially in Roman Catholic areas. Central American is a predominantly Catholic region, and the killing of three American nuns and a layworker in 1980 has left lasting resentment.

"A lot of the opposition to military aid has to do with the churches," said Millicent Fenwick, a New Jersey Republican. You can tell. she said, because "a lot of letters are dated Monday."

Rep. Fenwick, a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee, says she opposes more military aid be-cause the Salvadoran military has not "learned a lesson."

"They've got to stop this business of dragging a husband and a 14-year-old son out into the street and murdering them," she said. "I can't stomach it."

House O'Neill Jr., Democrat of Massachusetts, sent a delegation to El Salvador last month. Rep. O'Neill said he favors negotiations with the guerrillas. The administration opposes negotiations, calling in-stead on Marxist factions to participate in the March 28 election.

Rep. O'Neill says he is taking a wait-and-see artitude toward President Reagan's expected requests for additional military aid.

Majority Leader James C. Wright Jr., Democrat of Texas, whose support for Nicaraguan aid in 1980 was used against him in the last election, supports military aid for El Salvador and has told Democrats privately that he fears the party will become "McGover-nized" if it opposes further assist-

Some Republicans, on the other hand, are worried that the admin-istration's bellicose rhetoric could backfire in their campaigns this

"The last month has seen a very profound shift in American public opinion from indifference to apprehension," said Jim Leach, a moderate Iowa Republican. "The administration's approach is jeopardizing the Republican Party in the fall." Republicans would like to see the issue go away, he said, but the Democrats could exploit it.

"This is a potentially explosive partisan issue," he said.

Rep. Leach was a principal author of a letter sent to President Reagan last week by 104 House members urging him to accept President Jose Lopez Portillo's of-fer of Mexican help to negotiate an end to the Salvadoran war.

"I've never had a town meeting

Rep. Leach said, adding that "Catholic Church activism is getting extraordinary."

Democrats are constantly approaching Michael D. Barnes, a Maryland Democrat who is chairman of the Foreign Affairs subcommittee on Latin America, to ask advice on how to respond to

"We're under pressure to sup-port the administration," Rep. Barnes said. But we're getting it from both sides. The left wing fears another Vietnam. The right wing is worried about the budget."

On Salvador

confessed last month to being a Sandinista guerrilla sent from

It was the first official response from either government to the strange events surrounding the arrest, interrogation and escape of Mr. Gutierrez, whom U.S. Secre-tary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. said last week was "irrefutable proof" that Nicaragua is sending errillas to help overthrow the leged confession, Mr. Somarriba, the top Nicaraguan diplomat in El Salvador, said he would like to know the conditions under which Mr. Chávez Mena said Mr. Gu-tiérrez's alleged statement to po-lice "appears to be more evidence of the intervention by the Sandinistas in our internal affairs."

Mr. Gutiérrez "was grabbed" by people in the Mexican Embassy on March 1, when Salvadoran police took him there to spot an alleged collaborator, according to the Salvadoran government. The Mexicans say he ran in with two Salvadorans chasing him. He is still there and has asked for political

He allegedly told police that he knew of four guerrilla training camps in Mexico. "We are analyzing that allegation," Mr. Chavez Mena said. Mr. Somarriba denied where El Salvador wasn't raised,"

Managua Aide

(Continued from Page I) would give Mexico an official "request for information" Tuesday on the young Nicaraguan, Ligdamis Mexico to train Salvadoran rebels.

Salvadoran government.

Asked about Mr. Gutiérrez's al-

that the camps existed.
As promised by guerrilla leaders interviewed last weekend in Nicaragua, heavy fighting erupted Mon-day all over El Salvador in what Mr. Chavez Mena called part of a coordinated effort to halt the national elections this month.

May Delay August Trip ment's statement about prospects for his temporary release to attend WARSAW — Poles were told of-ficially for the first time Tuesday that Pope John Paul II may not

Poles Are Told Pope

visit his homeland in August as previously planned.

Most major newspapers published a statement made in Rome by Bishop Bronislaw Dabrowski, secretary of the Polish Episcopate Conference, in which he clearly instantial that the conference in which he clearly instantial that the conference is a second to the conference of the conference in which he clearly instantial that the conference is a second to the conference of the conference in which he clearly instantial that the conference is a second to the conference of the conferen dicated that the visit might be ported by the official Polish press agency PAP and followed reliable reports from Krakow, where the pope was once archbishop, that he would not want to come to Poland under martial law.

The visit planned for August was originally designed to coincide with the 600th anniversary of the heart of the nation.

Jasna Gora shrine, regarded by Polish Catholics as the spiritual

At the Vatican, Pope John Paul II discussed the Polish situation Monday with three Polish bishops who arrived from Warsaw earlier in the dev Polish property the control of the con in the day, Polish sources at the Vatican said.

The Vatican press office made no announcement of the meeting, which the Polish sources said took place in the pope's private apart-ment. The three church officials were Bishop Dabrowski, Bishop Jerzy Stroba of Poznan and Bishop Jozef Rozwadowski of Lodz.

The Vatican has not given details of the pope's meeting with the bishops, but they presumably discussed church policy in facing the toughening strictures of the military regime.

Meanwhile, Justice Minister Sylwester Zawadzki indicated in Warsaw on Monday that Lech Walesa, the leader of the Solidarity trade union, might not be allowed to attend the christening of his new daughter on March 21 in Gdansk Mr. Walesa's wife, Danuta, told reporters last week he would be permitted to attend. Mrs. Walesa reacted angrily Tuesday to the Polish governthe christening. She said that what-ever happened over the christening she did not expect her husband to be freed for good. The International Red Cross said Tuesday it was seeking the re-lease on health grounds of a dissi-dent, Jan Jozef Lipski, after receiv-ing an appeal on his behalf from academics in the West.

Mr. Lipski, a founder of the op-position movement KOR, a histo-tian and a Solidarity official, was arrested inside a Warsaw factory soon after martial law was pro-

He is known to be seriously ill with heart disease. His trial, on charges of leading a strike at the Ursus tractor plant, has been postponed twice. When he last appeared in court in January wit-nesses said Mr. Lipski looked weak and ashen.

His trial had been postponed until Feb. 10 but that date passed with no word from official news organizations on whether it had re-sumed.

Support for Sunctions

COPENHAGEN (Reuters) — Denmark, casting aside earlier reservations, decided Tuesday to support European Economic Commonity sanctions on some imports from the Soviet Union, a Foreign Ministry official said.

A majority of the parliament's EEC committee backed govern-ment proposals to join other member nations in the embargo, which was proposed by Brussels as a political signal to Moscow over Po-

Romanian Minister Retires

VIENNA -- Romania's minister of sports and tourism, Emil Draganescu, has retired and has been replaced by the deputy minister ion Tudor, the Agerpres news; agency reported Tuesday.

London's most accomplished hotel adds a touch of Hyatt

One of the world's most sophisticated hotels is now known as Hyatt Cartton Tower London, in the heart of Knightsbridge, this elegant oasis for the international traveler is steps from Harrods and Sloane Street shopping, minutes from corporate offices and the West End theater.

A touch of Hvatt in London means the best roast beef in England at the Rib Room. Award-winning French culsine in the Chelsea Room. A Business Center for essential executive services, A Fitness Center for exercise. Room Service Is exceptional and available around-the-clock. And business meetings, diplomatic receptions, and private dinners are handled with skill and care.

Our attentive staff, many with two decades of service, anticipate the needs of the business traveler. There is even a Hyatt representative at the airport to assist you. in London, relish the service, surroundings, and a touch of Hyatt at the most accomplished hotel in town.

For reservations at 109 hotels worldwide, call your travel planner or Hvatt.

AMSTERDAM (020) 43-43-54 BRUSSELS (02) 217-00-49 FRANKFURT (06/1) 28-09-38 GBNEVA (022) 21-23-91 MADRID (91) 402-22-43 MILAN (02) 345-23-90 PARIS (6) 079-33-22 STOCKHOLM (08) 22-57-50 VENNA (0222)-54-11-81 ZURICH (01) 302-08-16 ORTELEX LONDON 8954227

HYATT CARLTON TOWER LONDON

CAPTURE THE HYATT SPIRIT WORLDWIDE

Speak French like a diplomat!

orps are stellaned to U.S. embassies abroad, more they must be able to converse fluently where they must be able to converse fluently in every situation.

Now you can make a start on learning to speak French just as these diplomatic personnel do—with the Foreign Service Institute's Basic French Course.

The U.S. Department of State has spent tere of thousands of dollars developing the course. It's by far the most effective way to learn French at your convenience and at your own pace.

The Basic French Course consists of a series of audio cassettes and an accompenying textbook. You simply follow the apoleen and written instructions, listening and repeating. By the end of the course you'll find yourself tearning and speaking entirely in French!

Basic French Course:

Basic French, Part A. 12 casseties, (17 hr). 200-page text. £79.50 '(or $150 U.S.).

Basic French, Part & 18 casseties, 125h hr.). $14-page text. £69.50 (or $170 U.S.).

Prices are inclusive of VA.T. and shipping costs.

Yours cassettes are shipped to you in handsome library interest.

nandsome library binders.
For shipment outside Europe, please include £5 (or$10 U.S.) additional postage. microre ES (or$10 U.S.) additional postage.
TO ORDER, JUST CLIF THIS and mail is with your name and address and a check or anancy order, Or, charge it to your credit card (American Express, VISA, Access, Diners Club) by enclosing card number, expiration date, and your stemation.

death. As he related it, the experiences of his life, including the experience of seeing blacks beaten on the farm where he grew up, were rearranged that night into a new through to us," he said, "and then we begin to understand what is movement of dissident ministers in the nonwhite branches of the Dutch Reformed Church, was one of the eulogists for Mr. Conradie in Alexandra on Saturday.

Conradie, but I come to praise God for this man," he said. "Frik-kie Conradie lived and died a free

DIAMONDS

YOUR BEST BUY

y ordering direct from Antwerp

iamond market. Give diamond to the ones you love, buy for mestment, for your enjoyment

Write airmail for free price list

Joachim Goldenstein

diamantexport Established 1928 Mkaanstraat 62, B-2000 Antwerp Belgium - Tel.: Q 31, 34,07,51. Telex: 71,779 syl b.

at the Diamond Club Bldg.

Gold Medal

GOOGGG 1958 CGCCC

"I do not come to praise Frikkie

"Blacks succeed in getting appening."

Mr. Boesak, now the leader of a pattern that made sense.

Some Blue-Collar Workers Desert Reagan

Polls Indicate Shifts Because of Growing Unease About the Economy

By Hedrick Smith New York Times Service

WASHINGTON - "I hear all sorts of people saying. To think I voted for Reagan," groused James M. Seidleman, a 37-year-old union pipelitter at the Oldsmobile plant in Lansing, Mich. "Well, I'm one of them."

"I used to have the feeling that when things got in trouble, Republicans could fix them," he got in trouble. Republicans could fix them," he said. "But 1 guess I was wrong. If things keep going like they are, in four or five years Lansing will be a ghost town."

Mr. Scideman's shifting political views, reflected in recent polls and spot interviews around the country, are of special interest not only to the White House but also to Republicans in Congress facing re-election, especially as the recession stretches toward 9 percent unemployment reaches toward 9 percent.

Mr. Seidleman was among an unusual num-ber of blue-collar workers across the country who, after voting for Jimmy Carter in 1976, switched to Ronald Reagan and the local Republican candidate for Congress in the 1980 election.

But now, fearful that his plant may shut down later this year and cost him his job, Mr. Seidleman is disillusioned and ready to reverse direction again. "I think if we had an election next month for Congress or president or for anything, the Democrats — no matter who they have in the race — they'd have a winner."

For 30 freshman Republican members of Congress and for moderate Republicans, many of them from urban industrial districts that have significant blue-collar constituencies, Mr. Seidleman's sentiments weigh heavily as they contend with the new Reagan budget and worry over economic recovery

Although many blue-collar workers who Although many brite-contai workers broke with past patterns to vote for Mr. Reagan and the Republicans still support the president, several opinion surveys show ero-sion in the blue-collar support that formed an important part of the Reagan-Republican coa-

A series of polls by The New York Times and CBS News demonstrate that Mr. Reagan has suffered a sharper decline in overall approval ratings among union households than in nonunion households and an even more dramatic decline among families with an annual income below $20,000.

Nationwide Pattern

From an approval rating of 63 percent among union households in April, the presi-dent fell to 43 percent in late January, a decline of nearly one-third, whereas his approval rating among nonunion households has drifted down from 69 percent to 51 percent, or rough-

A series of nationwide Gallup polls and California state polls by the Mervin Field organization show an almost identical pattern of sharper drift among union than nonunion

For the Republican Party generally, the de-terioration of support has been particularly sharp since last fall.

sharp since last fall.

A Times-CBS poll in September showed that union households regarded the parties as about equally able to handle the nation's most important problems, which they listed as inflation and the economy. But by January, the Times-CBS survey indicated, union households picked the Democrats over the Republicant by 40 percent to 27 percent as better able. cans by 40 percent to 27 percent as better able to handle these problems.

"The economy issue is moving very quickly," Mr. Field said. "With respect to blue-collar workers, there was strong support for Reagan in 1980 on social issues along with the feeling that Reagan could get the government off people's backs. Last fail, the recession brought some ambivalence. Now there is real anxiety about whether the Reagan program will work."

"I don't think we can stand six more months of this," said Coy Click, a 39-year-old production controller with an aerospace corporation in Dallas. Although a Democrat, he said he was so upset with Mr. Carter in 1980 that he voted for Mr. Reagan. Now he says that was "the biggest mistake I ever made."

Moreover, Mr. Click said he would "guarantee" he was swinging to the Democrats in the congressional election this fall. Similar disillusionment was voiced by Harry Bethke, a 52-year-old custodial worker at Yale University, who said he voted for Mr. Reagan in 1980. "I'm sorry I did," said Mr. Bethke, who complained that his personal economic situation had deteriorated under Mr. Reagan. He said he was having trouble paying his basic bills with a paycheck of $196 a week. "I was always a Republican," he said. "But now I would switch over."

Considerable Patience

In spite of such trends, Republican pollsters like Richard Wirthlin and Robert C. Teeter say they have found considerable patience with the president and his program among the electorate, including blue-collar workers. The pollsters contend that many people, including blue-collar workers, approve Mr. Reagan's general drive to cut government though they disagree increasingly about the specifics of his program.

Though facing personal hardships, some blue-collar workers are sticking with the president. One is Kenneth I. Ridge, who at 41 has been a machinist in the Oldsmobile plant in Lansing for 18 years. Although Mr. Ridge fears losing his job by late summer because his plant is a shutdown candidate, he says he sol-plant is a shutdown candidate, he says he sol-idly supports the president.

"I look on a job as a privilege, not a right," he said. "And what's happening to the econo-my is what has to happen periodically — a cleansing effect. If it weren't for Reagan, things would be far worse a year from now."

Reagan Offers 'Full Cooperation' on Budget

WASHINGTON — President Reagan offered Senate Republicans his "full cooperation" Tuesday in reaching an agreement on the 1983 budget, but only if it preserves his commitment to additional tax cuts and more military spending.

Mr. Reagan, sounding more conciliatory than in recent appearances, met with all 53 Republican senators at the Capitol to underline his willingness to oegotiate a budget acceptable to legislators up for election in November. There is always room for improvement in any budget or eco-comic policy," Mr. Reagan said, "but we must have a budget." Where further savings are to be found ... I pledge my full cooper-from you The $96.4-billion deficit that Mr. Reagan projects for next year has scared many of his fellow Republicans and prompted them to call for changes to stem government red ink.

The president offered a more conciliatory tone, but was firm on three basic elements of his budget. - He said tax relief cannot be deferred nonmilitary spending must be reduced and funding for the military must be increased.

Austere Budget Passed by Lower House in Japan

TOKYO - The most austere Japanese budget in 26 years was approved Thesday by the lower house of the Diet (parliament).

The budget, which envisages spending in the 1982 financial year starting next month 49,681 billion yen ($21 l billion), represents a 6.2ercent increase on spending in the current year, the smallest rise since 1956. Total spending on wel-fare will rise by 2 percent, while military spending will increase by 7.75 percent to 2,590 billion yen.

Parliamentary sources said that the draft budget would now be presented to the upper house, but even if its provisions failed to win approval there they would auto-matically be enacted April 7.

The government has dispensed with plans to introduce a short-term supplementary budget, be-lieved necessary when approval of the fiscal 1982 budget was delayed by argument between the ruling Liberal Democratic Party and op-that meets this group of standards," he said. "I promise you ... you can count on me to be something of the budget year that began last Oct. 1 — before it has had time to work.

villing to listen." The president also took the op-

U.S. Confirms Dropping Nuclear Aide, But Denies Policy Dispute Is Involved

because of inability to work out "a politically acceptable policy" for increased foreign sales of U.S. ou-clear technology.

The Post article, published Monday, said that Mr. Malone was being dropped from the assistant secretary's job, but that he would continue as head of the U.S. delegation to the Law of the Sea Conference, which resumed at the United Nations Monday.

named to the assistant secretary

LAUSANNE, Switzerland

ing Commission said, was the worst on record and four of every five Swiss and French fishermen now have additional jobs in order who asked not to be identified, as state" in pursuing President Reagan's nuclear policies.

saying that was the case.

assistant secretary.

Pentagon Plans

To Sell 200 Hawk

Washington Past Service

WASHINGTON - The Pentagon announced Monday that it in-tends to sell Israel 200 improved Hawk mobile anti-aircraft missiles,

a move that could make it easier for Congress to approve the sale of the same weapons to Jordan. The proposed sale to Israel, which must be reviewed by Con-million. The Defense Department

plement Israel's current supply, training requirements."

At a Naconal Press Club appearance Monday, Defense Secre-tary Caspar W. Weinberger stuck by his earlier assertions that Jor-dan needs anni-aircraft weapons that are better than the old Hawks, which are bolted to cement pads in that country. "Immobile anti-aircraft is not very useful," he said, adding that no one has "quarreled with that viewpoint" from a military standpoint.

Missiles to Israel

WASHINGTON - The State Department has confirmed that James L. Malone will be replaced as assistant secretary for scientific affairs, but it denied in strong terms a Washington Post report that Mr. Malone is being moved

State Department spokesman Dean Fischer, after calling The Post article "inaccurate in all respects," said that Mr. Malone would head the Law of the Sea delegation and someone else would be

Mr. Fischer's statement added that heading the delegation "re-quires the full and undivided attention of the senior U.S. official" and that Mr. Malone had the "full confidence of the secretary of

The spokesman also denied that Richard T. Kennedy, undersecre-tary for management, had assumed "de facto control" of the department's nuclear policy functions. The Post article quoted sources,

Pollution, Overfishing Cut Lake Geneva Catch United Press Internation

Lake Geneva is fast running out of fish because of pollution and over-fishing. Swiss authorities reported

Last year's catch, the Lake Fish-that new path that we chose for the country," he said. "But those who portunity to attack congressional had much to do with the policies opponents again for writing off his of the past are now shouting. Turn come a centerpiece in the fight over the budget. Senate Republican leaders, pro-tective of their legislative turf, have been unable to agree so far on an alternative to the budget proposed by President Reagan for fiscal 1983.

Resolution of Differences

back! Members of the other party

- they haven't even waited to see where the path goes."
In advance of the meeting, the White House gave no indication of flexibility in Mr. Reagan's request for $258 billion in Pentagon spending authority that has be-

Mr. Fischer's statement also questioned "the oormal journalist ethics and sensible practice" of not The Senate majority leader, Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee, has been pressing for an early resolution of the differences among the consulting those mentioned in the article. As the article noted, several Republican leaders and a comproattempts were made by a Post re-porter to contact Mr. Malone. He refused to return the calls and fimise between them and Mr. Reagan. Some Senate leadership aides have been creating the imnally referred the reporter to a pression that a budget alternative and compromise are in the offing. spokesman who said that there would be no comment on ques-tions about Mr. Malone's status as But the senators disagreed at a meeting Monday evening.

Sen. Baker had boped to be able to present an alternative budget to the president later this week.

seek a delay in reaching a budget alternative, apparently hoping for an economic upturn that would mean fewer spending cuts and a smaller tax increase.

Sen. Robert J. Dole, Republican of Kansas and chairman of the Finance Committee, said Monday that in formulating an alternative budget, he preferred to "let it cook very slowly."

Report on Belushi gress, would cost that country $47 said that the missiles would sup-Tells of Drug Use ensuring an adequate war reserve and adequate missiles for annual

Los Angeles Times Service
LOS ANGELES — The comedian John Belushi died last week of complications caused by an overdose of cocaine, a source in the Los Angeles County coroner's off-

The source, who asked not to be identified, said Monday that toxi-cology tests conducted Monday indicated that Mr. Belushi, 33, had an excessive amount of cocan his blood. The source said that the overdose was believed to have caused respiratory failure and perhaps a heart attack.

Pentagon officials said that the The county coroner, Thomas T. Noguchi, has said only that early Hawk sale to Israel was in the works before Mr. Weinberger's vistests on the body were inconclusive and that his office was awaitit to Jordan last month but agreed that the deal might ease the way for selling the improved Hawk mo-bile missiles to Amman. ing the results of tissue sample Caspar W. Weinberger addressing National Press Club.

Weinberger Notes Cuts Would Affect Thousands of Jobs

Washington Post Service
WASHINGTON — Defense
Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger has signaled that the administration will try to stave off cuts in its record military budget by warning Congress that thousands of jobs are at stake.

While it is not a reason for defense spending," Mr. Weinberger said Monday at the National Press Club, "we must remember that at least 350,000 jobs are at stake and will be lost if there are drastic

Navy Secretary John F. Lehman Jr. has been issuing similar warnings about the consequences of congressional cuts in the administration's shipbuilding budget for fiscal 1983, which includes two nuclear-powered aircraft carriers.

Mr. Weinberger, when asked Monday about military leaders who have testified that there is not enough money budgeted over the next five years to implement the military plans they are receiving from civilians, said, "We don't have much option to rethink our

West German to Visit U.S.

MUNICH - West German conservative leader Franz Josef Strauss will visit the United States next week for talks with President Reagan and other members of the administration, the Bavarian state government said Tuesday. Mr. Strauss has sharply criticized the Bonn government's stance on Po-country mysteriously dissolved for a few hours so blacks could bury a

The Aggett funeral became a po-

Lord Butler Dies at 79; Was Aide to Churchill

From Agency Dispatches GREAT YELDHAM, England — Lord Butler, 79, who modernized England's public school system as Churchill's wartime education minister, died Monday. He had been ill for some time.

The former Richard Austen Butler, he had held several high Cabinet posts before being elevated to the peerage, and he often was called the best prime minister Great Britain never had.

OBITUARIES

Nicknamed Rab, he was twice the favored candidate for prime minister only to lose out in the rough infighting of politics — a task for which he was not fitted by either temperament or inclination. The first great goal of his career, viceroy of India, also went to someone else.

As minister of education in Churchill's wartime coalition government, he was the architect of the legislation that gave equality of educational opportunity to British children. After the war he strengthened the Conservative Party and formulated the "new conrvatism" that helped bring it back to office.

Betting and Drinking Laws

As home secretary, be modernized the betting and public drinking laws and reformed the British prison system.

Lord Butler, as be became known when he was created a baron in 1965, looked back on "what might have been" with equanimity, especially since his ca-reer was distinguished enough to satisfy any man not consumed with ambition — and he was not.

He wrote an autobiography, "The Art of the Possible," in 1971 in which he conceded that there were moments when more aggressivity on his part might have pro-pelled him to the prime minister's job. But he lacked the killer instinct even in writing and found excuses for Churchill's decision not to make him viceroy.

Born in India Dec. 9, 1902, to a family that had made many contributions to education and the colonial service, he had an outstanding scholastic record at Cambridge. After graduation, he stayed on as a lecturer. In 1926 he married textile heiress Sydney Courtauld. This brought him great wealth and access to the upper reaches of the Conservative hierarchy.

Damaged His Repustion

He was elected to Parliament in 1929 and became undersecretary of state for India from 1932 to 1937. In 1938, as undersecretary for foreign affairs, he made the politically damaging mistake of sup-porting the Munich policy of Neville Chamberlain, then the prime minister, and was discredited when the Germans occupied Czechoslo-vakia in 1939. Nevertheless, Churchill, well aware of Mr. Butler's talents, made him minister of education when he became prime minister in 1940.

In the Churchill government of 1951, Mr. Butler was promoted to chancellor of the exchequer, a post that damaged his reputation when he had to follow his generous preelection budget of 1955 with a harsher supplementary one after the Conservatives were returned to

When Anthony Eden became prime minister, Mr. Butler, as lord privy seal, deputized for him when Eden fell ill following the abortive Franco-British attack on Suez. Mr. Butler appeared to be the natural choice as the next prime minister But when Eden resigned in January, 1957, Churchill and other Tory leaders picked Harold Macmillan instead

When Macmillan resigned in 1963, Mr. Butler, as deputy prime minister, was again the leading candidate. But there was a frenzy of backstage maneuvering at the Conservative Party conference and the foreign secretary, the earl of Home, disclaimed his hereditary peerage and became prime minis-ter as Sir Alec Douglas Home.

"I think," Mr. Butler said much later, "the Home thing was on the whole rather sad — except for him. I ought to have pushed myself more and got it for myself." His last in a series of high government posts was as foreign secre-tary from 1963 until the Conservatives were defeated by the Labor Party in 1964.

Mr. Butler held two of Britain's highest distinctions, Knight of the Garter and Companion of Honor. He left politics in 1965 when he became master of Trinity College, Cambridge. In this role he was adviser to the heir to the British throne, Prince Charles, who stud-ied at Trinity from 1967 to 1970.

Mitchell Dabood

ROME (AP) — The Rev. Mitchell Dahood, 60, an American Jesuit anthority on Semitic studies, died Monday in Rome.

Rabbi Zvi Yehnda Kook JERUSALEM (AP) — Rabbi Zvi Yehuda Kook, 91, spiritual leader of Israel's Gush Emmin ultra-nationalist settlers on the Sinai peninsula and the West Bank of the Jordan River, died Tuesday in Jerusalem, Israeli radio reported.

John J. Curtis

WASHINGTON (WP)- John J. Curtis, 64, a retired Foreign Service officer with the U.S. Information Agency, died Saturday following a beart attack. His assignments abroad included Taiwan, Indonesia, Korea, Vietnam, the Dominican Republic, Mexico, Venezuela and Trinidad. He was deputy chief of the Latin American service of the Voice of America when he retired in 1977.

Renegade Afrikaner Minister Buried Among Those He Served litical event. The Conradie funeral remained a spiritual one in which a series of eulogists found a theme of the whole story starts," Mr. Conradie said in the interview before his racial reconciliation and hope in the life of this Afrikaner renegade pilgrimage, not quite. There has been a slow leakage from the main branch of the Dutch Reformed Church of dominees, as ministers are called in Afrikaans, who come to read a political message in the gospel that is unacceptable to their people. They are a handful, hardly enough to characterize as a group or trend, but enough certainly to attract the worried attention of the

In Frikkie Conradie's case, the turning point came in a single night in the Netherlands where he was studying theology, when he fell into conversation with a fellow student from South Africa. The other man was what is known here as a colored, a person of mixed race, named Allan Boesak.

He asked Mr. Conradie what he thought of apartheid and received a convencional, guarded answer about how it was not necessarily inconsistent with Christian precepts. The two men stayed awake

the whole night as Mr. Boesak recounted the experiences of his family in a series of forced remo-vals from homes in Cape Province.

And yet his was not a unique

By Joseph Lelyveld New York Times Service JOHANNESBURG — Frikkie Conradie was raised on a farm in the western Transvaal in a typical Afrikaner household. It was a place where no one ever quesooned the divinely ordained right and need of whites to rule over blacks in this land

No one raised questions, either, in the theology courses he took at Potchefstroom University. But once Frikkie Conradie started to ask questions, he never stopped.

He became the first white to refuse ordination in the white branch of the Dutch Reformed Church. He was ordained instead

Their challenge to Afrikaner dominance is undertaken from in the segregated black branch. Then he went to serve a congrewithin the church that is one of its main pillars. And once they begation in a dilapidated black town-ship here called Alexandra, receiv-ing the salary a black minister would get without the subsidy nor-mally made available to white mis-receive Medidates received himcome reconciled to ostracism by other Afrikaners, they tend to emerge as some of the staunchest white opponents of apartheid. In nearly each case, these clerics can point to a specific turning point — as they now see it, a moment of conversion — they changed their sonaries. He did not regard himself as a missionary bringing the light, but as one who was receiving it from the people he served. conversion — that changed their

They Make You Human

"They take you as a racist and a paternalist," he said at the end of a long interview, "and they make you into a human being."

A week after the interview, Frikkie Conradie died in an antomobile accident at the age of 35, barely 12 hours before his wife gave birth to their first child. Saturday he was laid to rest the way he had tried to live, in the company of blacks, becoming the first white to be buried in the cemetery in Alexandra and, as far as anyone knew, the first white to be buried in a black cemetery anywhere in South

His Afrikaner relatives, many of whom had shunned him as a renegade when he was alive, were there to mourn him in the black church. So was a crowd that filled the small church and left hundreds of black mourners outside its win-

It was the second time in less than a month that the unremitting racial confrontation that is almost universally assumed to exist in this young white who had identified himself with their cause. The first was for a 28-year-old physician, Neil Aggett, who had served as an official for a mainly nonwhite trade union and then died while in the custody of the security police who said he had committed suicide by hanging himself in his cell Feb.

YOUR ADDRESS IN GENEVA

THE WORLD TRADE CENTER BUILDING (adjoining the Airport)

INTERNATIONAL

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

- Temporary or Permanent Domiciliation • Phone, Telex, Mail and all other office
- Conference Rooms

Part-time Office Rentals.

Full details from: WORLD TRADE CENTER P.O. Box 306, CH-1215 GENEVA 15.

Phone: 989.989. - Telex: 289.950.

International Organization with bronch offices in Genevo,

Rome, Piraeus and Tunis is looking for AGENTS/GENERAL AGENTS

SWITZERLAND, FRANCE, ITALY, GERMANY, GREAT BRITAIN, GREECE, BENELUX, SPAIN, PORTUGAL, SCANDINAVIA, AUSTRIA

Characteristics: Promotion of a time sharing scheme for luxury yachts

 Sale of soiling boats and trawlers Requirements:

 Marketing/soles orientation · Experience in the field of yachts

Please contact: HOLIDAYS AFLOAT ESTABLISHMENT

> Geneva Bronch P.O. Box 346, T211 GENEVA 12

Opportunities using the Isle of Man

Finch House Management Services Limited is a Manx Company offering

• wide range of corporate management services for clients wishing to use the Isle of Man as a base for international business activities.

As well as a highly professional administrative service we can offer specific legal, taxation, trust and banking advice.

For information please contact B. G. Sampson, at

FINCH HOUSE MANAGEMENT SERVICES LIMITED 24 Finch Road, Donglas, Isle of Man. Telephone: (0624) 29621/4. Telephone: (0624) 29621/4.

Are you represented in Switzerland with your products? We could be your PARTNER We are looking for articles, well in-troduced in your market, which you would like to export to our

Profit of our vast ex send details to Box 763 Zt, ofs Orell Füssli Werbe AG, P.O. Box 4638, LICENSING TO DISTRIBUTOR AND WHOLISALER IN EUROPE THE WELL KNIMIN US & CANADIAN BRAND OF DINTEMPORARY WOMEN'S CLOTHING

WE ARE NOW MAKING AVAILABLE POR

TO: SIMARKA TRADINGOLLTD SUTTE 1111 TRIMSHATSUICENTRE KENCLEUN, HENGKENG THEEX: $44# SHERI HX ATT. DIRECTUR OF LICENSING

Planets Getting Together, Prompting Fears in India

United Press Interest NEW YORK -- The solar system's nine planets will chister in a rare formation Wednesday. The occasion is being taken quite seriously in India. For the first time since 1803 and the last time until 2357,

Mercury, Venus, Earth, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto will be within a 96-degree area on the same side of the sun. The event has given birth to all sorts of theories and The planetary arrangement was described in a book by John Gribbin and Steve Plagemann entitled "The Jupiter Effect," predicting the gravitational pull of such a lineup would suck cos-mic winds from the sun and activate earthquake zones around Earth, particularly in California. But Mr. Gribbin backed off his prediction in a letter to The New York Times last month. "Our forecast was tied to changes in the sun's activity, which we believed to be driven by planetary alignments," he said. "The sun's activity peaked in 1979, not 1982, proving that the planets do not dominate the sun's behavior and removing the basis of our original forecast."

That may be no consolation to the readers of the pro-govern-ment Sunday Herald in New Delhi. The newspaper said the positioning of the planets will cause disease, riots, labor unrest and possibly an earthquake.

A "strange epidemic affecting the abdomen will stalk India," problems," the newspaper said in a reference to political con-Supersticous Hindus were praying Monday to the god of fire and making special offerings to other gods to protect them against possible calamities.

and "a southern state will create spite a number of wrong predictions, questioned Western scientific reports that the unusual planetary alignment will have no effect on the planet Earth.

B.V. Raman, one of India's most respected astrologers de-

Mr. Raman, who publishes an astrological magazine and is heeded by educated Indians despite his record, said Los Ange-les will be destroyed and islands in the Pacific Ocean will be sub-

Most Indians appeared unaware of the unusual event, and Hindu Resction forming "yajna" ceremonies, which involve kinding small fires and worshiping the god of fire, Agni. In China, the government reno major ceremonies were announced. But some Hindus in Calcutta were taking no chances. Hindu Brahmin priests were per-cently began a campaign to elim-inate superstition and belief in spread fears and wornes among the Chinese, the People's Daily and other newspapers quoted a scientist, Zheng Ying, as saying, relation at all between this astronomical phenomenon and natural disasters like earthquakes."

the occult, and Wednesday's alignment is a prime target. Attempting to dispel wide There is no regular cause-effect

Israel and Egypt Agree on Border Cutting Through a City in Sinai

By William Claiborne

JERUSALEM - Egypt and Israci have reached agreement on the demarcation of the border that will cut through the northern Sinai town of Rafah after Israel completes its withdrawal on April 25. The Israeli Defense Ministry an-

Italian President in Tokyo

The Associated Press TOKYO — Italian President Sandro Pertini, accompanied by Foreign Minister Emilio Colombo. arrived in Tokyo Tuesday for a weeklong visit to Japan that will include an audience with Emperor Hirohito and meetings with Premier Zenko Suzuki and other govemment and business leaders.

ADVERTISEMENT

nounced Monday that the demar-cation through Rafah, a Mediterranean coastal town of more than 70,000 residents, had been completed without having to destroy houses or move residents.

Israeli defense officials said that the town would remain divided along the 1906 boundary drawn by the British to separate Turkish-controlled Palestine from British-controlled Egypt, but that a I30-foot-wide (40-meter) security strip planned by the Israelis would stop short of the densely populated part of the town. A fence with several gates for easy access from both sides will be erected in the center of town, officials said.

The officials said that while the fence would divide yards and streets in Rafah, it would not re-

A fist, rather like a boxer's, holds the stem of a rose, ready to crush it.

The rose opens on the tip of the stem, as light and gracious as if it were in a porcelain vase.

It is not easy to make the meaning symbols explicit, especially when they are juxtsposed in this way. Do they symbolize the Marxist working class leading a country flourishing in liberty? Perhaps. In any case, had they been conceived to mean just

2. The doubt that, they could hardly be more appropriate. They well express the hopes of freedom that "socialism with a

But there is also something obscure and contradictory in these symbols. The aggressive and hrutal fist seems as incompatible with the rose as a punch. One would say that such a fist could not fail to start crushing the rose. And if the rose could understand a rand Government, with the support of the socialist-communist coalition, is actively making propaganda

It is well known that since December 9 of last year the thirteen Societies for the Defense of Tradition,

Family and Property (TFPs) have been publishing, in large newspapers of fifteen countries, a Message warning of the incompatibility between the perennial principles of Christian Civilization on one hand, and, on the other, the self-managing reform to which the schools, invading the family to organize children against their parents, and, in its end term, sparing not even leisure, the interior arrangement of homes, and the very person of every Frenchman. The Message was published in Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Canada,

Chile, Colombia, Ecuador, England, Germany, Italy,

Portugal, the United States, Spain, Uruguay and

The TFPs found no obstacles to the publication of their Message as a paid advertisement in any of these countries. The newspapers opened up to them all the way. At no time did they feel that, by publishing the Message, they were committing themselves to views partially or totally not theirs. In so doing, these newspapers were strictly consistent with the democratic

It would have been natural for the TFPs' Message to be published just as easily in the large French dailies, which pride themselves on professing the same demo-cratic principles. But this time the TFPs had bitter experience to the contrary. They feel obliged to inform not only the English-speaking public about this. but also that of each country where the Message

Leaving aside avowedly socialist or communist newspapers, the serene and elevated Message of the TFPs was successively submitted for publication to 6 French dailies with circulation over 100,000.

However, all these papers refused to publish it. This attitude is inexplicable for several reasons, since:

a) Newspapers which pride themselves oo their democratic line, and which moreover are at variance with each other on important points, in this particular case are disconcertingly unanimous in their refusal to publish the document. Thus the thirteen TFPs are deprived of having their viewpoint, which opposes self-

h) Furthermore, two of these newspapers had formally agreed to publish the TFPs' Message on December 15 of last year. (At the last minute the French TFP decided to postpone the publication because the attention of the public was then strongly attracted by the events in Poland.) This contract was so firm that, by mutual agreement, the agency negotiating the advertisement received payment in full on December II. All this notwithstanding, on January 6

this agency advised the TFPs that the two dailies had just refused to abide by their agreement. The reason:

managing socialism, published on French soil.

principles they proclaim as their own.

has been published.

human face" does its best to awaken.

fist like this, it would be shocked, stop smiling, and begin to

The relations between socialism and an authentic and harmonious freedom are no different; no matter how emphatically it promises freedom, socialism, wherever established, begins to strangle

This, one can fear, may now be happening in glorious and beloved France, well before the end of the first year of selfmanaging government. This is the opportune moment to make this clear, for the Mitterfor self-management all over the West.

of these heterogeneous "heraldic originally had been feared.

The town straddles the border between the Sinai and the Israelioccupied Gaza Strip, and residents had complained that dozens of houses would have to be destroyed if the security strip followed the 1906 border.

There will be about 60,000 people on the Israeli-occupied side and about 10,000 on the Egyptian side, officials said. Arab residents of the town have already begun exchanging property in anticipation of the demarcation.

Israel and Egypt have not agreed on border demarcations in the eastern Sinai near the Israehi port of Eilat on the Gulf of Aqaba. One dispute involves a new Israelibuilt hotel that Egypt maintains is on its side of the 1906 border.

France: The Fist Crushes the Rose

U.S.-Iran Tribunal Still Stuck on Procedures

By R.W. Apple Jr.
New York Times Service

THE HAGUE - The international tribunal set up to deal with claims arising from the hostility between the United States and Iran is still hacking its way through procedural thickets, seven months after it began its work and before it has settled a single case.

The nine lawyers who make up the panel have retreated behind a wall of silence, as have the Iranian and U.S. representatives here. But those familiar with the tribunal's work said it had encountered controversies worse than anticipated when it set out to evaluate thousands of claims worth billions of dollars in what is called the largest and most complicated international arbitration ever conducted.

At one point, the Iranians began to protest bitterly over what they considered prejudicial remarks by Niels Mangaard, a Swede, who is one of three neutral members of the panel. They reportedly accused him of criticizing the execution of judges in Iran, but he is reported to have said he was misunderstood. What he was complaining about, Mr. Mangaard explained privately, was the execution of judgments in Iranian courts, not

ADVERTISEMENT

That dispute was submitted by the arbitrators to an arbitrator, C.M.J.A. Moons, the president of the Netherlands Supreme Court. He recently ruled that Iran had not proved its case. So Mr. Mangaard remains on the tribunal, but the Iranians have not said whether they will now abandon their pro-

the execution of judges.

Iranian Ouits

in an apparently unrelated development, one of the three Iranian members of the tribunal, which also includes three Americans, has quit and returned to his homeland. Hendrik Heuzeveldt, registrar of the tribunal, declined to comment on speculation in The Hague that the disputes would seriously delay the process on which the organiza tion was about to embark. Prehearing conferences by three-mem-ber subcommittees were to have taken place this May and June, with the arbitration process itself due to begin sometime in the fall.

"My own guess is that the Iranians don't actually want to blow the proceeding up before it really begins," said an official involved in the tribunal. "It is in their interest to try to minimize the American claims, because that's the only way they will ever see any of that $1 billion. If they walked out, the tribunal would continue without them, and if it made awards exceeding $1 billion, the United States could track down Iranian assets all over the world to make up the difference, according to the Algiers agreement. There are Iranian assets in places like West Ger-

At stake are the claims by U.S. corporations and private individuals against the revolutionary government of Iran, and counterclaims by Iranians. These are to be evaluated by the tribunal, which was established under the terms of the Algiers declarations of January, 1981, which paved the way for the release of the Americans then held hostage in Tehran.

many and France that look vulner-

To pay the Americans who are judged to have proved their claims, the United States last year transferred $1 billion in frozen Iranian assets to a specially created subsi-diary of the Dutch central bank Successful Iranian claimants will be paid directly by the U.S. gov-ernment or by the American cor-porations involved.

Even without controversy, the tribunal faces a Herculean work load. Boxes and bags of legal papers remain unsorted in the mail room at the temporary quarters in the Peace Palace, which was built early in the century, largely with funds contributed by the American philanthropist Andrew Carne-Filing Deadline

The filing deadline for claims was Jan. 19, but precise figures are still not available. It is believed that there were nearly 1,100 American claims of more than $250,000 each and almost 3,000 small claims filed by Washington on behalf of companies and individuals. Some of the claims are said to exceed the largest one that has been publicly identified, in which William Bikoff and George Eisenpresser are seeking $450 million for their share in a confiscated copper mine. The to-tal sought may exceed $4 billion.

Information on the Iranian claims is even less precise, al-though the Tehran radio has said more than $32 billion was being sought by an undisclosed number of claimants.

Pravda Complains Iran Rightists Near Khomeini Hurt Soviet Ties

MOSCOW — Pravda com-plained Tuesday about Iran's atti-tude toward the Soviet Union and said rightists around the nations's Moslem ruler, Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, are blocking progress toward good relations. Pavel Demchenko, a Pravda analyst, said Moscow has given strong support to the Islamic re-public that replaced the deposed Iranian monarchy three years ago. It is therefore unjust of many Iranian leaders to class the United States and Soviet Union together as an equal threat to their country, Criticism of the Iranian leadership has been rare in the Soviet press, and the commentary indicated irritation in Moscow that its attempts to cultivate Tehran over the past three years had brought few results.

Pravda said a major obstacle was that there were many rightist extremists among Ayatollah Khomeini's advisers.

Soviet Help Cited

"They want to stop the development of Iranian-Soviet relations, even if this damages the economy of their country and Iran's ability to withstand imperialist pressure,

Pravda said the Kremlin had helped Iran withstand a U.S. hlockade of its ports in 1980 by stepping up transit facilities for supplies to pass through Soviet ter-ritory. It suggested that Soviet sup-port for the Iranian revolution had also dissuaded Washington from taking more drastic action against the new republic. But despite these efforts there has been no attempt on the Iranian side to improve relations, the party

Although bilateral trade has improved, relations have in some ways deteriorated. The staff at the Soviet Embassy in Tehran has been reduced. Soviet journalists denied entry to the country, and Soviet cultural activities in Iran

Mediators Set Up Panel

From Agency Dispatches
JEDDAH — Islamic mediators

in the Iran-Iraq war decided Tuesday to set up a committee to seek concessions for peace from both sides in the 18-month-old conflict, according to a press statement.

The decision was reached after five envoys, including three presi-dents, visited Baghdad and Tehran during the past week in a fresh nttempt to halt the war, caused by territorial disputes. The five-man peace mission is headed by Presiea and includes President Mohammed Zia ul-Haq of Paki-stan, President Abdus Sattar of Bangladesh, Premier Bulent Ulusu of Turkey and Habib Shatti, secre-tary-general of the Islamic Confer-ence Organization.

ed in about a month's time and "shall carry out its action, or may bring some pressure to bear, on both sides to obtain concessions and a common ground for peace," the statement said. It did not elab-

Turkey Denies Report On Iranians' Training

ANKARA — Turkey has denied a report that Turkish soil is being used by paramilitary groups composed mostly of Iranian exiles opposed to the regime of Ayatollah Rubollah Khomeini.

A government spokesman on Monday expressed distress that the report was circulating at a time when Turkey is engaged in eco-nomic negotiations with Iran.

The denials, made by Ilhan Oztrak, the acting foreign minister, followed the publication of an article in The New York Times quoting Western intelligence and other sources as saying that the United

UN Study Shows Asia Drug Traffic Earns $1.6 Billion

The Associated Press BANGKOK - Illegal trade in opium and heroin may represent about 1 percent of exports from the developing countries of Asia, a United Nations report says.

The report, made available here Tuesday, says that the largest ille-gal production of the narcotics occurs in Pakistan, Iran, Afghanistan, Burma, Thailand and Laos and that the trade in recent years from these countries may have amounted to about $1.6 billion n

The report said India once accounted for 95 percent of the world's legal production of opium but that competition from other countries had reduced its share to-50 percent. This, the report said, contribution to the illegal drug

The report said South Korea appeared to have suddenly become an important staging post in the flow of opium from Southeast Asia to North America and Western States was secretly financing two paramilitary groups in eastern Turkey as part of an attempt to counter Soviet influence in Iran, Mr. Oztrak did not mention The Times, but Foreign Ministry sources said his statements were intended to rebut the article.

"I want to repeat once more," Mr. Oztrak said, "that Turkey would never tolerate any hostile action on her soil against our brotherly neighbor Iran."

Premier's Denial

He reiterated a denial made inmid-January by Premier Bulent Ulusu after The Daily Telegraph and The Sunday Times of London published reports that Iranian exiles were training in Turkey. "Such claims," the premier had said, "have nothing to do with reality."

4 45.7

11

The acting foreign minister ex-pressed the hope that the Iranians. would not pay any attention to such gossip." His statement was sent Monday to Tehran, where the Turkish state radio said "a very important agreement" was about to be signed.

"Iran will sell 4 million tons of crude oil to Turkey," the hroadcast said, "in return for sugar, tractors, oil pipes and other industrial Turkish Foreign Ministry officials also confirmed a statement made at a news conference in Tehran by an Iranian oil official that an agreement had been reached on building three pipelines between Iran and Turkey. One pipeline, the official reportedly id, would carry crude oil from Ahwaz to a Turkish port, a second would carry natural gas to Turkey and the third would carry natural gas through Turkey to Europe.

Nigeria Leader to Visit Bonn

Reuters LAGOS — Nigerian President Shebu Shagari will leave next Wednesday for a four-day official visit to West Germany, according to an official statement Tuesday.

U.G.C. Normandie a.v. dolby

• le 14 juillet Beaugrenelle o.v.

 les 3 Murat o.v. ● U.G.C. Odéon o.v.

Cluny Ecoles o.v.

WORLDWIDE ENTERTAINMENT

PUBLICIS CHAMPS-ELYSÉES PARAMOUNT ODÉON

FORUM DES HALLES

Podachur JARE 1900A - PRS - PRSTOCKERSON v. A. ALAN II. PARLIA van POLLOARE SALAE DRONN DALLI SALALI SONTRAN IS GALE SALEEN SON IN DAVE SALEEP ANN CAMPIO ACHI & DAVE MEN BRUCE GLEGA! DROND IN ALAN II. PAULA THE TRANSPORTE INTERPRESENTATION.

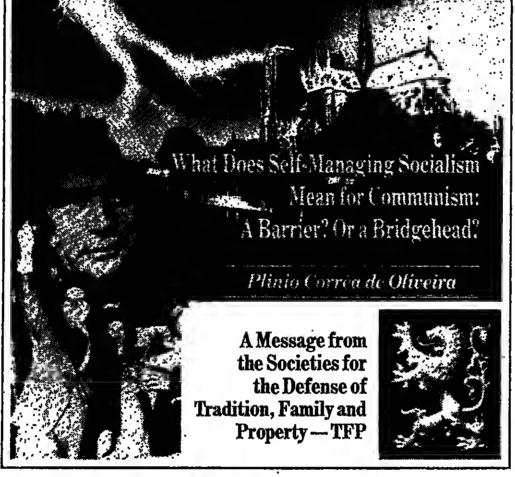

FÖNDA KRISTOFFERSON

REPRINTS AVAILABLE

 $\hfill \square$ Yes! I agree with you and want to know more about your program in support of the family and private property. Please send me ____ free reprint(s) of The Double Game of French Socialism and ____ of the communique, France: The Fist Crushes the Rose. (Inquire about bulk orders).

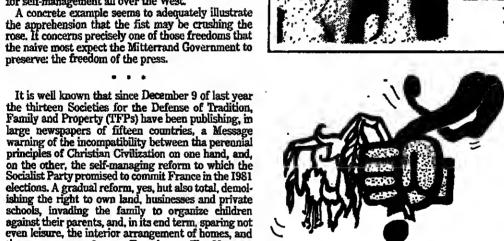

☐ Enclosed is my contribution

Association Francaise pour la Defense de la Tradition de la Famille el de la Propriete 6. Av Chauward

The Double Game of French Socialism:

Gradual in Strategy, Radical in Goal.

 e) Naturally, an arbitrary breach of contract exposes the company which owns both newspapers to a suit for loss and damages. But not even the perspective of such a predicament was enough to prevent their refusal. d) Advertisements are one of the most common sources of income both for this publishing company and the other companies which refused to publish the document. The size of this Message would make its publication particularly inviting. So, the refusal is contrary to the very nature of these journalistic enterprises as such.

At this point one has to ask: What is the reason for this united front of refusals curtailing the freedom of the TFPs in France? Far away on the horizon, only one explanatory hypothesis takes shape. As private organizations, the publishing companies which own these various papers can be placed at any moment on the list of self-managing enterprises by a legislative decision of the socialist-communist parliamentary majority. If that were to happen, their present owners would normally become mere managers or even lose any role in the company whatsoever.

Is it so surprising that these publishers deny the TFPs freedom of expression when their own freedom, at least potentially, has been so profoundly shaken? What is the real freedom of expression in a regime where a Damocles' sword hangs over the head of every publishing company owner, a sword hanging from a string held by the Government?

Whatever heat the opposition newspapers may de facto be permitted to show, their situation is, de jure, that of Damocles under the sword.

Incidentally, it is altogether possible that a heated opposition may not be as annoying to a government as another which courteously and serenely focuses on certain delicate topics which not all currents of opinion

Now, the Message of the thirteen TFPs puts a finger on certain painful wounds unknown to the Catholic electoral bloc, which weighed decisively on the socialist side in the 1981 elections. Such is the case, for instance, when it focuses on how a compulsory selfmanaging regime is absolutely incompatible with the true Doctrine of the Church about the character of the

ly with self-managing socialism, but also with Communism. All of this - and that which is yet to happen will one day be written into History; the epic History of one of the supreme efforts undertaken In signo Crucis (in the sign of the Cross) to steer our agonizing Western civilization away from the final shipwreck toward which it is letting itself drift.

After the great campaigns of the TFPs against Communism — campaigns which have always been doctrinal and orderly - the communists keep silent. A little later, furious media attacks based merely on distortions or calumnies with no doctrinal content have been right of property, which inheres by nature in every

the doctrine and program of the Socialist Party place marriage, free unions and even homosexual unions on the same level.

It is not the intention of the TFPs to start a debate with newspapers so conditioned by the socialist selfmanaging Moloch. With this publication, the TFPs aim solely at making the public in the largest countries of the Free World see how confined freedom already appears to be at the beginning of the self-managing socialist regime. This should lead every citizen of the Free World to fear for his own personal freedom if self-curtain is being drawn around today's France. Not an iron curtain, nor one of bamboo. It is, as it were, an impalpable curtain of silence of the press, which will inevitably march toward becom-

This fact is what the TFPs are bringing to the knowledge of the while West. The same French newspapers will be asked to publish this Communique. But even if there is a new collective refusal, the TFPs hope that the spreading of this Communique outside France may succeed in making it known to a large part nf the French people. They also bope that it will open the eyes of the West to all that is contra-managing socialism is implanted in his country.

ing total.

dictory and impracticable in the self-managing pro-

This finding has a far-reaching scope: Except for the

The Message of the thirteen TFPs about selfmanaging socialism is making its way far and wide in the world. Along its course, it has met everything:

furious batred, baseless criticisms, inexplicable omissions, longstanding and luminous support from friends who have never let themselves be dishonored by fear.

and innumerable new adhesions, some of them unex-

This Communique is one more great step along this road. Consistent with the Message, it has to do not on-promise of freedom, all that is left to the self-managing regime is its similarity to Communism.

4. The

mise of socialism-with-freedom.

pected and magnificent.

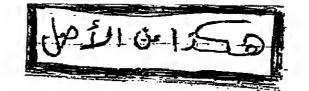

São Paulo, February 11, 1982 Feast of Our Lady of Lourdes unleashed against the TFPs. Will this now happen once again? As the French popular saying has it, "he

For the Brazilian TFP and, by express delegation, the TFPs and similar organizations of the United States, Argentins, Bolivia, Canada, Chile, Colombia, Ecuador, France, Portugal, Spain, Uruguay and

Plinio Correa de Oliveira

President of the National Council of the Brazilian Society for the Defense of Tradition, Family and Property

Egypt Finally Unveils 'World's Oldest Boat'

By Jeremy Clift

CAIRO — Egypt has put a boat believed to be the oldest in the world on display to the public for the first time since it was discovered in a pit next to the Great Pyramid of Giza 28 years ago.

Controversy surrounds the vessel buried next to the tomb of the pharoah Cheops 47 centuries ago. Some experts argue that the royal barge, made from giant planks of Lebaoese cedar, will disintegrate if it is not kept in closely controlled climatic conditions.

The discovery of the 150-foot-long craft in 1954 was acclaimed at the time as one of the most dramatic discoveries of ancient Egypt since Tutankhamen's tomh was opened 32 vears cartier.

But it took more than two decades to house the elegant vessel in a museum and disputes about whether the building was suitable held up its inauguration until Saturday, when Premier Fuad Mohieddin attended a ceremony with Amadou Mahtar M'Bow, director-general of Uoesco.

Sunday the first tourists trickled into the angular, Italian-designed museum to the shadow of the Great Pyramid. An admission price of 6 Egyptian pounds ($7.50) was enough to put off one French group. Egyptians pay only 1 pound.

"We'll have to put the price up for Egyptians at the Louvre," grumbled one Frenchman as he stuffed his money back into his pocket and strode away.

Seen by Visiting Dignitaries

The barge has been sitting in the museum for several years, but was shown only to visit-ing dignitaries such as then U.S. President Jimmy Carter, who was taken around the well-preserved vessel by President Anwar Sa-

Kamal al-Mallakh, who discovered the royal ship, rejected suggestions that the barge was oot being looked after properly by the Egyptian Antiquities Organization.

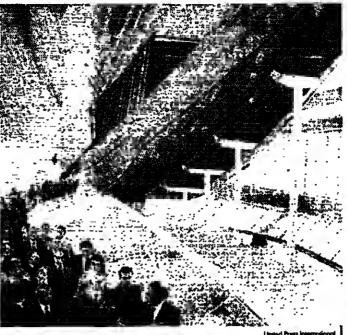

"You see it is not a powder. The wood is very, very solid," he told reporters.
Foreign experts, including al-Mallakh's former associate, Milan Kovac of Sweden, had argued that the boat, which was propelled by 10 oars, would disintegrate because the museum's desert location and inadequate air-conditioning turned the building into a hothouse that would warp the wood.

In her book "The Boat Beneath the Pyramid," Nancy Jenkins wrote in 1980 that extremes of temperature and humidity were subjecting the ship's timbers to unbearable stresses and made its future uncertain. Al-Mallakh and museum officials now say the air-conditioning problems have been sorted out and climatic conditions will be maintained at a constant and suitable level. The vessel is known as a "solar boat" because, according to the two most current theories, the barge was either supposed to carry the pharoah across the sky with the passage for his use in the afterlife. The ancient boat is one of two that al-Mallakh says were preserved alongside the Great Pyramid. The other still lies unexcavated in the ground nearby, covered over by giant sealed limestone blocks.

of the sun, or was part of the funerary effects

Inauguration of museum built to house 4,700-year-old boat.

The Insecure World of a Guitarist Dedicated to Singing the Real Blues

By Michael Zwerin

mai Herald Tribune DARIS - John Hammond is not sure where he's working next week. Looking at his itinerary, full of question marks, he scratched his head. It might be Belgium, or may-be Germany. In any case the fol-lowing week he's in Switzerland. And Italy somewhere in between. The European tour goes oo through April 2, or is it 3? So it goes with the blues, black or white.

"I'm feeling a little insecure," he said a few days ago in a funky Left Bank hotel that seemed to be leaning to the right, not looking at all insecure. When you're a white man singing black man's blues you beaccustomed to getting it from all sides.

Interviewers can get very heavy about the black-white thing. How can you as a middle-class white sing black blah blah hlah? I would good at what I do. I get very defensive about it. People don't think you have to be Italian to sing Verdi. Ray Charles isn't asked why he sings country songs. I've been doing this for 21 years, it's not like I'm in it for a fast thrill. It's my

Commitment

Perhaps it is a bit too easy for him to expect to be taken out of context. Hammond's love and punity are beyond question. He sings down-home country blues, accompanying himself oo acoustic guitar and harmonica in the true tradition with a great deal of commit-ment. But the history of western popular music is full of examples of white people who fed off the music of black people who died poor. Nobody's fault, just the way things are. One of the examples usually cited is Beany Goodman and Fletcher Henderson.

Hammond shakes his head, deyou are reminded that he is part of one of the United States' foremost born in 1943] I began to go to the Alan Freed shows in New York, where for $2 you could hear Bo Diddley, Chuck Berry, Jerry Lee Lewis, the Drifters, the Cadillacs, the Eldorados. I bought their alance of the park of musical families. His father John Hammond is the Columbia Records executive responsible for the careers of Count Basie, Billie Holi-day, Charlie Christian, Bob Dylan and Bruce Springsteen, to name a few, but if you are thinking this is just another boss' son, forget it.

"My father tried to discourage me early in a kind of heavy way. He and I never really got along very well. My parents were divorced when I was five. I owe more to my mother and her strength and sense of reality than I do to my father, whom I saw only occasionally. He was more the punishment and reward part of my life.

and it scared me, he was so good and the music was so profound. It really changed my thinking."

He looked further into the roots to people like Robert Johnson and Lightnin' Hopkins. They invaded his fantasies. He bought his first guitar at 17 and by the age of 19 he knew 300 blues songs and started playing them professionally. "I regarded this music as classi-cally American, I could feel myself bums on Chess and on the back of the jackets you'd see the names of their other artists like Muddy Waters, Howlin' Wolf, Little Walter.

What fascinating names; I thought. Who are these people?

hen I heard John Lee Hooker part of it. It was something I could totally be. But I took a lot of flak. It was embarrassing to my friends.

What are you doing that stuff for?

That's black music.' And before you knew it they weren't my friends any more.

In the early '60s he lugged his guitar around Greenwich Village playing the "basket houses," coffee shops where he'd pass the basket after the set and if he ended up with $100 a week it was something of a miracle. Hammond was in good company — John Schastian, José Feliciano, Bob Dylan, Richie Havens and Tim Hardin were on the same beat.

Then the scene was destroyed by its very success: 'The coffee houses went out because they couldn't afford to pay the artists who had been playing there the year before. There was this explosion — folk rock, psychedelic rock, there was Janis Joplin, the Moby Grape, the Grateful Dead," he says these names with great distaste, "The Jefferson Airplane, the whatever." Hammond feels there is "a lot of corruption in rock culture," in the cult of the guitar hero, the super-star, to a husiness where 20,000 people pay $30 to hear a band they cannot in fact bear, or even see.

more than 200,000 copies. In the late '60s he went electric for awhile, recording with the Stones' Bill Wyman, Dr. John and Michael Bloomfield, as well as a band called Levoo and the Hawks. which later changed its name to The Band. But although this was Hammond has cut 19 albums. merely electric Chicago blues, "I "Hot Tracks" on Vanguard sold had to re-examine my relationship

Tribute to Eva Turner

By Henry Pleasants national Herald Tribune

ONDON - The first spectacle to meet the eye on entering the Coliseum for a program happily titled "Ninety Years On," honoring Dame Eva Turner, who is 90 today, was a lengthy queue leading to a desk in the foyer where sat the diva herself, autographing record albums in a hand betraying not the slightest hint of decrepitude.

Nor was there the slightest sign of frailty as she sat for 21/2 hours exchanging reminiscences with for-mer colleagues and pupils, her memory undimmed, the voice as clarion clear and strong as it used to be in song, the diction an ad-monition to most of those gathered on the stage to express their admiration, gratitude and affection.

Strength and vitality were always the outstanding characteristics of this Lancashire lass who, in the 1920s and '30s was ranked. along with Rosa Raisa and Maria Jeritza, as the greatest of Turandots in Italy, South America, England and the United States, and whose preeminence in that role has been matched in more recent times only by Birgit Nilsson.

If Dame Eva's name is less familiar to American opera lovers than the names of others who were in no way her superior, it is because her American triumphs were

New York. But there are those still alive in the Windy City who remember bow she took the town by storm in the seasons of 1928-29 and 1929-30 when she sang Aida, Amelia, Santuzza, Leonora ("Il Trovatore"), Sieglinde and the Countess in a company that included Raisa, Claudia Muzio, Frida Leider. Lotte Lehmann and Elisabeth Rethberg. There are many more who remember ber 10 years (1949-59) as rofessor of voice at the University of Oklahoma, and an Oklahoma delegation was oo hand Monday to present a certificate granting her state citizenship.

There were recordings, too, to remind us of the sound and the singing, including two glorious tracks from "Aida" and "Il Trovatore" dating from the late '20s, and a lengthy pirated track, never officially released, from a 1937 performance of "Turandot" at Covent Garden with Giovanni Martinelli singing his first Calaf.

There were anecdotes, of course, possibly the most treasureable being Dame Eva's own account of how a typo to a local newspaper to Norman, Okla., had her coming to the university as professor of vice.

A subsequent tribute will be of-fered by the Royal Opera at Covent Garden on Sunday.

to the recording world. I stopped playing with a band entirely and put all my energy and focus into my solo work.

Very few hlack guys play acoustic blues any more. A lot of kids coming up think you oeed a $500,000 investment and a light show to make music. They don't realize the satisfaction of just taking out a guitar and playing for yourself. But there are a lot of small companies recording jazz and bluegrass and blues now since the dinosaurs are beginning to falter, Warners, Columbia and the rest of them are all so overloaded with punk and other big-money ridiculousness they can't go on. These hands can't afford to travel any more, they're so overblown."

Missionary

Hammond can be likened to a missionary converting the natives and the missionaries themselves to the natives' own true religion. "I've had to light for recognition all through my career. It's a little tiring having to win it each time out. I can never get drunk and stumble around and rest on my laurels. I've always got to be on top of it because somebody can al-ways take a swipe at me and despite all the years and all the swipes I still feel it. You're all right for a white gny. As thick as your skin gets, it's still a drag when that racist oumber comes down. On the other hand, I've been on tour with Howlin' Wolf, Moddy Waters and many others and these guys all relate to me like 'You're really doing it, man, that's great. They give me a lot of cocouragement and respect.

"I always thought that what I was doing was the hippest thing going. I really did. To this day I'm convinced that what I'm doing is absolutely where it's at."

'Absence of Malice': A Film Laced With It

Los Angeles Times Service

OS ANGELES - "Absence of Malice," a melodrama about the press and its sins, is laced with malice. Neither that our the attack on the press puts me off. A touch of malice, applied to deserving targets. always livens things up, and who says that the press is beyond criticism?

But the film (which opened last week in Paris) has a problem. Set in the 1980s, it is as up-to-date as the 1920s.

There is a cast of odd characters, chief among them a ding-a-ling investigative reporter (Sally Field) for a major "responsible" Miami oewspaper, an enchanting young lady who wanders about in a perpetual, petulant daze. She is like a child who comes across a loaded pistol, shoots a playmate and then runs to morning crying, "Bobby fell down

Her editor is a soft-spoken fellow, one of those dreadful philosophizing types who is capable of delivering this fatuous nonsense: "I know how to tell the truth, and I know how not to hurt people. But I don't know how to do both at the same time."

The editor, who never requires the reporter to observe the most elementary rules of the trade, is trying to console her for printing the name of an emotionally disturbed young woman. The woman has gone to the reporter with an alibi for a man the reporter has been suckered into wrongly believing is the target of a murder investigatioo. The woman confides that she was with the man, an old (and platonic) friend, in another state when a labor boss and presumed murder victim disappeared. She remembers the date clearly because she was having an abortion, and she begs the reporter to withhold her name.

Her oame is oot relevant to the facts, which could have been proved in a dozen different routine ways without disclosing her identity. But the reporter, with the approval of her nitwit editor, oames the poor lady anyway. A Catholic, the woman feels publicly disgraced and kills herself.

On one occasion, the reporter checks in with the oewspaper's libel lawyer. The lawyer, an arrogant oaf, tells her that "the truth is irreleand goes on to utter this pompous soliloquy:

"We have oo knowledge the story is false, therefore we are absent of malice. We have been both reasonable and prudent, therefore we are not negligent. We may say what we like about Mr. Gallagher, and he is powerless to do us harm. Democracy is served."

Gallagher (Paul Newman) is the victim of the reporter's story about the bogus investigation and is depicted as a wonderful fellow, altogether worthy of our sympathy. He comes from a moh family, is loyal to his dead gangster daddy and maintains a warm relationship with his lovable old mobster uncle. But Gallagher stays away from the mob and is clean. Outraged by a story that zaps his reputation, he finally figures out a way to revenge himself on his tormentors, including the reporter and a venomous federal attorney willing to go any lengths, legal or otherwise, to solve the disappearance of the labor boss. The audieoce loved these

The film, produced and directed by Sydney Pollack, was written by Kurt Luedtke, a former newspaper editor who came to Hollywood to try for the big money. He discovered that dramatic license is more wonderful than the First Amendmeot.

Paul Newman, Sally Field in "Absence of Malice."

As for space, few hotels can match it. Every apartment comes with entrance hall.

second bathroom.

comes with a plus, the chance to become a

London's delights (if that's possible), you can member of R.C.I.* So when you tire of Holidays abroad bedroom - and some have one or two extra bedrooms and a

London Timeshare

exchange your week in Allen apartment in Acapulco.or

Marbella, or Fiji, or the Bahamas, or in any of 500

House for a week of affiliation to R.C.I.* - the established Resort Condominiums International,

Timeshare exchange

the world's largest organisation.

TWA First Class has that touch more class.

It's called Royal Ambassador Service.

We didn't find it easy to improve our First Class. But we did it by re-examining everything. And improving it.

Now we call it Royal Ambassador A better class of service.

We started, of course, with the Sleeper-Seats on our 747's.

They were ially redesigned to give improved, ing and sleeping, they recline a full 60°. flower on your table. Service is Food for thought. We want you to dine well, so we offer a choice of five entrées, varying according to flights. We include such dishes as Duck with mangoes and Lobster Thermidor. And we have a superb wine list - you can choose not only from classic French wines, but also from superb Californian Chardonnays and Cabernet Sauvignons like Mondavi and Freemark Abbey (4-stars in authoritative guides).

Service second to none. All is served with distinction on contoured comfort. Better for relax-monogrammed china, with a fresh discreet, attentive and friendly. You'll be presented with an elegant toilet kit, specially designed by Ralph Lauren, no less.

Could we offer more? Your own check-in? Of course. A comfortable airportlounge?TWA Ambassador Clubs are at most international airports. Champagne before takeoff? Indubitably.

Try TWA's Royal Ambassador Service on your next flight. But be warned - it will probably spoil you for any other airline.

SeevourTWATravel Agent for full details.

You're going to like us

For £2,700
you could have made every room beautiful and personal. From carpets and personal. From carpets to wardrobes, bed linen to a second car. to wardrobes, bottle opener.

impossible dream. A chance to enjoy a second home in London, without a massive capital outlay. How? Instead of buying a whole London sitting room, kitchen, bathroom and master property, you buy the use of it for a week or weeks – over a period of 21 years. During which you treat it as your own. From a total of bathroom. £2,700 for 21 years. (This price is fully inclusive of V.A.T.

London Timeshare

makes possible the

The only extra is a nominal annual service charge e.g. from £54 for 1982/3.)

Allen House, Allen Street, Kensington Allen House. Quietly

situated in London's fashionable Kensington. Or a second home House for a week of luxury abroad. In an Minutes from the best of Minutes from the best of everything that London offers. in the heart With London Timeshare, an apartment in Allen House se of London, resorts. This is made possible by London Timeshare's affiliation to R.C.I.* – the established Resort Condominiums International is yours - to enjoy each and every year until 2002. And you choose exactly when you want rights for 21 years. to stay there - an opportunity unique to London Timeshare. The same time every year – or different weeks can be arranged. To catch Ascot, the Proms, Christmas - whatever. London Timeshare doesn't tie you down, unlike other Timeshare plans. Beautifully designed

Even the smartest London hotels can have an impersonal feel. Not so an Allen House apartment. Claire Stratton of Phoenix Design has

Find out more

For further details about Allen House and London Timeshare, please contact Andrew Chilcott for a comprehensive colour brochure. It comes to you free - and with no obligation whatsoever. Write to:

London Timeshare Management Limited, 9-11 Kensington High Street, London W8. Or phone 01-938 1721.

Please send me the full colour brochure. I understand this puts me under no obligation. Send to: London Timeshare Management Limited, 9-11 Kensington High Street, London W8. (Or phone 01-938 1721.)

ALLEN HOUSE. LONDON TIMESHARE. KENSINGTON

Page 6 Wednesday, March 10, 1982

The Weapon of Capital

It's the first good Polish joke since the coup in December: General Jaruzelski visits Moscow to get the Russians' blessing for his dictatorship and beg their help in overcoming the opposition of his people. In conclusion, they jointly declare that the West's failure to keep supporting bankrupt Poland would be rank "interference" in its internal affairs.

A sick joke, to be sure, and imitative of President Reagan's light comments on the subject. When pressed to explain why he is paying off some of Poland's debts and doing headstands to avoid declaring it in default, he says he does not want to make Poland "more dependent on the Soviet Union."

The available East-West financial choices, however, are deadly serious. Poland's bankruptcy is a fact, disguised only by accounting tricks at Western banks. Rumania is not far behind and the Soviet Union itself is having cash flow troubles.

The peril is finally dawning on Western investors in Eastern Europe. They must either keep up pretenses and keep lending the Soviet bloc a great deal more, at the eventual expense of Western taxpayers. Or they must call a halt, hurting Western commerce but severely damaging the East. The only obvious conclusion is that such economic war is too important to be left to bankers.

The West's abnormally large yet routinely commercial investments in the East have indeed been "interfering" in the Soviet bloc, but in helpful ways that the Kremlin desperately wants continued. And Poland's bankruptcy will indeed make it even more "dependent" on Soviet help, but in ways that the Kremlin anxiously wants to avoid.

So the issue is not whether the West can hope to collect $27 billion from the Poles and even more from their allies. They cannot pay. The question, rather, is whether to lend them billions more, and on what terms.

President Reagan comes to the question in odd circumstances. He is demanding a military buildup that he can ill afford for the express purpose of driving the Russians toward an economic crisis that they already confront. In diplomatic weight, the terms of credit that he could establish, tomorrow, are far more potent than the missiles he aims to deploy a decade hence. And while he broods about a slight crack in his "window of vulnerability," the Soviets' window has just blown wide open.

If the president keeps listening to Western bankers and exporters, he will go right on pretending that the East's debt is collectible. He will let them roll it over and tolerate its expansion to finance the sale of Western goods and grain. That basically means taxing the democracies to permit the Communists to relieve their economic distress without seriously disturbing their military efforts.

But if he understands the moment, Mr. Reagan would seize this chance to give shape to his whole foreign policy. He would use the threat of a formal Polish default to force Western governments to buy their banks' worthless Eastern notes, at discount prices. He would require government approval for all further lending. And he would then invite the Soviets and allies to negotiate about his diplomatic, as well as economic, terms for a historic bail-out.

When next the Poles and Russians meet, they would really have something to complain about: those capitalist democracies, daring to fight with capital.

THE NEW YORK TIMES.

The Guatemala Generals

The Next Energy Crisis

March 10: From Our Pages of 75 and 50 Years Ago

The elections in Guatemala seem to have produced a crop of allegations of fraud. What the elections might have meant even in the absence of such allegations is uncertain. The current president, Gen. Romeo Lucas García, has spent four years presiding over the murder, "disappearance," exile or intimidation of the considerable swath of political leaders to his left - literally thousands of people have died, unquestionably most of them by the government's hand or with its tacit encouragement and approval. His policy has been to destroy guerrillas and all others the government regards as connected to them. He has earned his regime a reputation as perhaps the world's bloodiest, Communists and the occasional Third World crazy aside. Nothing in the record or stance of the likely next president, a general who was until recently defense minister, augurs change.

The administration hopes the Guatemalan generals can emerge from the elections disinfected and ready, or nearly ready, for American support. The generals lost that support in the Carter years because of their indiscriminate bloodletting. Some U.S. officials suggest that the new president must first demonstrate he can abate the slaughter of civilians. Others do not feel that even that demonstration is necessary: Elections are enough.

"I'm not saying the energy crisis is over,"

cautions Energy Secretary James Edwards.

But many others are. Oil prices have fallen in the wake of the slump in world demand.

And it is possible that prices will not recover for years, as exporters scramble for That, alas, is not the only possibility. The difference between glut and shortage is just a few million barrels a day. And oil consumers remain terribly dependent on the steady flow of fuel from the politically unstable Gulf.

Even if the oil does flow, there is a danger of rapid price fluctuations that undermine the U.S. economy and prolong dependence on imported energy. Simple prudence dictates insulating the economy from oil shocks. The

It is no wonder OPEC is in a jam. Oil-importing countries responded to the 1979-

80 run-up in oil prices with a dramatic conservation effort. America has cut imports by nearly a third. In recent weeks oil has changed hands for $4 to $6 a barrel less than

But this is not the first time oil importers have been shocked by a price explosion and then lulled by price erosion. That's just what happened between 1974 and 1979. The lull came to an abrupt end with the Iranian revolution. Overnight, there were gasoline lines again. Oil prices doubled. Something similar could happen again as the result even of rumors that exports from Saudi Arabia would markets; they disrupt whole economies. To

1907: Electricians' Strike Ends

PARIS - The strike of Paris electricians is at an end. It appears that one of the most important factors in bringing about a settlement was the force of public opinion. Deputations of theater managers, newspaper directors and tradesmen waited upon the authorities and laid stress on the disastrous consequences of the strike to Paris in general. The first result was a statement made by M. Clémenceau, Prime Minister, that civil and military authorities in the capital were taking steps to assure the working of all the power stations. After hours of conversations at the Hôtel de Ville, an arrangement was arrived at. The electricians will in future be assimilated to municipal employees.

Such cycles do not merely unsettle energy be interrupted by war or boycott.

best way to do that is still energy taxes.

the official OPEC price.

shares of a declining market.

This is, to us, absolutely wrong. The guerrilla forces appear to be growing, and Cuban support may be growing, too. There is a real danger that these forces will continue to exploit the terrible social tensions in the country and eventually help tip the geopolitical balance against the United States. This is precisely the reason to repudiate the generals. They are hopelessly ineffective as instruments of anti-Communism, not to speak of social justice. They are the best thing the guerrillas have going for them. In El Salvador the armed forces, or some part of them, are striving to treat civilians better and to support reforms. In Guatemala the armed forces do nothing of the kind.

We do not deny that, at this urgent moment in Central America, it is risky to hold at arm's length an embattled government dedicated to fighting Marxism. Superficially - only superficially - it is inconsistent with American help for the Salvadoran junta. It could give the guerrillas a boost.

The guerrillas, though, are coming strong. They will likely come on stronger, with or without American aid to the government, unless the generals choose to start shifting toward the policies that alone offer a chance of reversing the tide.

contain the inflationary impact, governments create recessions. Then the damage is com-their way down again as businesses that planned for high energy prices are stuck with the consequences. Today, for example, Detroit's huge investment in fuel-efficient cars is threatened by falling gasoline prices. So, too, are projects to develop secure higher-cost fuels like natural gas from unconven-

That dreary cycle suggests first the need for international agreements to limit crisis

buying and for internal plans to limit consumer demand in emergencies. It is also important to insulate the American economy imported oil - increasing its cost by a third or more - would buffer the shock of falling oil prices. And it would make rapid price increases less likely by reducing demand. Much the same result could be accomplished with a tax on gasoline. None of this would be easy to achieve. Consuming nations are reluctant to tie their hands with purchasing agreements. The Reagan administration is opposed to any emergency system for apportioning temporary domestic shortages. And hardly anyone who covets public office in Unless Americans are willing to act when the oil is flowing, we remain at risk the minute it stops. As former Energy Secretary

James Schlesinger puts it: "The energy crisis

1932: U.S.-Russian Trade Grows

PARIS - The editorial in the Herald reads: "Soviet Russia's foreign trade has undergone a remarkable evolution in recent years. Countries that before the war had no commercial relations

worth the name with czarist Russia have developed a system of regular trade exchanges under the Soviet regime. Comparative statistics from Soviet official sources show that in 1913 the United States exported 79 million rubles' worth of goods to Russia, Germany exported 652 million and Great Britain 173 million rubles. In 1929-30, the second year of the five-year plan, the position is completely reversed, the United States being Russia's best seller, Germany coming next, with Britain in third place."

THE NEW YORK TIMES.

is over until our next energy crisis."

America is willing to support energy taxes.

How might that be done? A stiff fee on from rapid changes in world oil prices.

tional sources and high-viscosity oil.

THE WASHINGTON POST.

Now we are beginning to hear it in the United States, like the vague rumblings of distant thunder before a storm. In California, over half a million people have signed a petition to put on that state's November ballots the question of a mutual U.S.-Soviet freeze on the production, testing and use of nuclear weapons.

In Vermont, 155 of 185 town meetings have approved resolutions calling on the state Legislature to petition

Congress and the president to support a similar policy. This movement has attracted attention not only in Congress but also in Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Maine, New York, Ohio, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Oregon and the state of Washington.

For a while, the administration was able to dominate the security debate in Congress with a simple argument: If we are wrong in calling for large increases in the military budget, all we can lose is money; if the opponents of our defense budget are wrong, we could lose everything.

This proposition is persuasive to congressmen in an election year, but gradually opposition to Reagan's defense and economic policies has been spreading from the churches and the universities to the press and now to town meetings, for a number of reasons Aside from the nuclear question, there is a growing feeling that Reagan is getting into deeper trouble at home and abroad; that he is trying to be faithful to his cam-paign promises and his old right-wing buddles one day, rejecting their policies the next day, compromising with everybody, and convincing nobody. This worked for a while. In his first year, Reagan strangled the country with his charm, and he is still convincing Congress that he needs more than 17,000 new nuclear weapons to add to the 20,000 or 30,000 now in the U.S. arsenal, while interest rates and unemployment rates rise. Not only the allies and the Democrats but leading members of his own party are beginning to protest.

The change now is that these doubts are moving into the public arena. For the first time, his defense budget, his Central American policy, his spending deficits, his

Reagan and the New Nuclear Arms Protests

WASHINGTON — At the beginning of this winter, the protest movement against the nuclear arms race resounded through the streets of Western Europe. amiable acceptance of public fights within his Cabinet and particularly his genial acceptance of the opposition of the poor and the Western allies are surring up a storm. It is not that he imposes his views on the opposition. When the allies told him that they could not accept his sensible proposal to establish a reliable balance of power with new nuclear missiles in Western Europe, unless he agreed to peropiate a nuclear compromise with the Soviets, he came forward with a compromise proposal. When President José López Portillo of Mexico offered to mediate in the Central American crisis, Reagan finally but reluctantly agreed that Secretary of State Haig should talk it over with the Mexican foreign minister in New York. But the idea is getting around on Capitol Hill and also in the allied capitols that he responds to opposition only under intense pressure, and this is what is now happening in the New England town meetings in their rising demand for control of nuclear weapons.

By James Reston

There are, however, two dangers: First, that public emotions for peace might, for political reasons in an election year, compel acceptance of a "freeze" on the production, testing and use of nuclear weapons that would leave the Soviet Union with a dangerous advantage in convention. tional and medium-range nuclear weapons. And second, that the public anxiety back of these proposals should be ignored, thus dividing the American people and the allies, to the benefit of the Soviet Union.

The administration's reaction to the anti-nuclear movement is not reasoning. They think, with good reasons, that the control of nuclear weapons is too complicated and dangerous to be decided in New England town meetings or in petitions to the California Legislature.

(all

Unfortunately, they also seem to believe that they don't have to explain why they reject a freeze on the production, testing and use of nuclear weapons, or why they are so worned by Mexico's offer to start talks with Castro and the combatants in El Salvador, or why they reject Moscow's offers of a summit meeting between Presidents Reagan and Brezhnev to discuss all these tangles.

In fact, there are many good reasons why the Reagan-administration should not allow Brezhnev to divert world attention from the Soviet outrages in Poland and Alghanistan, or why it doesn't want to talk to Castro about his military interventions in Central America and Africa. But by failing to explain, they merely encourage the public opposition they deplore.

This is leaving the propaganda advantage to Brezhnev, who, ironically, seems to be in more and more trouble at home with his health and also with the Communist appa-home with his health and also with the Communist apparatus since the death of Mikhail Suslov.

So the public lenging for a reprieve from the fear of nuclear war goes on and is mounting. With the president back from his ranch in California, he will not be able to ignore it, any more than he will be able to brush aside the opposition to his bladget. For he is losing support all around. With three years to go this is serious not only for him and his administration but for the country.

©1982, The New York Times.

Monetarist Disciplines in the Democracies

WASHINGTON — It has been a demolition derby for economic theories in the past 20 years. One after another, they have been bashed and consigned to the scrap heap. The wreckers' lastest target is monetarism: the idea that inflation is too much money chasing too few goods, and that reducing it requires reducing money growth. If the wreckers suc-ceed, America will be the loser.

It is true that monetarism has contributed mightily to the appalling condition of the American economy. Interest rates are sky-high. The credit-sensitive housing and auto industries are sixed industries are sixed industries. dustries are mired in depression. The Europeans and Japanese blame high U.S. rates (which they emulate to prevent currency outflows) for having deepened the world recession. Slump at bome and abroad encourages protectionism and stifles investment.

No one wants this, but monetarism never promised easy economic adjustment. That is a great virtue. Most other economic theories, as they were simplified for public consumption, assumed magical qualities; they implied that all good things (low inflation, high employ-ment, rising living standards) would be possi-ble simultaneously. The monetarists never played the popularity game. Their ideas are not the ultimate wisdom on economic policy, but they are the necessary starting point.

What is — or ought to be — at issue is not monetarism's credibility as economic theory but its workability as public policy. Monetarism is harsh and, unless its social and political acceptability can be improved, it may not be given the chance to succeed. Sadly, President Reagan has virtually ignored this.

By monetarist theory, short-term changes in economic growth and inflation fundamentally result from changes in the money supply. If the Federal Reserve Board increases growth, people find themselves with higher money balances — cash and checking deposits - than they want; they spend more and the economy grows faster. By the same token, if the Fed reduces money growth, people find their money balances diminished; they spend less and the economy slows down or goes into a slump.

By Robert J. Samuelson

The same logic works in reverse and explains why most monetarists never claimed that controlling inflation would be painless. Lower money growth does not suffice to socommodate the money needs of consumers and businesses at higher inflation rates. The esulting spending slowdown creates "slack" in the economy (translation: underused factories, higher unemployment) that puts down-ward pressure on prices.

Anyone who took seriously the Federal Reserve Board's pledge in October, 1979, to reduce money-supply growth ought to have realized that the economy was in for a spell of stagnation or slump. The Fed has, in fact, car-ned through. From 1978 to 1981, growth of so-called M-1 (cash plus checking accounts) has declined from 8.3 to 5 percent, measured from the fourth quarter of one year to the fourth quarter of the next.

Seeing the Choices

The results roughly fit the monetarists' pattern. Changes in money growth generally pre-ceded changes in spending. In the past six months, inflation has abated significantly. The consumer price index (December to December) rose 8.9 percent last year compared with 12.4 percent in 1980. The rise in average honrly earnings declined from 9.6 percent in 1980 to 8.3 percent in 1981. If serious monetarism dates to October, 1979, these improvements arrived right on schedule.

But the features that make monetarism an attractive economie theory — its bonesty in admitting that change takes time and involves disruption —also render it unappealing to pol-iticians. It has an almost medieval flavor; most economists like to think they have come up with something better.

The trouble is that they haven't. The "liber al" approach of an incomes policy - persuading labor and business to restrain wages and prices instead of having tight money do the job - suffers from inherent contradiction. In return for restraint, it promises to keep the economy near full employment. But the resulting tight markets for labor and goods are pre-cisely those that enable workers and firms to raise wages and prices.

TOTAL OF THE PARTY AND ADDRESS ASSET

The current recession only confirms that people and firms react more to experience than exhortation. One of the shump's hallmarks is exportation. One of the stump's halimarks is major concessions by labor umons, eliminating past benefits, reducing future wage gains and even accepting some wage cuts. But it has taken massive distress — in autos, trucking, airlines — to produce these concessions. Alone, no incomes policy could have achieved them. But equally large social defects may defeat monetarism. If inflationary bias discredited liberal economic policies monetarism ricks bberal economic policies, monetarism risks foundering on its depressive effects: persisting high unemployment, stagnant investment and bying standards. It can succeed poblically only if declines in inflation are sufficiently rapid to allow resumed economic growth. This can be considered a good bet but it is hardly a cer-tainty. Much of inflation's recent decline has involved slower increases in oil and food prices and interest rates.

What might hasten the process are policies to make wage and price decisions more realis-tic and competitive. In health care, housing and labor markets, such policies exist, but the administration has embraced them only halfheartedly. Even more important is a deeper public appreciation of the choices involved. The idea that wage increases can be divorced from gains in efficiency — an idea that spread in the 1960s and 1970s — assures inflation and, ultimately, unemployment. But the president has remained stone silent on the broader issues. What is at stake goes beyond economic theory or quibbles with the technicalities of Federal Reserve policies. Monetarism is a form of discipline. No economic approach, not even an incomes policy, can work if people do not accept the disciic societies can control their economies with out veering toward the extremities of high inflation and prolonged slump - or simply stagnating in between. 01982, National Journal.

the process. During the eight-month surge of the party's birth, it had only two paid staff members.

stands for. And the process of pro-

A French Approach To Israel

By C.L. Sulzberger

DARIS - No one can foresee the ultimate effects on the Middle East resulting from Presi-, dent François Mitterrand's trip last week to Jerusalem, the first by a European chief of state. At the least, despite his rather acerb reception by Menachem Begin, he has seemingly restored French neutrality toward Israel for the first time since 1967, the year Charles de Gaulle abruptly manifested a hostile view in Paris.

At the most this sudden change could develop along lines envi-sioned during the weekend by the Israeli foreign minister, Yitzhak Shamir, when he speculated about French sales of advanced military weapons to the Israelis for the first time in 15 years. He also spoke of a possible French nuclear reactor. which sounds unlikely at present. In any case, France suddenly finds itself more popular with Israel and less with many Arab states. Paris originally furnished scientists and techniques to help Israel, build an atomic plant that many believe has been laboriously producing bombs for some years. The Israelis are known to have a relatively small stock of workable war-heads, although they have never confirmed it; nor have they tested, any such device on their territory. Furthermore, France was the, principal Israeli source of conventional weapons until 15 years ago, when de Gaulle embargoed further, sales. The United States theat moved in as a substitute supplier;

on a larger scale.

De Gaulle's abrupt change in,
French policy from openly pro-israel to avowedly neutral was based. on the excuse that the Israelis were the aggressors in the 1967 war, This was basically not the case, although it could be argued.

Israel regarded an Egyptian blockade as an act of aggressive, war and, at the end of May, 1967, suddenly destroyed the Arab air forces, then launched a series of lightning attacks, beginning with the destruction of Egypt's army. The onslaught continued until, in less than a week, no even remotely strong enemy existed in the region. Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban had visited de Gaulle in Paris just before the conflict and been conscious union bosses or the Trotskyites. Predictably, too, the effort to build an alliance between SIDP and the long-established, unusuccessful third-party Liberals, has brought conflict about who gets to select candidates for the seats where there is the best chance of defeat-

had "underestimated the extreme difficulty of breaking a two-party system so deeply embedded in the class structure and the busithere is the best chance of defeating a Tory or Labor member.

Last, Williams said, there are signs of a Conservative comeback, keyed to a better showing by the battered British economy in such fundamental measures as productivity and foreign trade.

Lurking behind all these questions is one which has relevance for the United States as well as Britain. She had a sense, this able ness-and-labor interest group sys-She said she had no regrets about walking away from a Labor Party increasingly under the con-trol of its unilateral disarmament, anti-Common Market ideologues and the Trotskyites who have infil-

Britain. She had a sense, this able and gutsy politician said, that in both her country and in the United States, there is still skepticism as to whether any politicians of the Left are really prepared to give "tough answers" to the questions of inflation, deficits and costly bureaucracy that brought the Thatcher and Reagan governments to power.

18 months apart.
She left her listeners thinking, and admiring what is surely one of the most lively political minds on cither side of the ocean. 01982, The Washington Past.

Now, the press, which welcomed the novelty of the new force, is demanding to know exactly what it ducing a definition has produced strains between those, like Jenkins, who want a slightly diluted. humane-looking Thatcherism, and those like Williams, who seek Socialism stripped of any toadying to the unilateral disarmers, the turfwarned" that Israel should not make war. But Eban interpreted this as "world war," he told me.
There were, in fact, two probable reasons for de Gaulle's sudden move. First of all, he considered the Arabs — with their oil, strategic position and much larger population — of far greater potential value to France than Israel. Secondly, be resented secret Israeli help to anti-Gaullists in Algeria.

Thus, from May, 1967, until March, 1982, when Mitterrand landed at Ben Gurion Airport, France became increasingly hostile to the Israelis and increasingly popular with the Arabs.

The present change weakens Arab efforts to isolate Israel. With the exception of Egypt, the Arab press has been overwhelmingly enraged by Mitterrand's voyage. As for France, Mitterrand clear ly registered a shrewd political gain. This country contains about 800,000 Jews and there was anxiety among some of them - by no means the majority — that the president's nationalization of private banks might imply an anti-Semitie stance. This is nonsense, even though several of the banks were owned by Jewish families. 91982, International Herald Tribuse.

British Social Democrats Come to Crossroad By David S. Broder of the party's members were political novices, easily put off by the nitty-gritty and the infighting of month have shown the SDP-Liberal alliance losing ground, down 5 to 8 points from late 1981, and falling into a near-deadlock with Con-

On a brief visit recently to Washington, where she addressed the Americans for Democratic Action convention, Shirley Williams, another former Labor minister who was instrumental in forming

SDP, acknowledged that the Glasgow contest on March 25 is too close to call now. She expressed concern that Scottish voters may not warm to the English-Welsh

Jenkins, but said she had made a personal bet on a Jenkins victory.

More broadly, she told a gather-ing of journalists and politicians, she and the other SDP founders trated its grassroots organization.

But she has come to see. Wil-liams said, that the early victories, like her own return to Parliament in a November by-election, were achieved largely on a wave of protest against the old parties. But now, seeing the threat. Tories and Labor are uniting to cut off the

she acknowledged. The early surge was based on a "broad and frothy" support, without much in the way of organizational or intellectual underpinnings. She said 60 percent

But there is more to it than that,

tern of our country."

interloper's support.

servatives and Labor.

W eight months ago, it looked as if there might be unjor political realignments under way in both the United States and Great Britain. On this side of the Atlantic, the Republicans were making gi-ant strides toward overtaking the pounded when oil prices eventually work Democrats' 50-year-old status as the majority party. And in Britain, the new Social Democratic Party (SDP), in alliance with the Liberals, zoomed from literally nowhere to the top of the public opinion polls, ahead of both the Conservatives and Labor parties. Now, just a few months after this delicious possibility of political upheaval appeared, it seems to be fading. The Republicans' prospects of taking over the House of Representatives have been wrecked on the rocks of the reces-sion. And in Britain, for quite different reasons, the SDP-Liberal alliance has come to a premature crossroads, with great uncertainty about its long-term prospects.

In two weeks, former Labor Party minister and Common Market chief Roy Jenkins will be running as the SDP candidate in a special election to fill a vacant Tory scat near Glasgow. It was Jenkins, more than anyone else, who gave the fledgling SDP its credibility by a near-miss in another by-election last year. His showing triggered a surge in the polls and a series of victories in other parliamentary and local elections.

Jenkins is regarded as the likely choice of the SDP membership as its first leader, but only if he regains a seat in Parliament on his second try. National polls this past

-Letters

The Eddy Case

Here is a foomote to "75 Years Ago" (IHT, March 4), which re-called a suit against Mary Baker Eddy to secure an account of her financial affairs, and the "mysterious operations" surrounding her: The suit, which was brought at the instigation of the New York World and had less to do with her financial affairs than with the control of her church, was dropped without any evidence being of-fered. In a subsequent interview in The New York Times, the leading alienist of the day, who had examined Mrs. Eddy at the court's re-quest, stated: "There really is no mystery about [Mrs. Eddy]... The sensational stories which have been disseminated about her have no foundation in fact, although they can be very easily traced to a spirit of religious persecution that at last quite overreached itself."

RICHARD ROBINSON.

To call the theory of evolution a science is to completely disregard the irrefutable archeological, geo-logical and astronomical evidence that refutes it and supports the biblical account of creation. Teaching the fairy tales and myths of evolution as science can be equated to teaching the alchemists' attempt to turn other metals into gold as proven scientific fact. It is Paris.

Against Evolution

interesting to note that even Darwin rejected this, his own theory, before his death. VICTOR B. STOCKDELL. Vienna.

Tangos in Paris In Michael Zweriu's article

"Tango is Alive and Well in Paris" (IHT, Feb. 17), which I enjoyed very much, he states that the tango was brought to Paris right after World War I. As a Parisian and an octogenarian, I can testify that he should have written "before." I remember being a 9-year-old spectator of a demonstration that took place in 1911 during a charity function in an orphanage at Saint-Maur-des-Fosses, a suburb of Par-is. The dance must therefore already have been introduced in Paris itself, as I very much doubt that it was a premiere. The tall male dancer wore a sailor's outfit, with pants called "pattes d'éléphant." The woman was petite, in a short navy blue pleated skirt and black silk stockings. I was a musical child, and I recall being fascinated by those strange rhythms and chords and that lovely dancing.

I wish I could produce a program as evidence — there must have been one. Perhaps some old Parisian, raking his or her memories, could recall a Paris tango from even earlier than 1911. URBAIN ROULLIER.

Herald Tribune John Hay Whitney (1904-1982) Katharine Graham Arthur Ochs Sulzberger

Co-Chairmen

International Herstd Tribura, S.A. an expital de 1.200.000 F. R.C.S. Nantere B. 733/21126 179/181, zwe. Charles de Cardie, 9521 Nondy-sew-Seina, Tel. 291-124d. Telez, 612718 Herstd. Breis Cabbre Hersld, Paris, Derectors de la publicación. Waiter N. Thayer. U.S. subscription price 5225 yearly. Second class. postage pade at Long Island Cry. N.Y. 11101 C. 1982. International Herstd Telleuse. All rights reserved. Commissione Photoles. No. 30. 221 Panalule No 34 231 isral Manager, Ann: Albin Lecour 24-34 Hemicsey Rend, Room 1801, hong Kong, Tel. 5-28 50 18/9 Telm. 41170 HETHIKHX

1990

Robert K. McCabe Samuel Abt Carl Gewirtz Roland Pinson

Lee W. Huebner

Philip M. Foisie

Walter N. Wells

Deputy Editors Associate Editor Associate Publisher

Publisher

Executive Editor

René Bondy Director of Finance Director of Circulation François Desmaisons Richard H. Morgan Director of Advertising

V.J. الد مالوتار e-wood

: فتاريخ ا

PJOUGE !

E. Kor

DE SLEET

dayer .

Filme:

o-do

Polobou 20001

Wednesday, March 10, 1982 **

To Reappoint Van Lennep

Member Nations Fail To Find Alternative

> By Paul Lewis New York Times Service

PARIS - Emile van Lennep is likely to be reappointed to the 575,000-a-year post of secretary-general of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development, officials of the organiza-

Support for Mr. Van Lennep's reappointment came at a meeting of OECD ambassadors Monday, just three weeks before he is sched-uled to retire at the age of 67. After serving as secretary-general for two five-year terms, Mr. Van Len-nep, a former Dutch civil servant, had agreed in 1979 to remain in the job for an additional two and a half years after the OECD failed to agree on a successor.

The deadlock has continued since 1979. The OECD officials said that a formal decision to ask Mr. Van Lennep to remain at his post could be taken when the ambassadors meet again Friday. Besides his tax-free salary, the OECD secretary-general gets a free apart-ment, a limousine and a substantial entertainment allowance.

European diplomats believe that the Reagan administration wants in keep Mr. Van Lennep at the OECD because throughout his 12½ years in the job he has been careful in avoid irritating major member governments correction. member governments concerning their economic policies and is thus unlikely to criticize the United States for its current high interest rates, which are opposed by many European governments.
The OECD, which was formed to foster stable economic growth and belp expand free trade, does not have the legal power to make a member government change its economic policy. But it can embarrass politicians by making unfa-vorable judgments about their tactics in the private meetings it organizes at which the governments of the major industrial nations out-side the Soviet bloc try to coordinate economic strategy and in the numerous economic reports and studies that it publishes,

Nonetheless, both West Germany and Washington favor giving the job to Helga Steeg, a civil servant in the West German Economics Ministry. U.S. officials praise Miss Steeg as a good administrator and a firm believer in the free market economic policies supported by the Reagan administration. Italy, Britain, France and several other countries want the post to ister, Filippo María Pandolfi. They argue that a political figure would give the organization's actions more weight. The United States fears Mr. Pandolfi would put more emphasis on fighting unemploy-ment than on combating inflation. Sweden, Norway and Denmark favor Staffan Burenstam Linder, a former Swedish trade minister. Belgium has backed a former deputy prime minister, José Desmareti, and Austria announced Monday that it favored Eugen Veselsky, a Socialist politician and a close ally of Austrian Chancellor Brunn Kreisky. It was the first mention of Mr. Veselsky as a con-

The deadlock over these rival nominations is increasing the like-lihood that Mr. Van Lennep will be reappointed.

COMPANY REPORTS

venue and profits, in millions, are in local currencies unless otherwise indicated

Denmark

M0A0	ingusiri
Year	1987
Revenue	2,230.	1,
Profits	341.0	1
Canada
Weston	(George)
Year	1981
Revenue	7,440,	6.
Profits	79.2

5.62 Hong Kong

Јарап

Revenue... Profils.... Netherlands Phtlips Gloellampenfabrieken

Singapare lent Bank of Singapore 1981 1988 1127 69.6 Develop

South Africa

De Beers Consolidated Mines 1988 818.2 1,857 Dividend was cut to 25 from 50 cents of

Debate on BNOC Limited

LONDON - The British government, forestalling a prolonged filibuster on its plan to transfer parts of the British National Oil Corp. to a new company, Britoil, and sell them to the public, Tuesday used its parliamentary majori-ty to pass a "guillotine" motion to impose a time limit on debate.

OECD Likely Bendix Acquires Stake in RCA which responded with a personal attack on William M. Agee, Ben-

By Barnaby J. Feder
New York Times Service NEW YORK - Bendix, in a move many analysts saw as the prelude to a takeover attempt, announced late Monday that it had acquired more than 5 percent of RCA's nutstanding stock and might buy up to 9.9 percent.

Bendix said that its purchase was for investment purposes only and that it had no present plans for an acquisioon, merger or at-tempt to reorganize RCA.

RCA's plans. "The purchase of RCA stock by Mr. Agee's Bendix is not wel-comed by RCA, RCA an-nounced. "Mr. Agee has not dem-onstrated the ability to manage his own affairs, let alone someone else's. Mr. Agee's actions in secret-ly accumulating a block of RCA paid as declared for 1981, expects foreign orders to increase.

proceed with the acquisition."

er Daniel K. Ludwig.

Hongkong & Shanghai Sees Increase in Profit

The company Tuesday also proposed a 1-for-3 bonus issue.

AEG Expects Rise in Turnover, New Orders

HONG KONG — Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corp., announcing a 40 percent increase in net profit for 1981, said Tuesday that profit is expected to rise sufficiently in 1982 for at least the same dividend to be

The directors said that lower oil prices, which contributed to an easing of inflationary pressures, and high interest rates were responsible for the

FRANKFURT — AEG-Telefunken said Tuesday it expects a slight

It said the domestic economy will remain weak this year but that it

In its statement, AEG reiterated that it expects to present accounts showing nil profit for 1981. The report said that group turnover rose 3 percent in 1981 to 14.8 billion Deutsche marks. Incoming orders rose 7

New York Times Service NEW YORK — Kaiser Steel said Tuesday that the company expects to complete negotiations by the end of this month with a group of private investors led by Stanley Hiller Jr. for the sale of the company.

John Straubel, a spokesman for the investors, said that they were in the process of finishing an audit of Kaiser's operations. He said the preliminary agreement signed with Kaiser last month gave the investors

the ability to study Kaiser's situation further "to determine if they would

The group, which offered in February to pay $55.25 a share, or about $414 million, for Kaiser, includes investor Ghaith Pharaon and shipownpercent to 15.4 billion DM despite a decline in domestic orders.

Kaiser Sees Completion of Talks on Sale

increase in turnover and new orders this year, but the company would make no forecast of net results in its preliminary statement of 1981

stock show that his only purpose is to further his own ambinions and not the interests of RCA and its dix's chief executive officer, and a pledge to resist any attempt by the Michigan-based aerospace and auto supply company to influence stockholders or even Bendix and its stockholders."

"That's a preposterous claim, said Christopher C. Stavrou, an said Christopher C. Stavrou, an RCA analyst for Evans & Co. who thinks RCA's management is worried about losing control of the company. Describing the troubled company as "a sitting duck," Mr. Stavrou added, "Bendix is getting the ball rolling; if somebody else is group to move now is the time." going to move, now is the time."

RCA's susceptibility to a takeover attempt is a reflection of its low stock price and the high resale value of many of its subsidiaries. The company's stock finished trading Monday on the New York Stock Exchange at $19.375 a share. down 50 cents a share. That put the market value of the 75.4 million shares outstanding during 1981 at about $1.46 billion. Some analysts say they believe NBC alone could be sold for that price. At Monday's closing price, a 5 per-cent stake in RCA would be worth about $73 milliun.

RCA was the must-active NYSE-listed stock Tuesday, clos-ing at $20 a share, up 62.5 cents a

RCA traded at about $65 some 15 years ago. Since then, it has missed numerous opportunities in its traditional electronics and entertainment business and bas diversified into other fields with limited success. Its most recent attempt to re-establish its image as a

By Vartanig G. Vartan

New York Times Service

es are slogging through their worst bear market since 1974, and the prevailing view in Wall Street is that share prices will probably get worse before any genuine recovery

When analysts try to pick the market bottom, they usually focus on the Dow Jones industrial average, since most investors equate this barometer with the overall ac-

Thus, Robert J. Farrell of Mer-

Charles Jensen of MKI Securities

Corp. predicts the Dow will hit

All three of these technical market analysts expect the Dow to reach its low point this spring, or between April and June. In the past, the month of May has marked the end of a fair number of good month for market bottoms.) Calling Turns bear markets. (October is another

There is, however, another useful technique for calling turns of down markets, and the average investor can utilize it as well as the

"In a general sense, you can tell that sectors of the market are ready to recover when their stocks quit going down in the face of bad news," says Martin D. Sass, president of M.D. Sass Investors Services Inc., which manages $450

Furthermore, when stocks actually climb despite discomfiting developments, such as contract cancellarions or forecasts of a profit slowdown, a bull market may be developing.

Recently, technology issues have been hit particularly hard on adverse news, and this leads Mr.

Sass, among others, to believe the end of falling prices for this once-favored group is not yet in sight.

Last Friday, for example, Carol Neves of Merrill Lynch lowered

ber 1982 earnings projections for Teledyne. That same day

$450 Million for Plant

Renters

LONDON — Shell Brazil is raising $450 million through 15 international banks to finance an aluminium project, agent bank Lloyds Bank International said Tuesday.

A guarantee will be included from the Royal Dutch/Sbell group, it added, and the maturity will be more than 10 years. Lloyds declined to comment further on the terms of this club deal.

WEEKLY NOTIFICATION

COMPTREND II A MANAGED COMMODITY ACCOUNT.

EQUITY ON:

JANUARY 1, 1982

$100,000.00

MARCH 4, 1982

$99,451.56

after all charges

EQUITY ON:

JANUARY 1,1981

$100,000.00

DECEMBER 31,1981

$237,214,03

1981 Performance +137%

OVER $4,000,000.00

UNDER MANAGEMENT

Shell Brazil Raising

Wall Street professional.

million for clients.

bottom "around the 730 level."

tion of stock prices,

NEW YORK - U.S. stock pric-

All amounts in millions except per share net

4.430 204.47 8.35 Per Shore.... introduction of videodisc equipment last year, has failed to meet expectacions In his statement, Mr. Agee said:

"RCA is basically a fine company with good core strength in its high-technology activities. We are encouraged by the recent statements of management about its plans and directions and believe they could lead the company along a fine future path."

Mr. Agee has led Bendix through a reorganization that has included the sale of several subsidiaries. Some of the $900 million Bendix accumulated went for the purchase of Warner & Swasey, a machine tool manufacturer, and investments in several small hightechnology concerns. The bulk of the proceeds has been earning in-terest while Mr. Ages shops for the major high-technology acquisition that he has talked about making for more than a year.

During the 1981 fiscal year ended Sept. 30, investment income contributed $65.6 million to Ben-dix's record earnings of $453 million on sales of $4.4 billion.

RCA earned only $54 million on Teledyne's shares, which sold at a record price of 174% in mid-1981.

dropped 3 points, to 121½. Mon-day, the stock fell to 117. Mean-while, the value of the most heavily traded Teledyne call option was

But another issue, Data Gener-al, produced the best evidence that off drops in stock prices. Data

NEWS ANALYSIS

General makes minicomputers, sappointing news still touches

cut in half.

Its total debt has more than dou-bled to $2.9 billion in the last three 1980 3.840 8.000 8.010 Profits 134.20 315.3 Per Share. .19 loss revenue of more than $8 billion.

> years. Last week, it cut its quarter-ly dividend to 22.5 cents from 45 cents a share. Mr. Agee met Monday with Thornton F. Bradshaw, RCA's chairman, to inform him about the investment and to assure him that Bendix's position was a "friendly one," Bendix announced.

RCA's reply said that the company was working with two invest-ment banking firms, Lehman Brothers Kuhn Loeb and Lazard Frères, and its lawyers in prepar-

RCA's decision to defend itself

by making personal attacks on Mr. Agee surprised some analysts, who said that RCA's remarks could only be interpreted as references in Mr. Agee's handling of his close friendship with Mary Cunning-ham, a former Bendix executive. Miss Cunningham rose rapidly through the ranks, starting as Mr. Agec's executive assistant. After 15 months at Bendix, controversy about their relacionship forced ber

It was a different story with a happy ending for alert traders owning put options on Data General. Put options allowing bolders to sell Data General's stock at a

Prices Gain on NYSE In Final-Hour Surge

NEW YORK — Prices on the New York Stock Exchange staged a strong rally in the last hour of trading in beavy volume, and analysts expressed differing views about the reason.

The Dow Jones industrial aver-

was virtually unchanged an hour before the close and then surged in the last 45 minutes to close up 8.37 points at 803.84. Advances edged past declines by about 780 to 720.

Volume swelled to 76.06 million shares from the 67.33 million traded Monday with the heaviest trading concentrated in the last

Some analysts attributed the acnon to rumors that influential Salomon Brothers economist Hen-ry Kaufman issued a bullisb statement on interest rates.

Mr. Kaufman has projected that long-term interest rates this year would come close to their 1981 highs and short-term rates would be irregularly higher throughout the year. Mr. Kaufman could not be reached for comment on the ru-

Hildegarde Zagorski of the Bache Group, discounted the ru-mor. "They trot that one out every time there is a sharp change in the market," she said.

Harvey Deutsch of Purcell Graham said that when the Dow average dropped below 790, the market was ripe for a technical a long string of disappointing new-car sales, Mr. Sass cites General shares rose 21/2 points, to 391/4.

Motors, Last week the automaker's

Another indication of a stock market bottom can appear in the buy-and-sell patterns of retail customers at major brokerage firms.

Donald W. Kimsey, who moni-tors this data at Dean Witter Reynolds, Monday described the cash-account client as typically "more of a value-oriented, longer-term investor," in contrast to the maring point.

"The February employment data released last Friday add to the evidence that the economy is nt, or very near, its turning point, BUSINESS NEWS BRIEFS N.Y. Stock Analysts Still Looking for the Bottom Beryl Sprinkel, the Treasury un-dersecretary for monetary affiars said in Paris Tuesday that U.S. unemployment is likely to rise to around 9 or 10 percent, from feb-ruary's level of 8.8 percent, before turning downward in the second some earmarks of having bottomed after the company reported half of this year.

bounce, "There was a lot of indis-, criminate short selling and most of the margin liquidation was exhausted, he said,

Dreyfus Corp, Vice President
Monte Gordon said of the first

Monte Cordon sain or the first sluggish hours of trading, "The di-mension of (the recession) is un-known, but the impact is quite visi-ble in the decline in corporate earnings and lowered estimates by

Treasury Secretary Donald T.

Regan Tuesday dismissed talk about the chance the economy might slip into a depression as "absurd."

Mr. Regan said the administra-tion's economic program, coupled with congressional action to reduce further government spending,

"will bring this nation out of the twilight of recession and into the bright daylight of prosperity."

Describing as a "myth" talk that the economy might worsen into n depression, the Treasury secretary said, "Nothing could be more absurd nor further from reality. This nation is nowhere near that fate."

Courtney Slater, a private Washington economist, said Tuesday that the recession may have reached its low point in February and should be at or near its turn-

analysis."

In corporate news, a U.S. judge Tuesday denied the requests of dis-sident Marathon shareholders to block a special shareholder meeting Friday on the proposed merger with U.S. Steel Corp. Atlantic Richfield chairman and chief executive Robert O. Ander-son said Tuesday be will recom-mend the election of William F. Kieschnick, the company's president, as chief executive officer. The U.S. dollar closed generally higher in Londson, while the pound closed lower after the pres-entation of the 1982-83 British budget, which was seen as mildly inflationary, dealers said.

Sterling finished at $1.8047 against a close Monday of $1.8252. Dealers said the Bank of England supported the pound when it fell below $1.80. low $1.80.

The dollar closed at 2,3670 Deutsche marks, up from a close Wednesday of 2.3415 DM.

at $325.25 an ounce, down slightly from Monday's $326.50.

March, 1982

rill Lynch forecasts the market's gin-account customer who is major bottom bes somewhere in "the low 700s." Donald I. Trott of geared to trading. Aside from Data General, other In the past, cash-account cus-tomers often have been adept at A.G. Becker Inc. envisages the 725 to 750 range as the ultimate low.

and less than a year ago its stock was changing hands as high as

Last Thursday the stock price plunged 10 points, to 33%, after the company's management said earnings in the current fiscal quarter would be less than the 83 cents a share earned a year ago. Data General closed Friday at 28%. On Monday it went to 27. This served as a classic example of what Alan' R. Shaw of Smith Barney, Harris Upham & Co. calls the "black hole" syndrome, wherein a stock hits a vacuum on bad news.

set price of $40 ontil these contracts expire March 19 proved to be a speculator's dream. These puts soared last week to 111/2 from

The same put options traded during the week as low as 1/4. This meant that, ideally, if a person had bought a put at the week's lowest price and then sold out at Friday's close, he could have made $92 for every $1 ventured - less commistechnology issues have given ground recently, reflecting the impact of either scaled-down earnings estimates or reported profit declines. This list includes Perkin-Elmer, Amdahl and Digital Equipment. In February a spectacular free fall occurred in shares of Datapoint Corp. After company officials lowered their earnings projecpoints in one week.

buying stocks aggressively near market bottoms while margin accounts step up their selling. This was the pattern at Dean Witter Reynolds in April, 1980, a month when the Dow reached a closing low of 759.13 and then rallied sharply.

buy-sell patterns of the two types of customers are inconclusive.

This announcement appears as a matter of record only

Sumitomo Electric Industries, Ltd.

(Sumitomo Denkí Kogyo Kabushiki Kaisha)

U.S. $50,000,000

5½ per cent. Convertible Bonds Due 1997 ISSUE PRICE 100 PER CENT.

Daiwa Europe Limited

Kuwait Foreign Trading Contracting & Investment Co. (S.A.K.)

Nomura International Limited Credit Suisse First Boston Limited Goldman Sachs International Corp. Morgan Guaranty Ltd J. Henry Schroder Wagg & Co. Limited Banque Nationale de Paris

Deutsche Bank Aktiengesellschaft Kleinwort, Benson Limited The National Commercial Bank (Saudi Arabia) Sumitomo Finance International

Banca del Gottardo Bank of Tokyo International Limited Banque de Neuflize, Schlumberger, Mallet Banque de Paris et des Pays-Bas Banque Worms Baring Brothers & Co., Limited Bayerische Vereinsbank Aktiengesellschaft Cazenove & Co. (Overseas) Chase Manhattan Limited Commerzbank Aktiengesellschaft Compagnie de Banque et d'Investissements, CBI Crédit Lyonnais Daiwa Securities America Inc. de Zoete & Bevan Dresdner Bank Aktiengesellschaft Robert Fleming & Co. Limited Grieveson, Grant and Co. Hessische Landesbank - Girozentrale-IBJ International Limited Japan International Bank Limited Kyowa Bank Nederland N.V. LTCB International Limited Merrill Lynch International & Co. Mitsubishi Bank (Europe) S.A. Mitsubishi International Finance Limited Morgan Grenfell & Co. Limited New Japan Securities Europe Limited The Nikko Securities Co., (Europe) Ltd. Nippon Credit International (HK) Ltd. Nippon Kangyo Kakumaru (Europe) Limited Nordic Bank Limited Orion Royal Bank Limited Osakaya Securities Co., Ltd. Phillips & Drew Rowe & Pitman Sanyo Securities Co., Ltd. Singer & Friedlander Ltd. The Sumitomo Trust Finance (H.K.) Limited The Taiyo Kobe Bank (Luxembourg) S.A. United Overseas Bank S.A. (Geneva) Wako International (Europe) Limited S.G. Warburg & Co. Ltd. Westdeutsche Landesbank Girozentrale Yamaichi International (Europe) Limited Yokohama Asia Limited

Kaiser Steel also said Monday that James F. Will, president and chief executive officer, had resigned. He was the fourth Kaiser president since 1979 to leave after serving less than a year. Stephen A. Girard, the present chairman, will assume the additional responsibilities of presi-

COPENHAGEN - Novo Industri Tuesday reported a 41-percent increase in sales for 1981 and a 50-percent increase in capital expenditure, to 303 million kroner (about $38 million) from 201 million from 1981. It said that foreign purchases accounted for 97 percent of total 1981 sales, unchanged from 1980.

The company said capital expenditure included completion of a granulation plant for detergent enzymes, an expansion of capacity for enzyme fermentation and purification, and modernization and expansion of insulin and antibiotic production facilities.

U.S., Japan Set Talks on Auto-Export Limit

Novo Industri Sales, Capital Spending Up

Readers

TOKYO — U.S. and Japanese officials will meet here Friday to discuss the level to which Japan will voluntarily curb its car shipments to the United States for the year beginning next month, Japanese Trade and Industry Ministry officials said Tuesday.

Japan voluntarily curbed its car shipments to the United States in the year ending this month to 1.68 million units, under the three-year agreement that took effect less April.

ment that took effect last April.

The new round of talks was agreed on when U.S. Deputy Trade Representative David McDonald met Monday with Shohei Kurihara, vice trade minister for internacional affairs.

2 Major U.S. Independent Oil Firms to Merge

Los Angeles Times Service CULVER CITY, Calif. — Two major independent gasoline marketers, USA Petroleum and Oasis Petroleum, amounced Monday they would merge and named Saudi Arabian investor Essam Khashoggi as chairman

The merger will become effective May 1 and will create one of the largest independent oil companies in the United States. The combined revenue of the two companies currently are estimated at $4 billion annu-

Mr. Khashoggi, a brother of controversial Saudi Arabian businessman Adnan Khashoggi, was a major shareholder in Oasis before being named chairman of the merged company.

CURRENCY RATES

Interbank exchange rates for March 9, 1982, excluding bank service charges.

Equity. 0.4735 1.8184 N.A. 0.0077 0.1729 0.1729 0.645 0.7722 0.0542 0.0042 0.57211 0.4377 0.1674 0.7201 0.0744 0.3723 21115

£Stertion: 1,2065 irish £

For information call or write Royall
Frazier or Ian Sonterville, TAPMAN: Trend Analysis and Portfolio Management, Inc., Wall Street Plaza, New York,
New York 10005, (212) 269-1041, TELEX BMR667173 LW.
TAPMAN is a wholly owned subsidiary of Bellfour, Maclaine International LTD.

mountains does not mean that

Vancouver is cold. The temperature is the most moderate of any Canadian city, winter and summer. Snow usually falls only two or three times a year in the city, and lasts only a few days, quickly removed by sunshine or winter rains,

Hiking Trails

For hikers in good shape, there are trails leading to those peaks, but it is wise to be prepared. A volunteer rescue team spends a good scribe the trails and give sound ad-

For the less ambitious or physically fit, there are roads up Mount

Seymour and Hollyburn Mountain, and a gondola that can take you up Grouse Mountain. All three provide spectacular views of the city, the Strait of Georgia and Vancouver Island to the west, and more mountains to the east and south. Among them is Mount is actually in the United States but that Vancouverites consider part of their realm.

Vancouver

Rugged City on the West Coast Is More Than a 'Rain Forest'

By Vic Parsons

JANCOUVER, British Columbia - The natives of this Pacific Coast city of 1.5 million hold dear a joke about the place they call home. In Vancouver, they say, you do not tan, you rust.

It is a reference to the reputation that Vancouver, Canada's third-largest city, has gained in the rest of the country. "How are things out in the rain forest?" Canadians from east of the Rocky Mountains are apt to ask.

It is true that Vancouver gets its share of rain when the winds blow in from the Pacific, especially from November to February, but there are parts of the Vancouver area where the annual rainfall is no more than in Montreal, Toronto or Vancouver, named after the 18th-century English mariner Capt. George Vancouver, is at the mouth of the Fraser River, one of the world's great salmon streams. A fairly young city even by Cana-dian standards, it is the largest city in the Canadian West, with its center less than an hour's drive from the United States.

Port City

Above all a port city — every year it handles a higher tonnage than any other Canadian port -Vancouver is the hub of Western Canada's mining, fishing and forest industries. Although life is usually conducted at a more leisurely pace than in the East, there is an atmosphere of youthful energy m the city.

What first strikes the visitor is the North Shore mountains, which rise 1,200 to 1,500 meters from the Newcomers frequently say that they cannot forget that scene.

On a clear day late in summer, one can look across Vancouver's harbor, Burrard Inlet, and see the peaks known as the Lions because of their resemblance to the ani-out the urban noise. The park is out the urban noise. The park is surrounded by a seawall nine ki-lometers long, which is a favorite place for walkers, joggers and roller-skaters. On nearby English Bay, weekend sailors and wind surfers take advantage of brisk sea winds to sail m and out among the many deep-sea ships anchored outside the port.

The best-known attraction in Stanley Park is the aquarium, with daily shows of trained killer whales that never fail to draw spectators.

Suspension Bridges

Spanning two river canyons on the North Shore are suspension bridges, which provide excitement for the daring but are definitely not for the nervous. One, hundreds of feet above the Capilano River, is a paid attraction, but there is a shorter, equally appealing and shaky, free bridge at Lynn Canyon Park in north Vancouver.

Also on the Capilano is a gov ernment salmon hatchery that is open to visitors. It features cutaway fish ladders with glass win-dows where every fall you can watch the salmon leap upstream to their spawning grounds.

deal of its time every year searching for ill-equipped likers. There are books available locally that de-Vancouver's Chinatown is an attraction not to be missed. Reputedly the second-largest Chinese community in North America, after San Francisco, Chinatown is a busy area near the city center with fine Cantonese restaurants, curiosity and clothing shops, and groceries and drugstores.

Vancouver has much more: deep-sea fishing for Chinook salmon; skiing at Whistler, a World Cup site, just 100 kilometers north; trips by ferry through the Gulf Islands; the remarkably pre-Baker, a 3,285-meter volcano that served totem poles of the University of British Columbia's Museum Many consider the prize jewel in of Anthropology; and the Japa-Park, a forested peninsula close to the city's heart, with sandy ocean-secluded Wreck Beach, where the side beaches and quiet shady trails dressing custom, formal or infor-But the presence of snow on the whose fir, spruce and hemlock shut mal, is to wear nothing at all.

Quebec

Special to the IHT

OUEBEC — This 375-year-old city is like many grandes dames — you cannot just arrive unannounced and expect a warm

Most people know that you need to book accommodations months in advance for the winter Carmval, but many assume that the city is quiet in the summer and that hotel rooms are easy to come by at the last minute. In fact, Quebec has a booming trade in the summer months, and it is important to reserve well in advance.

But the effort is worth it, especially if you are planning a trip anywhere in the vicinity of Montreal, Toronto, New York or Boston. All are an hour or less away by air from Quebec city, capital of the province and first French city of North America.

Quebec city is about 250 kilometers northeast of Montreal on the banks of the St. Lawrence River. Air fare from Montreal is about Can.$160, and slightly more from Toronto and the cities of the northeastern United States. If you are comming from Montreal, you also might consider driving up along the scenic old highway in a rental car (about Can.$40 a day). The bus costs Can $33.50 return for the 21/2-hour trip, more with a Range of Prices

Once there, you will find a full range of accommodations at all prices. The Tourist Bureau at 60 rue d'Auteuil can help find you ev-erything from the Hilton and Holiday Inns to the small maisons tour-

More than 100 such lodgings exist in this city of 500,000, but there are two that stand out at each end of the price range.

The first choice in first-class botels is the 90-year-old Chateau Frontenac, a charming 500-room hotel set on a cliff with a view of the St. Lawrence. Part of the CP Hotels chain, the chateau offers double-occupancy rooms for Can.$115-$120.

The layout of some rooms long corridors, for example - can be annoying but in other rooms you get the impression that someone gave you a suite by mistake. There is 24-hour service, including an oak-paneled bar facing out on

At the other end of the spectrum is the Chateau de la Terrasse, a converted 20-room mansion a stone's throw away from the other chateau. The Chateau de la Terrasse offers river-view rooms or

Advance Preparation Is Helpful In Seeing Grand Dame of Cities

This is a fine alternative for those who prefer smaller places, but it has one major inconven-

ence: It faces a boardwalk and park where frequent summer concerts attract crowds that celebrate until the late hours. On the other hand, you are a two-minute walk from the Frontenac and its 24hour service, and the U.S. Consulate is right next door for newspapers from home. The small chateau offers no meal services, although guest kitchenettes are available.

Once settled in your room, you are free to enjoy one of Quebec's most pleasant attractions: strolling through the narrow winding streets, or taking a horse-drawn caleche (Can.$20 for a half-hour ride with guide). From either chateau, turn left and make your way to the Rue St. Louis, and turn left again up that street, where you will find a number of restaurants. Among the best are La Caravelle and Le Continental, both of which are favorite eating spots of the province's Cabinet ministers.

After the restaurants, you arrive at the gate through which you em-erge into the Grande Allee. To your right there is the Assemblee Nationale, home of the province's deputies. To your left are the ultramodern buildings that house the premier's offices. The wind sock on top of these buildings serves a tiny heliport that is rarely used. There are free guided tours of the Assemblee several times a day in Upon leaving, turn left again until you arrive at another gate, this one leading to the Rue St. Jean. This is a busier street than the Rue St. Louis, with shops, two movie theaters and many popularly priced restaurants.

If you have a car, ask for directions to Theile d'Orleans, a small island that once served as the exclusive home of the city's more affluent merchants. It is a spot of rolling countryside and small auberges where in most places you can see the river on both sides. There are also farms where you can pick strawberries.

Also, if you have a car, try to visit the Mont Ste. Anne. A popular ski resort in winter, it is opening to an increasing number of summer visitors who camp or make day trips to look at the Montmorency Palls and the shrine at nearby Ste. Anne de Beaupre. Finally, some tips about visiting staying longer, then by all means be prepared to drive to sights outside the old city.

If you are going for a week-

often offer poor rates.

· Service is almost never included in the bill at restaurants or hotels. The rule of thumb is a dollar a day per person left in the ho-tel room for the maid, and 15 percent to taxis and restaurants. Nevertheless, beware of the few restanrants that have adopted the European custom of adding 15

 Most establishments accept stercard credit cards. The big hotels also accept European currencies, but it is best to buy Canadian dollars before leaving Europe. If you plan to carry U.S. dollars, you will get the best rate of exchange at the banks. Shopkeepers percent to the check suites for Can.$40-$48 a night and about half that without the view. through the old city, which can be awkward for parking. If you are the American Express, Visa and

MARCH, 1982

Herald Tribune

Tourism in Canada

Toronto Area Offers a Variety of Attractions — Exchange Rate Favors Visitors

By George Brett

TORONTO — There is a compelling reason for visiting Toronto and Canada in the near future, quite apart from the usual at-

Toronto is by no means a chear place to visit, but right now it is comparatively inexpensive because of the low value of the Canadian dollar, which is hovering not far above a 50-year low against the U.S. dollar (one Canadian dollar equals about 82 U.S. cents).

To get the best rate, you are advised to exchange your money at banks, which are open only from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Monday to Thursday and to 5 p.m. on Friday. You can use U.S. dollars at restaurants, taverns, theaters, hotels or anywhere else, but rarely will the exchange rate be as high as at the Metropolitan Toronto (which natives call Metro), on the north shore of Lake Ontario, is Canada's largest metropolitan area, with about 2.8 million people living in two cities (Toronto and North York) and four boroughs (Etobi-coke, York, East York and Scarborough).

Americans like the clean and safe character of Toronto, and that attraction is evident each summer in the proliferation of orange li cense plates from New York and black ones from Michigan, which on downtown streets at least threaten to outnumber the white license plates from Ontario.

A survey of more than 6,000 visitors by the Tourist and Convention Burean of Metropolitan Toronto last summer showed that 47.7 percent of visitors were Americans, 32.2 percent Canadians and 20.1 percent from elsewhere (Britain predominated with 10.4 percent. West Germany had 1.9 pereent and other countries comprised 7.8 percent).

The following are among the attractions:

• The CN Tower: The Canadian National Railway Tower is, at 1,815 feet, the world's tallest freestanding structure. Although its height provides unparalleled reception for broadcasting companies, it also has proved to be unparalleled as a tourist magnet.

Not only can you see Rochester, N.Y., across Lake Ontario, from the CN Tower's observation plat-form (adults Can. $3.50; senior cinzens and youths 13 to 17, Can.$3; children 5 to 12, Can.$2; younger ones free), but you can dine at Sparkles revolving restaurant and disco (brunch or lunch about Can.$20 for two, dinner about Can.$40. Reservations required at Sparkles: 362-5411.

· Ontario Place: It consists of 96 acres of manmade islands in Lake Ontario given over to picuic grounds, theaters, a playground, lagoons, a marina, food kiosks and movies on a five-story screen. It is open from May 13 to Sept. 12, and costs Can.$4 for adults, Can.$1 for children 12 and under. It is free for the elderly.

 The Toronto Islands: Once a peninsula before being severed from the mainland by a storm in 1858, the islands are composed of 612 acres of parks, lagoons, amusement rides, bicycle paths and a small farm. Nine hundred people also live there. A round-trip ferry ride from central Toronto to the islands costs Can.$1 for adults, 50 cents for senior citizens and 25 cents for children. • Casa Loma: This "medieval" castle (built long after the Middle Ages) has French oak paneling a hall with a 60-foot ceiling, heavy gilt doors, secret passages, two towers, 15 bathrooms and 21 fireplaces. It was built by financier Sir does everyone after 5:30 p.m. Henry Pellat as a showplace for furniture and art he had collected in Europe. Now owned by the City of Toronto, Casa Loma is open to the public seven days a week from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Admission is Can.$2 for adults, Can.$1 for youths and 50 cents for children. Ontario Science Center: It is a fascinating place for children with its emphasis on audience parncipation. Among 450 hands-on exhibits are one that makes your hair stand on end, another that lets you see your body outlined on a screen by its own heat and a third that checks your voice pattern on a screen. The center is open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., seven days a week. For adults it costs Can.$2, students Can.$1 and children 50

Henry Moore Trove

• The Art Gallery of Ontario: It has a large Canadian collection and also houses the world's largest collection of Henry Moore sculptures. It is open from 11:30 a.m. to 5:30, and to 9 p.m. on Wednesdays and Thursdays; it is closed Sun-day. Admission is Can.32 for adults and 75 cents for students; children under 12 enter free (as Thursday.) There are more than 4,000 restaurants in Toronto, and the phone book lists them by national-

Three to Note

Three of the better ones downtown are: Barberian's Steak House, 7

Elm St. (beef, fresh lobster, crab). Dinner for two is about Can.$60, not including wine. · Carman's, 26 Alexander St., is noted for its steak and other beef dishes. Can.$40-$50 for two, with-

· Quenell's, 636 Church St., specializes in seafood, About Can.$40 a couple, not including

If you arrive at Toronto International Airport, you can take a limousine to a downtown hotel for Can.$18.50, a bus for Can.$5.50, a taxi for about Can.$20 or a bus to the subway for Can.$2. Taxis charge Can.$1.10 to begin with, then 20 cents for each eighth of a mile.

Car rentals range from a budget compact car at Can.$185 a week (which includes 1,050 kilometers free) and 15 cents per additional kilometer, to a hixury car for Can.$343 a week (no free kilometers) and 32 cents per kilometer. Canada, by the way, is going metric. Though you pay so much a kilometer to rent a car, you will in-variably get directions in terms of miles. Gasoline is now sold by the liter, and the average price is around 26.5 cents a liter. Metro Toronto has about 20,000 first-class hotel rooms and 13,000 other hotel and motel rooms, but they often are fully booked in sum-mer, so don't come without reservations. The Hotel Association runs a free reservation service at 416-961-2544.

Sheraton, Hilton, Ramada Inn and Holiday Inn are represented in Toronto, and reservations in the local hotels of each chain can be made anywhere.

Sample Prices

The opulent King Edward, from Can.$125 a night (double); the Royal York, flagship of the CP Hotels chain, from Can.$88; the Sheraton Center, from Can.$97; the Windsor Arms, from Can.$60, and the Carlton Inn, from Can. $55.

Closer to the airport, there's the Avion Motor Hotel, at Can.$39 for a double, the Ramada Inn for Can.$70 and the Valhalia Inn for Can.$69.50. For more information, write to

10.07

2.1

Ar

pe ni

إروك

ر .. ن ا i hat

15. ...

194 L

VE 65

D.T.

JII C

u Kap

331 ...

Cerr.

to 114

יין נייייין. ווייייין

the Convention and Tourist Bureau of Metropolitan Toronto, Eaton Center, 220 Yonge St., Toron-to, Ontario, Canada M5B 2H1. Or Phone 416-979-3133.

The North Frontier Spirit Still Pervades a Vast, Sparsely Populated Land val. but the events in each town are

By Paul Koring

THE SUN, huge, red and low in the northern sky, dips, touches the horizon and then slowly rises. It never gets dark.

High on the dome-shaped mountain overlooking the old Klondike gold rush capital of Dawson City in Canada's Yukon Territory, a boisterous crowd gathers every June 21. Celebrating the midnight sun on summer sol stice has become something of a rite of passage for northerners and visitors alike.

It is part of the romance still haunting the vast, varied and sparsely populated Canadian north.

Summertime is a heady blend of activity. Man and nature race through the brief May-to-September period before another long, dark winter arrives. Almost overnight the tundra blooms in a blaze wildflowers, and red fireweed flanks snow-topped mountains. Caribon herds, about 100,000 strong, meander north to their mating grounds. Ice flushes from the rivers, and salmon start their long upstream spawning run.

Despite the development rush, the north remains a land of vast spaces, silence, unnamed lakes and places where even an unambitious hiker can find a spot, confident that few, if any, have preceded

More than five times the size of France, yet home to fewer than 70,000 people, the Yukon and Northwest territories are a wilderness paradise. Superlatives abound: Canada's highest mountains, biggest icefields, longest riv-ers and — northerners would argue - most fun.

Much of that fun is typical frontier-style tomfoolery: a full-scale funeral after the demise of a popular hard-drinking parrot, a cocktail garnished with a wizzened old toe reputedly amoutated by a frostbitten prospector.

Northerners, roughly one-third North American Indian, one-third Inuit or Eskimo, and one third Caucasian, share a strong pride in their rich and sometimes hostile land. Squabbles over native land claims, the quasi-colonial status the Canadian government imposes on the territories, and a battle between developers and environmentalists make the north hardly idyllic. But there is an intangible spell that keeps bringing back visitors (and those residents who vow annually in midwinter to leave).

Tourism is the north's second-largest industry, behind only mining, and more than 350,000 visitors arrive annually. Trophy hunters, fishermen, his tory buffs and the just plain curious flock north every summer. There are even ski-plane flights from the remote outpost of Resolute Bay to the Arctic Ocean pack ice for those with an insatiable desire to stand, albeit for only a few minutes, at the North Pole. A hardy few even head north in the bitter winters when temperatures can plunge to minus 40. Northerners claim to suffer from cabin fever — a kind of seasonal madness brought on by too much time indoors. There is only one certain cure - a winter festi-

The names vary, Sourdough

Rendez-Vous, Raven Daze, the Ice Worm Squirm and Caribou Carni-

much the same. Snowshoe races, dogsledding, dances and silly sports like snowshoe baseball combined with far too much drink, turn-of-the-century costumes and community breakfasts, manage to dispell cabin fever and drive absenteeism to record levels. Charter Flights

These affairs, some of them a week long, have become so popular that airlines have no trouble filling charter flights to take "outsiders" north for the party.

Still, most tourists prefer sum-mer visits. There are a number of package tours, ranging from single-day excursions to monthlong canoeing and mountain-climbing expeditions.

From Montreal Nordair flies overnight excursions to Frobisher Bay on Baffin Island in the Arctic, offering tourists a quick look at the north, and a chance to buy Innit soanstone carvings under the glare of the midnight sun.

Visitors with more time can get a better feel for the north by driving. The most popular route is the Alaska Highway, running 2,500 ki-lometers from Edmonton, Alberta, to Fairbanks, Alaska. Originally a military track punched through the wilderness in 1942 to counter threats of a Japanese invasion of Alaska, the highway has since received a major upgrading.

Still, much of it is graveled, and many of the thousands of campers who drive it each summer proclaim the feat with a bumper sticker that reads: "We drove the Alaska bighway, yes dammit, both ways."

Motorists with an even greater lust for adventure and a good set of spare tires can tackle the newest Named for a Royal Canadian Mounted Police corporal who led the search for the ill-fated lost patrol, the Dempster Highway travcrscs a country rich in wildlife. Grizzly bear, moose, caribou and a host of smaller animals abound but there is only one service sta-loop starting from Vancouver, British Columbia.

Following a two- or three-day ferry cruise north along the Canadian West Coast, travelers board the narrow-gauge White Pass and Yukon Railway for a daylong ride across the coastal mountain range to the Yukon capital of Whi-tehorse. Much the same route was used by 40,000 stampeders following the discovery of gold in the Klondike in 1898.

to Dawson City, where visitors can wander the crumbling boardwalks among crazily tilted buildings, or pan for gold in one of the public claims along the Klondike creeks.

The next stop is Inuvik, and some tours offer a side trip to Tuktoyaktuk on the Arctic Coast. That tiny village, called Tuk for short, is bearing the brunt of major oil and gas exploration in the Beaufort Sea. Only a decade ago, it was a largely untouched Inuit communi-ty. Now hunting and fishing have all but disappeared, and huge drilling ships have transformed the village into a noisy operations base.

ver at the Northwest Territories capital of Yellowknife on the shore of Great Slave Lake, followed by a flight back to southern Canada.

Accommodations in the north are comfortable, but not luxurious. In the larger centers, there is a vanety of botels and some surprisingly good restaurants. Otherwise, scattered lodges offer hearty but

Prices are steep. Except for campers, travel in the north is often prohibitively expensive except on package tours, which make their own transportation arrange ments. The high cost of northern living spills over into the tourism business. As a general rule, costs for everything from gasoline to souvenirs match or exceed those in large North American cities.

Getting There Cheapest Distance Between 2 Points May Not Be a Straight Line

By Veronika Hass

FOR travelers to Canada, the Cheapest way between two points is not always a straight line.

The trip from Paris to Montreal, for example, may be far more economic via Brussels and New York than by a direct route. This kind of detour can be of interest especially to travelers who cannot book a ticket at a reduced rate because they do not know far ahead of time when they want to go.

The lowest rates for flights over the Atlantic have just fallen victim to the closing of Laker, but there are other low rates. Instead of taking the Skytrain from London, a tourist may go from Brussels or Luxembourg, Capitol Airlines goes from Brussels to New York and back for $364 during the cheapest period, from April 1 to June 20 (during the most expensive time, from June 21 to Sept. 15, the ticket costs about $100 more). Metro International costs between $407 and $457 ($322 as a promotional offer until March 25) for the same trip. From Luxembourg, there is Icelandair going to New York for $362 to $494 (round trip), again depending on the time of

Once in the United States, the traveler has a choice between a number of airlines offering a "Visit U.S.A." rate, about onethird lower than the normal fare. The flight to Montreal costs about $61 (with Eastern Airlines), that to Toronto about $71 (with American Airlines). Anyone who has had enough flying could take a bus Greybound, for example, the trip to Montreal costs about $41. More Energy Traveling this way certainly takes quite a bit more energy. and it really pays only for those who cannot settle for a date weeks ahead of time and would therefore normally have to go in the regular business class. Those who do know when they want to leave can take their pick from a large number of charter flights or book a ticket at a reduced tourist rate with one of the large air-

Charter flights from Europe mainly go to the eastern coast of Canada. From Paris, the rates offered by travel agencies average about $460 for a round trip to Montreal - most of these flights go either there or to Toronto.

Apart from those, Quebec is on the overseas schedule of Canada's largest charter airline, War-

dair, which now flies from a number of British airports but there are flights at charter rates fax, Winnipeg, Edmonton, Calgary and Vancouver, in addition to those to Montreal and Toron-

> duced tourist rate - either Apex. which has to be booked several weeks in advance, or another lower fare named differently by each company (with Air France, for example, it is Vol Vacances) Whether with Lufthansa from is, the round-trip ticket costs on May I will also begin service from Paris. From Amsterdam, with Canadien National to Hali-The airlines usually offer a re-which is ned to a limited stay. Frankfurt, British Airways from London or Air France from Parabout $460.

A large number of special rates is offered to tourists by Air Canada, the lowest starting at $510 for the flight Paris-Montre-al-Paris. Under certain circumstances — mainly again the time of year — anyone wanting to go to the west of Canada may do well to book a ticket for the eastern coast and then change planes instead of taking the direct route. Details should be checked with the airline, which offers a number of flights from Europe to airports all over Canada. At the normal rate in the business class, the flight from Paris with Air Canada to Montreal costs the same as with Air France: about $1,113. A business traveler from Frankfurt will be charged $1,226 by Lufthansa, and from London with British Airways about $16 more. Travelers from Asia can go more cheaply to the west than to the east of Canada Japan Air Lines charges about $3,560 for the trip from Hong Kong to Montreal and back in the business class. A round-trip ticket to Vancouver costs $2,540. At the reduced rate, these flights may be booked for $2,372 and $3,293. respectively, the rates varying with the season. From Singapore, there are no tourist rates. A round-trip ticket costs the same er date fly home for half the for everybody, about $2,978 to price of a normal ticket.

Montreal and $2,224 to Vancouver. Passengers from Tokyo pay for a ticket to Vancouver between $1,610 in the business class and $1,200 at a special economy rate. Anyone with time on his hands can take a leisurely trip by boat. Apart from a number of cruises touching on Canada, there are freighters that offer cubins to passengers from Europe on this route. The Stefan Batory of the Polish Ocean Line, for example, takes about 11 days for the voyage and charges $1,600 for the round trip from London or Rotterdam to Montreal. $1,080 for the one-way ticket Cargo boats of the French Compagnie Generale Maritime take along passengers from Le Havre to Halifax. The six-day trip costs about $578 each way.

Passengers wanting the best of both traveling worlds can com-bine the plane flight and the cruise: Travelers booking one of the Canada voyages on the Queen Elizabeth II from New York to Montreal at certain dates get a free return flight from Europe. The boat trip takes about 10 days and costs from $1,390. The tourist not wanting to return right away can at a lat-

The next leg, by plane or bus, is

The route south offers a stopo-simple meals and plain rooms.

All Aboard!

New York-to-Toronto Train Journeys Briefly Into Past

By Andrew H. Malcolm

TORONTO — It begins with the words of that nasal-voiced announcer who has somehow worked in every railroad station since the begining of time: "Am-trak train to POE-kip-see, ALL-bah-knee, Skuh-NECK-tah-dee, YOU-ti-cah, SEAR-rah-cuse, RAAH-chester, BUFF-ah-low, NIGH-ag-rah Falls and TOE-rontoe now boarding on Track 18."
And it ends 12 hours later on a blustery cement platform in Canada where every day about 150 international travelers step down from the Maple Leaf, one of the newest old-fashioned rides in North America - the day train between New York and Toronto.

Launched last spring the trains (one each way each day) are among the few rail services being added on this continent. Amtrak provides the equipment, and Via Rail, its Canadian equivalent, pro-vides crews on the Canadian por-

Between New York's Grand Central Terminal and Toronto's Union Station, the passenger is of-fered a relaxing journey through some of the prettiest scenery in eastern North America. The refurbished cars have carpets, reclining chairs and clean windows, which provide brief peeks into the changing seasons, the backwoods, and the residential and industrial backyards of another era. If a train traveler brings with him a pile of reading material, a few dollars for some surprisingly fresh fast foods and a suspended impatience with the institutionalized rudeness of bored customs officials, he can pass a pleasant day.

EZ-P

Old and New

Toronto has always had a strong attraction for Americans, and in recent years they have traveled there to marvel at the gleaming, clean safety of a North American city that balances the charm of the old with the efficiency of the new in a community of nearly 3 mil-

Planes are scheduled to make the trip in an hour and 20 minutes (airport to airport) and cost $106.05 one way (Air Canada). Express bases take 11 hours and cost $71.75. The train takes nearly 12 hours and costs $68 ($102 round trip; children ages 2 to 11 half

At 10 came Beacon and then Poughkeepsie, Briarcliff, Hudson.

The soft mumblings of conversafare). For $5 more a Montreal leg can be added. Reservations cannot be made for the trains, so early arrival at the station is urged, especially on summer weekends. They leave New York at 8:45 a.m. (Their southbound counterparts depart from Toronto 20 minutes later.) Information is available at 212/736-4545 or 800/523-5700.

As f walked down the ramp at Grand Central Terminal, four shimy steel cars sat steaming for the journey ahead. There was a baggage car, a nonsmoking car, a the station for Albany, for a 24smoker and a diner, now called a food service car.

Above the seats is a spacious overhead luggage rack. The drinking fountains still have those funny paper cups made for elves, but at least the cup dispensers are full. The bathrooms are, well, bathrooms, but they are well-main-tained with paper towel and soap supplies. And the dining car was equipped with a special washroom for wheelchairs.

Scenic Side

All this was checked as f made my way to a window seat on the northbound left (west) side, the most scenic. Precisely at 8:45 a.m., a gentle nudge signaled the start of our journey into the dark depths of the tunnels under Park Avenue. Seven minutes later, we emerged into bright sunlight.

From the right-hand side, more often than not, the countryside looks like a bunch of bushes or road banks. But from the left the view stretches into the distant hill across the Hudson River. At 9:29 we paused for our first scheduled stop, two minutes to collect eight people at Croton-on-Hudson.

tion grew somewhat as the nonsmoking car slowly filled. The passengers included college stu-dents heading home for a weekend, some young women with children, a few young men who seemed to sleep mostly and some middle-aged women alone and in groups, including a pair who boarded in Syracuse and read aloud every sign.

Variety of Food

By 11:21 we were in Rensselaer, minute stop and cleaning. Soon after, people began slowly gathering for lunch in the food service car, which might better be called the cafeteria car. There are tables but no table service. Patrons line up at a counter to order a surprising va-nety of dishes.

There were soft drinks, coffee, beer and wine, yogurt, bacon and eggs, cereal and milk, pancakes and sansage, barbecue chicken, beef and macaroni, hot dogs and turkey, corned beef, hamburger and ham and cheese sandwiches. There is also what is called a Trackpac, a basket of fruit, raisins, cheeses and wafers, for $1.75. For junk food addicts there are popcom and an array of bagged con-fections and candies plus aspirin and Alka Seltzer.

The crew was universally friendly, with Jose Campoverde, one food service attendant, patiently waiting on an indecisive elderly woman who eventually wandered away without ordering anything. "You come back again later, Ma'am, OK?" He also revealed how such a tiny counter could serve such a large selection. "To-day," he confided, "everything is

By mid-afternoon there were bright yellow school buses at some track crossings, their flashing lights responding in kind to the electric crossing guards. The little train rattled through community after community at a brisk pace, its loud horn announcing each crossing. It passed behind abanpiers, past fading red barns, along-side bulging scrap metal yards and by overgrown sidings.

There were many glimpses of life: a dog barking at this metal intruder in its backyard, a young couple strolling a leaf-strewn side-walk toward a wraparound porch, a cat peering from beneath an overturned canoe, an aproped woman on a back stoop reaching for the door, a parka-clad tyke on a swing a bird sipping from a pud-dle in a drained swimming pool and the light of a television screen eeping from a darkened window.

By late afternoon inside the train the crew was closing its food service in preparation for the two station stops in Buffalo and, shortly after, the border crossing at Ni-agara Falls. The train crosses the gorge just below the famous falls with its billowing mists visible on the left and, on the right, the deep green stream swirling its way toward Lake Ontario, the St. Lawrence River and the Atlantic.

Customs and immigration agents, the first contact many have with a new country, live in an in-terrogatory world that has bitle time or value for the simpler formats in life like "Hello" or "How are you today?" The blue-coated officials demanded: "Citizenship? Where are you going? For what doned factories, their broken win-dows staring blankly, near rotting What's in there? Let me see it." At peak summer times, officials have held up the train for two hours or

That day we were under way in 35 minutes, clicking across Ontar-io's wine country while the whistle moaned with increasing frequency as the train entered Canada's most densely populated urban corridor. There was the dirty mass of Hamilton, Canada's Pittsburgh, and then the curve around the lakeshore for the final gallop into Toronto after a journey of 575 miles in 715 min-

Gazing blankly out the window. one traveler was startled to see a familiar sight from the past. Emerging from the early evening darkness near Toronto was the old farmhouse where three decades ago two grandparents had lived. Every summer night before bed-time they would walk a little boy to the train station for some butterscotch ice cream and the exciting sight of the early-evening trains rumbling past with all their noise and power and wind and immensisecond-story window, before drift-ing off to sleep, the little boy would feel in the walls the rumble of other trains passing by with their unseen cargo of people and goods. He had always wondered growing flatlands of 1867.

Later at night behind that same where they were going.

Saskatchewan. __VIC PARSONS · Newfoundland is the most var-

Atlantic Provinces

By Lyndon Watkins

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia — Canada's four Atlantic provinces — Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland — offer a gentle, easy introduction to North America. They are sufficiently European to be safely reassuring and suffi-ciently different to be stimulating. They are also close — six hours by direct jet flights from London or Amsterdam, for example.

Their charm is in their diversity. While they have a similar mix of the original Indian inhabitants, the descendants of British, French, Dutch and German settlers, and a cosmopolitan array of more recent immigrants, each has evolved dif-ferently.

New Brunswick has the largest proportion of French-speaking Acadians. They make up almost half the population, and the province is now officially bilingual. The landscape is on the grand scale, with forests, rivers and valleys in bold, primary colors.

Nova Scotia, as its name suggests, is still proudly Scottish. "Mac" or "Mc" is a prefix to half the names in the telephone book; this is particularly true of Cape Breton, the island and highland area of Nova Scotia where to be bilingual means to speak English and Gaelic.

Clan Gathering

Every five years, Nova Scotia plays host to Scottish people from around the world in a summer festival comprising the International Gathering of the Clans. Elizabeth, the queen mother, attended the founding festival three years ago.

Although small, Prince Edward Island is a visual delight, with white and red wooden farmhouses set in green meadows and red soil. ft is Anne of Green Gables country, and it is as bright and charming as the story by Lucy Mand Montgomery of the orphan schoolgirl growing up there at the turn of the century. The hit musical adapt-ed from the novel has played everywhere from London to Tokyo and is a regular offering — this year from June 18 to Sept. 4 — at the summer season of musical theater presented at the Charlottetown Confederation Center of the Arts. The center was established to commemorate the 1864 meeting of colonial premiers that eventually led to Canadian independence in ied and, in many ways, the least in the newest of the province's national parks, Gros Morne. The park is nearly 2,000 square kilome-ters of breathtaking grandeur— waterfalls, misty fiords and icedifferent from any other part of North America, Atlantic Canada, area of continual settlement in the continent north of the Gulf of Mexico, is very much like Europe in having distinctively identifiable scoured rock.

perhaps because it is the oldest regional accents. And nowhere is this more true than in Newfoundland. The Irish of the St. John's area lends a rich, lyrical quality to the speech pattern. The outports of the long inaccessible south coast have the soft, slower imprint of peoples who settled there as fishermen from the West Country of Britain three or four centuries ago.

Newfoundland's landscape is at times barren and demanding, but like most parts of Atlantic Canada it is a paradise for the nature lover.

close to surviving miracles such as baleen whales, which assemble in scores in the fiords and bays of the province to display themselves to the tourists, or to the puffins, petrels, auks and guillemots that gather in profusion only an hour's drive from the provincial capital, better than anywhere else in the world" for viewing whales, accord-ing to zoologist Peter Beamish. The enormous, toothless mammals arch gracefully in the water, seemingly careful not to upset the boats

Whale watching is both a fascinating experience and a business.

Ocean Contact Ltd. offers a week-long package of scientist-guided boat excursions, plus hotel accom-modations and transportation to and from St. John's airport, for about $850 per person. Informa-tion can be obtained by writing PO Box 10, Trinity Bay, Nfld., AOC

Newfoundland is also the home of the caribou, which can be seen

of people observing them.

Trinity Bay is "at least 10 times

St. John's.

Where else can one come so

If observing nature is not enough, visitors can hunt and fish in some provinces, but licenses are required and the penalties for ille-gal activity are strict. Information can be obtained from the departments of tourism in each of the provincial capitals: Halifax, St. John's, Fredericton and Charlotte-

Tuna Fishing

If the salmon and trout streams of the region do not offer a suffi-cient challenge, go for the ultimate in angling; tuna. Fish of 1,100 pounds or more are landed during most summers. Some fishing is available from ports in all four provinces, but the action varies from year to year.

Hotels in the region range in price from Can. $60 for a single accommodation in first-class, big-city hotels, to Can.$20-$25 for motels in out-of-the-way places. Food is both interesting and good throughout most of the region and prices are reasonable. Package bus ours range up to about Can.$650 for 10 days, including accommoda-tions. Cars rent for about Can.$130 a week, plus gasoline, and campers between Can.$200-$300.

One thing most European tra-velers will appreciate is Atlantic Canada's climate. Being at the edge of the continent, the region does not experience the extremes of climate, particularly in summer-time, found elsewhere. New Brunswick tends to be warmest in the summer, but it seldom has the high levels of heat and humidity present further inland. The best time is the

GEORGE BRETT is a free-lance journalist based in Canada. and a former reporter for the Toronto Star.

VERONIKA HASS is a free-lance journalist based in Paris. PAUL KORING, based in New York is on the staff of the Canadian Press and Broadcast News service.

ANDREW H. MALCOLM is a reporter on the staff of The New York Times

VIC PARSONS, based in Toronto, is on the staff of the Canadian Press and Broadcast News service,

LYNDON WATKINS is a free-lance journalist based in Halifax, Nova Scotia. -

The West

ond, less-traveled route that offers visitors just as good a look at the varied nature of the country. ft is called the Yellowhead

Highway, named after Tete Jaune, a half-French, half-froquois trapper whose shock of blond hair left such a vivid impression that a road, a mountain pass and a railway whistle-stop were named after

Depending on how you look at it, the Yellowhead starts or ends at Prince Rupert, a small port town on Canada's northwest coast, only a few kilometers by sea from Alas-ka. Rupert, as the locals call it, has been singled out as a port of increasing importance as Canada seeks to expand its trade ties with the Pacific Rim countries. It is a good place to start a trip along the 2,800-kilometer Yellowhead route.

Getting there is an adventure in itself. You can fly from Van-couver, but a recommended trip is by coastal boat from Vancouver or Vancouver fsland along the fiord-like inside passage where moun-tain walls rise thousands of feet on tain walls rise thousands of feet on each side. Once in Frince Rupert, you have the option of traveling on the highway into the British Col-umbia interior, or connecting with boats to Alaska or across turbulent Hecate Strait to the Queen Char-lotte Islands, home of the artistic Haids Indians and Canada's west-Haida Indians and Canada's westernmost outpost on the Pacific.

Before you leave Rupert, you must see the Pacific Northwest Museum, with its displays on the area's history and on the culture of the local Tsimshian and Haida In-dians, who developed the most complex native society in Canada and are famous for totem poles, carved masks and potlatches.

Salmon was the basic necessity for the fudians of the West Coast, and if you head inland along the Yellowhead, you will travel by the great 'Skeena River, which was a prime source of the fish. In places, where the highway and the railway are jammed together through the Skeena's narrow gorge, you may feel that the river is too close for comfeet, but it is a rewarding trip comfort, but it is a rewarding trip for scenery buffs.

About 150 kilometers east of Rupert is Terrace, a lumber town tinged by mountains. From bere, tinged by mountains. From cere, you can go north by road up the rough Stewart-Cassiar highway to the Yukoo and Alaska, or south about 60 kilometers to Kitimat, the second-largest aluminum smelter in the world, where you can watch the metal being made.

on watch the metal being made. On the way to Kitimat you will pass hot spring baths at Lakelse. Hazelton, the next town of size along the Yellowhead, is the center for several Indian groups who have built a cultural site featuring totam poles and log houses. Indian dances are performed every Friday night during July and August. The center, called Ksan, also offers crafts, including carvings in silver and British Columbia jade.

From there, one goes on past the

Adventure and History Abound on the Rambling Yellowhead Highway spectacular mountain setting of Rocky Mountains and Alberta.

Those wishing to return to Van-But in the Canadian West - the couver can now take the highway 19th-century gold rush. In the wild Fraser River canyon or along the scenic Thompson River, the daring may try a bone-jarring trip on a rubber raft.

Stay with the Yellowhead, however, and east of Prince George you will travel along the upper reaches of the Fraser toward the

L umbia — Most visitors to Smithers and the lake country There are few people in this around Burns Lake, to Prince Trans-Canada Highway, which spans the continent over a distance—bia. Jaune Cache, you pass under the shadow of 3,954-meter Mount Pass; into Alberta and Jasper National Park.

> take you to a peak from which you can see the town and the aquama-rine Athabaska River, flowing northeast toward the Arctic

Time is of the essence when portant to find a hotel that you need it.

you travel on business. So it's im-offers what you need the moment

At the heart of Toronto's business and entertainment scene, the Royal York is that kind of hotel.

Walk to your business appointments, without ever going outside. From the Royal York, you're connected via an underground city to Toronto's major office towers.

After hours, you need never leave the hotel for an exciting night on the town.

Enjoy top-notch dining and entertainment in the Royal York's 13

spot a moose browsing non- and on to Lake Louise and Banff, chalantly by the road. East of Tete - where you again connect with the three prairie provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and the Pacific Coast province of British Columbia — there is a sec conver can now take the mghway south through the cowboy country of the Cariboo, with perhaps a side trip to Barkerville, a reconstructed historic site and center of a mid conver can now take the mghway south through the cowboy country of the Cariboo, with perhaps a side trip to Barkerville, a reconstructed historic site and center of a mid conver can now take the mghway south through the cowboy country of the Cariboo, with perhaps a side trip to Barkerville, a reconstructed historic site and center of a mid-

You'll find the Royal York exceptionally accessible. Either by direct airline bus which leaves our door every 20 minutes or by VIA Rail and subway connected underground. The Royal York. Everything you could ever possibly need at your

For reservations, call the Reserve-A-Room number

CP Hotels [4

Royal York

100 Front Street West

fingertips.

RESERVE • A • ROOM

LINTERNATIONAL RESERVATIONS OR YOUR TRAVEL AGENT

FRANKFURT TEL: 0611

below.

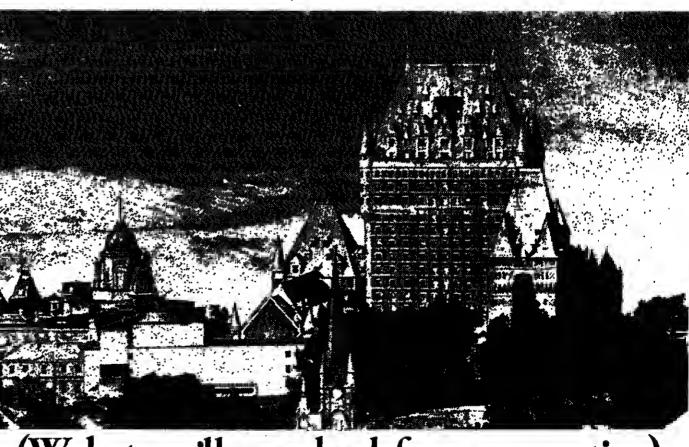

Jasper has a ski tram that will

From Jasper, you can head south along Highway 93, past the Columbia locfield's glaciers, which years. From Edmonton, the Yelstraddle the Continental Divide lowhead goes east into the wheatbut come right down to the road, Trans-Canada Highway. This area is a favorite campground for Cana-

Should you resist the temptation to go south, and continue on the Yellowhead, you will head east across muskeg swamp and poplar forest to the prairies. About half-way to Edmonton, Alberta's capital, you will see the first grain devators, the hallmark of a Canadian prairie town. Closer to Edmonton are the oil derricks that have helped make Alberta Canada's richest province in the last 30

Hold your next convention in Canada.

(We bet you'll come back for your vacation).

Every year, you face the same old problem: "Where do we go for the next convention?"

Try Canada, we've got some great advantages. Coming here is like a breath of fresh air, we're different; hospitable; and because we're eager to please, you'll find our prices are very reasonable.

What's more, we really are geared up to cope with conferences and conventions, with facilities that range from grand old resort hotels to modern

Contact the Commercial Division at offices listed here for details of what we can offer

We hope you decide to come. And when you do, we reckon you'll be so happy with our country, you'll be back for a vacation before long.

GREAT BRITAIN Canadian High Commission, Canada House, Trafalgar Square, London SWIY 5BJ. Tel: 01-629-9492.

FRANCE Canadian Embassy, 37 Avenue Montaigne, 75008 Paris. Tel: 01-723-0101. WEST GERMANY Canadian Embassy, 6 Frankfurt, Biebergasse 6-10, Frankfurt. Tel: 611-28-01-57.

NETHERLANDS Canadian Embassy, Laan Van Meerdervoort 96, The Hague.

Tel: 70-46-44-00. AUSTRALIA Canadian Embassy, 8th Floor-AMP Centre, 50 Bridge Street, Sydney, N.S.W.2000. Tel: 02-231-6522.

MEXICO Canadian Embassy, Calle Schiller 529, Colonia Polanco, Mexico 5, DF. Tel: 905-254-3288.

IAPAN Canadian Embassy, Yamakatsu Pearl Building, 5th Floor, 5-32, Akasaka 8-chome, Minato-ku, Tokyo 107.

Canada. It's a bigger holiday

27% ACCUEIN 1
13/4 BORNET 1
1

1.14

1 pf 1.10 1.20c s 1.92 2.20 2.84 1 .92

PIS.88 1.80 5.5 2.60 pt 3 1.32 PIS.60 1.10 pt 3.10 wt pt 2.18

1.68 2.12 .000 PT2.50 PT2.50 8 .32 4 .44 1.20 PT 3.20 .50 18 3 wt

10% Almor 23% Alap 7% Alap 42 Alap 75 Alap 49% Alap

2772年11981年1

24 | 124 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 125 | 1

RS. 2.00 co 2.210 co

1.40 .40 5 1 5 .04 5 .04

96 1.49 1.48 pf 1.37 2.96 pf 2.33 5 .82 2.12 1.60 2.48

7.3 8 164 7.3 8 164 7.7 10 30 204 7.7 10 30 204 11. 5 177 12. 5 177 13. 5 177 14. 5 177 15. 5 177 16. 5 177 17. 2100 204 16. 205 17. 2100 204 18. 206 19. 206 1

3% 41% 18% 15% 17% 14% 43% 11% 13% 23% 16% 20% 20% 70% 2% 2% 40% 17% 14% 42% 11 613% 24% 15% 24% 15%

| Second | S

NYSE Nationwide Trading Closing Prices March 9 Tables include the nationwide prices up to the closing on Wall Street.

Market Summary Market Diaries AMEX F-366-5-5-5 NYSE Most Actives Cir 4642 4545 4624 1644 164 NYSE Index Close 6271 69.59 53.75 38.47 68.85 CASE +0.46 +0.54 +1.07 +0.08 +0.11 Standard & Poors Index Ctrise +1.49 +1.85 +0.17 -0.01 +0.46 AMEX Most Actives CI-++ --++-+ AMEX Stock Index Ch'00 + 0.74 Odd-Lot Trading in N.Y. 3.191 4.793 5.766 5.446 1,656 Dow Jones Bond Averages Chrew --0.07 --0.01 --0.10 1.22 cm 1.40 c

1966年,1966年

231 ChesPa

232 ChesPa

124 Childhiw

124 Childhim

125 Childhim

126 Childhim

127 Childhim

127 Childhim

128 Ch

15 DeonFigure Decimination of the Control of the Co 等分别,我们的对方是对于17世纪的意思是由自己证明的情况的,我们的是是一个人的是一个人的是一个人的,我们们的对方,我们们的对方,我们们们的一个人的,我们们们的一个人的人们的一个人们的一个人们的一个人们 14M EGG
1914 ESSIS
1114 ESSIS
114 ESSIS
11 531544-17754 We William 178744 We William 187744 We William 18774 We W 2.04 ,24 2.88 2.20b PARTIES

PAR 295 13-44 13-15 13 $\frac{1}{1}$ $\frac{1}$

29% 21% NBD 24% 27% NBB 24% 27% NBB 21% NCK B 25% NBC B 38 1/2 24 1/2 32 1/3 30 1/4 30 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.00 | 12.0 1774 PHIN 12 1774 PARAM 12 1774 PARA

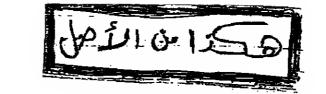

14.5% CALLETT CONTROL OF THE PROPERTY OF THE P 24% - %
23% + %
19% + % 18% - % 12% - % 12% - % 12% + 1% 12% + 1% 12% + 1%
12% + 1%
12% + 1% Sales floures are unafficiel
d.—New yearly low, u.—New Yearly high.
Unless otherwise noted, rates of dividends in the toresolar pale are amount disbursements based on the lost quarterty or ami-annual declaration. Special or extra dividends or anyments not dealonated as regular are identified in the allowing bootharies.

7/4 SCA
14/4 SFM
14/4 #1.0% #12.10 #12.10 #14.10 #1.20 #1. TOTAL STATE OF THE 23/4 45/2 23/4 65/2 24/4 65/4 65/4 65/4 65/4 11/4

Egg. March Basel I Life I I March I Park I I Park I I March Low or had been a compared to the compared to

THE STATE OF THE S

And the second

NYSE Nationwide Trading Closing Prices March 9
Tables include the nationwide prices up to the closing on Wall Street. 12 Month Stock Sis. Cleas Prev High Low Div. In 8 Ytd. P/E 100s, High Low Quot. Close 12 Month Stock Close Prev High Low Div. In $ Yid. P/E 1998. High Low Quet, Close (Continued from Page 10) | W | W | Style | Styl 5744 15 I ymshe 1.10 1.80 1.80 1.92 1.92 .85 2.08 .30 2.54 1.80 672.05 671.40 . 120 . 20 120 150 150 150 140 52 130 63 215 5.42 5.42 5.42 1.36 7.3 5 775 S3 20
2.4 48% 15% 15% 16% 52.4 18% 55% 4 18% 55% 4 18% 55% 1 30% VF Co 15 Votario 17% Votar 1.440 1.28c s .25 pf2.10 1.50 pf8.60 pf9.75 pf2.90 pf7.28 pf7.45 4 4 7 A A A A A A

254 15% Twi 21% 10% Tyc 25% 18% Tyk	INDS 1.1		4 5 47 1114 1		16	1876 874 Vort 2074 1174 Vuic 54 40 Vuic	inc hAA 2	.92 5 .44 6	84 1114 8 29 161/2 1 4 19 4844	11 111 1876 167 60 40	#+ W	211/2 1014 Zeni 30 161/2 Zero 35% 1844 Zurn	the 1	30 2 34 2 20 2	4 15 595 1244 14 9 21 2145 63 5 76 19 6	1214 124 5142 214 118 19	+ 14
Amste	erdan	a	Demag	Close 137.50 213.00	Prev.	Oth	er (Stoc	k Mar	ket	s	Listnor	570	5.80	Fulltsu	Close 667	Prev,
ARN ACF Holding AKZO Albert Helin	Close 280.50 76.00 28.30 71.50	Prev. 281.50 77.50 29.10 71.00 82.50	D.Bobcock Oeutsche Bk Du. Schulte Ormsiner Bk GHH		137.00 273.50 270.60 173.00 150.60 202.50	March 9, 1982 (Closing prices in local currencies)				UTA Valso - Asefi Index : 146 Previous ; 149,10		5.80 154.08 772.08	Hitachi Hondo Motor IHI Itah JapanAirLin Kolima	515 648 156 301 2,370 360 990	257 257 257 257 255 412 443 443 1515
AMEV Amrobunk	$1.50 49.20 3.25	82.50 49.20 3.30	Hoose Lloyd Hochtlet Hoechst	425.00 116.70	饠	Close Prev. Close Prev.				Singa	роге	:	Kansal Pwr. Kao Soop Kaw Sitel	990 536 152 413	535 150
A'Dom Rub Boskolls Bradero Buertwoon T Colond Hide	44.70 132.00 38.20 33.50	44.50 129.00 36.00	Hoetch Holzmann Horten Koll u Salz Korstaat		70.00 477.00 1 17.26 26.40 435.00 113.30 144.00 192.00	BOC Int'l Boots	1.45 2.46 2.74 1.51	0.17 1.67 2.09 2.45	Centrale Credite Ital Fiat Finsider Generali	5390,00 4,370,00 1,840,00 47,00 158,000	5,330.00 4,400.00 1,670.00 42.25 157,401 3,750.00	Bousteod Chid Storage DBS FruserNeove	2.07 3.54 N.T.	212 3.68 7.15 5.50	Kirin Brew Komatsu Kubata Matsu Et Lad	413 442 334 1,050 510 500 268 580 259	444
Elsevier Ennid Fokker	133.50 113.00 311.00	136.50 131.50 131.10	Kouthof KHD Kloeckner	187.50 142.50 184.50	144.00	Boweler BP Brit,Home Si Sturmoh	2.74 1.51 1.10	13	i Fi Itulcomenti Lu Ringsconte	3257.00 27.200	M.Out	Haw Par Bros Inchape Kennel Ship	2.48 1.77 5.10 5.40	270 177 516 540	Mateu či Wks Mitsublahi 8k Mitsubi Chem. Mitsubi Corp.	500 268	500 270
Gist Brecodes Heineken H.V.A.	67.50 53.90	70.40 54.80 47.50	Krupp Linde Luffhansa	57.00 57.00 3)7.00	37.10 312.00		0.98V± 2.20 0.64	228	Mediobanco Montedison Olivetti	74,490L	380.25 74400. 137.00 2915.00	Moley Briking O'seas Ch Bk O'seas Union Semb Shleyd	10.50	10.60 4.98 5.15	Witsop Heavy	259 216 308	259 217
Hoogavens K.L.M. Naurden	14.50 14.00 107.20 28.30	109 90	MAN	180.00	70.90 181.50 141.20 257.00	Cons.Gold Fds Courtoulds Dolosty	3.72 0.82 3.72	3.74 0.84 3.74	Pirelli Snia Viscosa Standa	2,896.00 2,748.00 748.00 2,520.00	2,770,00 760,00 2,495,00	St Steamship St Trading	5.10 4.34 2.10	5.15 4.30 8.30 2.00	Mitsukosti Mitsukosti Mitsurii	392	200 200 200 200 200 200 200 200 200 200
Nat. Nedder Neddloyd Oce Yonder 6	107.90	113.50 94.00	Metaltocoeti, Musach, Ruck Nockermans Preussas	432.00 N.A. 195.50	257.00 430.00 196.50	De Beers Distillers Driefontein	175	234 1.73 14%	BCI Index : M Previous : 204	A.		Unid O'seas Bk	1.98	2.00 2.98 4.02	Nikko Sec Nippon Elec. Nippon Steel	320 373 757 156 263 735	157
OGEM Paktoed Philips	92.80 8.90 39.80 23.20	0.90 40.40 23.10 214.00	Ruesgerauk RWE.new Scherles	164.70	334.00 165.20	Duniop Fisons Free St Ged	0.70 2.86 1914 8.16	0.71 2.88 1994	P	aris		Previous : 1,237.1	z :3,797.2 Z	7	Nippon Yusen Nisson Motor Nomuro Olympus	735 455 919	751 470 895
Robeco Rodomco Rollinco	207.50 121.60 190.50 144.30	214.00 151.40 193.50 144.40	Siemens Thysaeti Vorto	224.20 17.30	270.50 224.50 88.70 185.00 128.50	GEC GKN Glaxa	1,54	1.27 1.59 5.04	Air Liquide Aisitem Atl. Av.Dessault	448.00 161.00 508.00	458,68 169,00 500,00	Syd	ney		Ricoh Sharp Sony Corp	600 737 3,090	575 750 3,230
Revente Revol Dutch RSV	73.50 24.50	76.20 26.50	Veba VEW Volkswopen	127.00 120.00 148.50	128.50 117.00 149.70	Grd Met Hot Guinness GUS	2.07 0.78	2.03 0.79 4.9]	Boncotre (C.) Bic Bouygues	200.00 399.00 705.00	209.80 417.00	ACI Aret Neti Ind	1.51 N.A. 3.58	1.51	SumitBank Sumit Chem. Sumit Metal	500 157 185	500 160 183
Unitever Von Ommer UMF-Stork	156.60 26.40 37.50	24.50 37.00	Commerzbank Previous : 716.5	Index: 743	7.50	Honson Trust Howker-Sidd	3.74	3.46 3.46 0.49	BSN-GD Correlour	1,297.00 1,530.00 258.00	752.00 1,335.00 1,529.00 254.20	ANZ 8k Bk 5th Woles Blue Metal	1.25	3.74 2.59	Toisel Toishe Mar Takeda	288 246 930	282 247
VNU Asp Cha Index Previous : 86.10	47.00 : 85.20	49,80	Hong	Kon	g	ICL Imps Lloyds	0.86Vz	0,86V± 4,90	Club Mediter CIC Coffmed	533.00 206.00 116.00	545.00 205.00 117.00	Borel Bougainvõis Brambies	2.30 1.10 1.50	235 113 1,95	Tellin Takvo El Per Tokyo Marine	212 944 458	214 945
	ssels		Cheung Kong China Light Cross Harbor Hong Sens Bik	14.50 11.60 10.50 111.00	14.40 11.80 N.Q. 109.00	Lonrino Lucos Morks-Speng Metal Box Midland Bk	210 1/1 1/3 3/4	9.76 2.12 1.43 1.80 3.48 4.70	Credit Nord Creusot Laire Dunter Eaux (C Gie)	104.30 77.50 1,025.00 301.80 503.00	103.30 774.60 1,100.00 310.00	Broken Hill P Coles CSR Compleo CRA	7.44 2.05 2.85 1.51 2.60	7.42 2.05 3.04 1.51 2.63	Toray Tashiba Tayo Kosya Toyota Yamaichi	267 236 371 922	282 267 925 214 945 467 384 335 365 940
Anto-Gevoert Arbed	1.700 1.450 1.900	1,700 1,565 1,800	HK Electric HK Hotels HK Land HK Shanahai	4.725 36.25 4.55 14.00	35.00 4.50 14.00	Noti West Bk Pikington Pleasey	2.65 3.65	273 373	Elf-Aquitoine Europe 1 Hachette	133.50 577.00 379.00	476.10 136.90 500.00 400.00	Elder Smith EZ Ind. Homerlsey	120 125 N.A.	329	New Index : 538. Previous : 541.3 Hildsyl-D.J Index	4
Bekneft Cockerill EBES	178 1,880 2,245	179 1,850 2,225	HK Tel HK Whorf Hutch Wome	24,70 4,10 73,80	24.40 4.075	Randfontein Rank Org. Reed	1.92 2.64 25.63	1.93 2.72	Imetal Laforge Cop Legrand	77.50 261.80 1.525.00	248.50 1,540.08 31.70	Magellon Min Higds	1.14 1.45 2.40 1.25 1.18	1.12 1.95 2.62	Previous :7,348.	A .	i
GB-(nno-BM GBL (Blomb) Hoboken Kredietbonk	1.520 3.110 4.615	1,800 2,310 4,660	Jordine Math Jordine Sec New World	14.40 11.70 3.50	14.40 11.90 2.70	Royal Dutch RTZ Shell Stand Charter	4.15 2.40 6.67	16.28 4.24 3.42 6.77	Mochines Bull Motro Michelle	718,00	740.00 52.20	Atyer Enter Ookbridge Pko Waltsd Poseldon	1.18 4.80 1.25	7.35 1.25 4.90	Zu	rich
Petrofina Soc. Generale Sofina	4,370 1,456 2,285	1,450	Show Brus SHK Property Sime Dorby	19.00	250	Tote & Lyle Tesco Stores Th, Tilling	2.80 0.57V2	2.82 0.57	MM Pennor Most Herri Moulinex	51.00 60.90	624.00	Renison Gold Robe River Sorios	2.55 0.90 4.00	2.42 0.90 4.20	Alusukise Bk Lau	495 3,675	,520 3,800
Solvay Traction Elec Un. Miniere	2,125 2,545 778	2.075 2.615 772	Swire Pacific Swire Proty	N.Q. 2.80 9.00 5.55	N.Q. 8.85 5.50 N.A.	Thorn (A) Tradalgor H TrustHousesF	1.54 4.25 1.21	125	Nord-Est Occidentale Oreal IL'1 Paris P.Bas	386.00 BZ9.00	46,80 390,00 842,00 306,50	Steigh Southland Woodside Peti	0.68 0.26 0.73	0.68 0.27 0.75	Br Boveri Buehrie Ciba Gelgy	980 1,115 1,250	980 1,185 1,265
V. Montopne Bosese Index I	1,700 185.85	1,690	Wheel Mor Wheelock Witsor	N.Q. 505 2.85 2.30	5.00	Tube Invest. Ultrumor Unliever	124	1.26	Pernod Ric Petroles (Fae)	307.90 306.00 122.50	313.00 125.00	Wormaid All ordinaries in	2.40 dex : 463.	2.48	Cr Suisse Elektrowatt Fisher	1,870 2,190 475 5,800	1,810 2,205 480
Previous ! 157.			World Inti Hang Sang Inde Previous: 1,125.	x: 1.129.03	22/5	Unit Blacults Vickers War Loon 3/2	1,29 1,64 2974	1,30 1,66	Propert Poticin Printemps	179,00 178,50 151,50	181.00 184.50 154.00	Previous :467.30			Hott-Ruche & Interfeed Jelmoil	5,800 5,225 1,210	5.950 5.275 1.230
K. I WHILE OU F			_		W. Deep W. Holding	51844 52994 0.531/2	1,46 30,00 2014 32,00	PUK Radiotecha. Redoute	127.00 77.00 875.90	154,00 125,90 78,50 894,00 122,40	Tol	cyo		Londis Gyr Nestle Sandoz	2.090	1,030 3,150 4,150
AEG Allionz Vers. BASF	457.00 132.00	45.99 455.80 132.30	LOD	idon	614	Woolworth ZCI F.T. $4 Index : 5	0.17	0.54 0.17	Rh Poulenc Roussel Uckel Sacilor	6,00	4.00 176.30	Asohi Chem. Asohi Gloss	257 261 540 294 415	243 537	SBS Schindler Suizer	4,150 304 1,430 1,725	3,800 990 1,185 1,265 1,265 2,205 5,275 1,030 3,150 4,150 1,750 1,
Boyer Hypo Boyer Verein	117.60 195.50 282.70 218.00	118.50 196.50 281.80	Allied Brew AngleAm Gid Bobcock-Wil	0.69	0.52 0.57	Provious : 5641	e Ian		St Gobain PM Skis Rousiana Sour Perrier	1 520.00 163.00	176.30 525.00 169.50 428.20 955.00	Bk Tokyo Bridgestone Conon	294 415 800 657	294 417 810	Swissolr UBS Winterthur	3,048 2,440	1050 2,475
Commerzbak Cont. Gummi Dolmler	147.50	218.00 142.70 51.50 297.00	Borckeys 8k Bona BAT Ind.	0.96 5.80 2.18 4.20 2.25	2.70	Вса Солипегс	36.895.	36,890. 239.00	Suez (Fin) Telemecon ThornsonBr	- 920,00 313,50 205,00	955,00 310,00 210,00	Dgi Nip, Print Dalwa Full Bank	380 470 1,270	816 664 388 479 1,290	Zurich Ins. SBC Index : 276 Previous : 278.3	14,986 5,78	15,050
Descree	295.30 244.20	250.50	Beechom Gp	235	4.35 2.43	Bustoyl	217.00	239.00	Thomson CSF	20.00	21000	Full Photo	1,270	1,670	F1041W03 :276

Quotations in Canadia All quotes cents unless		Toronto Stocks
	### Law Close Cares #### Law Close Cares ##### 1872 1874 + 14 $2074 2814 2814 + 14 $2074 2814 2814 - 14 $2074 2814 2814 - 14 $2074 2814 2814 - 14 $2074 2814 2814 - 14 $20	3600 Doman I 2600 Doman I 2600 Doman I 25 Dom Stare 25 Dom Stare 25 Dom Stare 260 FCA Inth 1439 C Fotcon C 550 FDay Nik 691 G Fotcon C 692 Fotcon C 693 G Distrib w 6519 G Distrib w 6519 G Distrib w 6519 G Postini 6710 Granduc 270 GL Forest 6710 Granduc 270 GL Forest 6710 Fotcon 671	Closing Prices, High Low Class Chies 415 410 410 5 $157h 157h 240 3144 $157h 240 3144 $157h 27h 27h 46 $17h 27h 27h 46 $17h 17h 11 - 46 $17h 17h 11 - 46 $17h 17h 12h 12h 46 $174 12h 12h 11h 46 $177 12h 12h 11h 46 $177 12h 12h 11h 46 $17h 12h 11h 11h 46 $17h 12h 12h 12h 12h 46 $17h 12h 12h 12h 12h 12h 12h 12h 12h 12h 12	March 8, 1982 S279 Norenda SJIRA Norce Ar A SJIRA Norce Ar A JIRA Norce Ar A JIRA Norce W 2010 Nu-Mat A JIRA Norce W 2010 Nu-Mat A JIRA Norce W 2010 Nu-Mat A JIRA Nu-Ma	High Law Close Cive $17% 17% 17% 17% $22% 22% 22% 56% $64 65% 17% $15% 65% 17% $15% 13% 13% 13% $15% 13% 13% 13% $15% 13% 13% 13% $15% 13% 13% 13% $15% 15% 13% 13% $25% 66 66 67 49 $25% 76 76 76 76 $25% 76 76 76 76 $25% 76 76 76 76 $25% 76 76 76 76 $25% 76 76 76 76 $25% 76 76 76 76 $25% 56 76 76 $25% 56 76 76 $25% 57
100 Con Distrib 500 Con Fordy 5125 CTL Bank 2700 Conventrs 6070 Cosetto R 12418 Conron A 2209 Craismi 42070 Cose 1287 Doon Dev 12952 Denison 5000 Dickasan A 14600 Dickasan B	100 107 107 107 107 107 107 107 107 107	1904 LOrd Cam 19100 Liccono 1910 Liccono 1907 Liccono 1907 Liccono 1907 Ala CC 19250 Ancion H X 1907 Est Atlirite 19127 Mertond E 47 Maisson A 1900 Maurphy 1 Npt Trust	253 454 254 254 255 255 255 255 255 255 255	3600 Tolcore A 300 Tolcore A 300 Toro 3004 Teck Cor A 3204 Teck Cor B 320 Teck Cor B 320 Teledvire 16510 Tex Con 4550 Thorn N A 18219 Tor Don 8k 300 Trustor B 200 Trustor B 11200 Trus Al	175 175 178 178 178 178 178 179 178 179 179 179 179 179 179 179 179 179 179
	Gold Markets	Eurocurrency Interest Rates

Gold Options (prices in $/02.) Nov. Valeurs White Weld S.A.

1, Qual du Mont-Blanc (21) Geneva 1, Switzerland Tel. 31 02 51 - Telex 28 305 matter of East African Airways Corpor-and in the matter of the Companies Act SAUDI ARABIA 1982

Saudi Arabies' present 5-year-ptam (until 1985/85) shows a total volume of more than 180 billion $ Dollars. If you are interested to know in which sectors this enormous sum is to be spent and how and with whom to do a joint wenture, then order TO-DAY:

Saudi Arabis 182

Contents: *Summary of the present 5-year-plan *Development and scope of the industrial cities Aubail + Tambu
*How to establish a joint venture and what are the prospects and procedures
*700 addresses of the most important companies in saudi Arabia, incl. telephone, telex, top-management, products + agencies handled, capital, turnover and bankers -Price : 390.— Swiss Francs

FOR EACH COPY OF "SAUDI ARABIA '82" PURCHASED, ME OFFER ONE FREE NIGHT AT ONE OF THE SMISS INTERNATIONAL HOTELS IN SAUDI ARABIA. THE CHOICE IS YOURS, PROVIDED THAT SPACE IS AVAILABLE.

This SPECTAL EDITION can only be ordered directly. Please send your money-order or cosh-check to :

A.R.M.S. AG * P.O.Box 162 * Bohnackerstrasse 1 * 8157 DiELSDORF* Tel.: 01-853 23 42 * Tetex : 58835 sound * Switzerland

Norway Matches U.K Oil Price Cut

From Agency Dispatches
STAVANGER, Norway — Sta-

toil, the Norwegian state oil company. Tuesday cut the price of its North Sea crude oil by an average $4 a barrel, matching a reduction last week by Britain.

Norway produces about 500,000 barrels of oil a day from its portion of the North Sea, or about one-fourth as much as Britain. Statoil, which had said earlier it would follow Britain's move of last Tuesday, set the price of its higher-quality Eskofisk crude at $31.50 a barrel and the Statiford grade at $31.10. Statoil said the reduction would lower its annual revenues by about $100 million.

Besides Britain and Norway, several other oil-producing countries have recently lowered their prices, including Mexico, Venezue-la, Iran and Egypt. U.S. oil companies also have cut prices for domestic guide mestic crude.

Those actions, coupled with continued weak demand, have put increasing pressure on OPEC to cut its production or lower prices, or both. The oil cartel is scheduled to meet in a consultative session in Vienna on March 19 to consider ways of stopping the slide.

Nigerian Outlook

In another sign of the increasing pressure on oil producers, Petroleum Information International, a Houston-based newsletter, report-ed on Monday that Nigeria is prepared to slash its crude oil prices usry and the loss of production by as much as $5 a barrel if OPEC while it was being repaired. fails to adopt measures to remove

A senior official of the Nigerian National Petroleum Corp. said customers and producing companies had implicitly threatened to reduce or suspend Nigerian oil purchases in recent contract talks. eccording to the newsletter.

ary and the January peak of about 1.8 million barrels a day, the newsletter said.

Responding to reports of falling output, an official for the state-owned oil company said Tuesday that oil production is still averaging nearly 1.5 million barrels per day and the country is holding its customers without discounting the over-supply.

If OPEC does not act decisively

at the Vienna summit, "Nigeria will act unilaterally to protects its markets," Lagos sources said. Ni-geria officially charges $36.50 a barrel.

Nigeria's crude production dropped by more than 250,000 barrels a day last week from 1.5 million barrels daily in late Febru-

Alex Nwokdi, information officer Ior NNPC, told reporters that the latest Nigerian production fig-ures showed a drop from an average of t.65 million barrels a day on Jan. 21 to 1.49 million Monday. to damage to a pipeline in late Jan-

Separately, Petroleum Intelligence Weekly reported on Monday that Libya appears to be preparing for a threatened U.S. boycott of its oil by "drastically restructuring" agreements with European re-

Refiners in Belgium, Italy, Greece and Britain that now han-dle about 150,000 harrels a day of Libya's dwindling crude oil output have been warned that their deals may end April 1, the authoritative oil journal said.

"Libya's most likely new ploy is to make refiners responsible for disposing of the products such as gasoline or fuel oil, thus masking the crude's origin," PIW said.

The journal said Libya might sell its crude to the European refiners at a price related to the value of petroleum products plus a guaranteed profit margin to make its new strategy palatable. This would be tantamount to directly discounting the crude," PIW said.

"The impact of such Libyan maneuvers may be very depressing to product markets as well as undermining crude prices more seri-ously than would outright price re-visions," PIW said, relating the ADVERTISEMENT

DAI-NIPPON PRINTING CO., LTD. (CDR's)

The undersigned announces that as from 18th March 1982 at Kas-Associatie N.V. 18th March 1982 at Kas-Associatie N.V.. Spuistraat 172, Amsterdam, diw.ep.no. 18 (acrompanied by an "Affidavit") of the CDR's Dai-Nippon Printing Co., Ltd., each repr. 100 aharea, will be payable with Dfls. 4,51 met (div.per record-date 30.1t.1981; gross Yen 5., p.sh.) after deduction of 15% Japanese tax = Yen 75. = Dfls. .82 per CDR.
Without an Affidavit 20% Japatex (= Yen 100. = Dfls. 1,10 p.CDR) will be deducted. After 30.6.1982 the div. will only be paid under deduction of 20% Japatex with Dfls. 4,23 net, in accordance with the Japanese tax regulations.

AMSTERDAM DEPOSITARY COMPANY N.V.

Amsterdam, 4th March 1982.

THE SMART WAY TO BUY PETROLEUM PRODUCTS..

Direct from the Middle East... Bitumen, Naphtha, gasoline, kerosene , jetfuels, diesel oils. TRIZAC LTD.,

P. O. Box 3399, Dubai, U.A.E. • TEL.: 971 4 236800. TELEX: 48190 TRZAC EM.
 971 4 228986 after hours

MasterCard Plans to Offer

Broad Financial Services By H.J. Maidenberg

New York Times Service

NEW YORK — Commercial and savings banks that are members of the MasterCard system will start next month to offer card holders discount brokerage ser-vices, money market funds and other investment services, Master-Card International and the Fidelity Financial Services Group have

Under the plan, member banks and savings institutions will also offer their checking account cus-tomers various certificates of deposit, money market certificates and other bank-sponsored invest-ment plans that will place them in direct competition with brokerage

"For the first time," Russell E. Hogg, president and chief executive officer of MasterCard, said Monday, "investments in money market funds will be available to bolders of checking accounts and MasterCard credit cards issued by commercial banks, savings banks and savings and loan institutions through a facility of Fidelity, which manages many leading secu-rities and money market funds,"

The new range of banking services will be introduced in April by a cross section of the 12,500 U.S. banks and thrift institutions that are members of MasterCard, Mr. Hogg said, and gradually will be extended to all members "once the pilot test program is proven satisfactory.

He said that savings institutions have experienced huge withdrawals of funds in recent years because their customers have been investing in money market funds and re-lated instruments. "Meanwhile, brokerage houses have been moving into the banking field through mergers with financial services in-stitutions and providing yet anoth-er rival for the saver's dollar," Mr.

Asked if the MasterCard-Fidelity system also would encourage the withdrawal of funds from the banking and savings institutions, he said that most members of the plan would set "thresholds" that would force customers to keep between, for example, $2,000 and $2,500 in interest-free checking accounts. "Anything above these thresholds would be automatically swept into a money market fund, much the same way as some bro-kerage houses do with idle money in the accounts of their securities

Montreal Stocks

Closing Prices, March 8, 1982

Canadian Indexes

Montreal : Otock Exchange : Toronto : TSE 300 index.

Close 279,43 1,568,20

customers," he explained. Perhaps the most dramatic part of the new system is that commercial banks and savings institutions, which currently are prevented from engaging in the securities brokerage business, will be able to offer their customers discount brokerage services. The Fidelity Financial Services Group would execute the property of the p cute these orders for the member institutions in a manner similar to its regular having and selling of stocks and bonds for the many mutual funds it manages. About 52 million people have Master-Cards through 24,000 banks and savings institutions worldwide.

Mr. Hogg said that the plan was approved by the Securities and Ex-

DISCOUNT CORPORATION

We are pleased to announce

SCOTT E. PARDEE

OF NEW YORK

58 Pine Street, New York, N.Y. 10005

Executive Vice President

as a member of our Board of Directors

the election of change Commission last Friday, while a similar proposal by Visa USA, another major credit card as-sociation, was rejected by the SEC A spokesman for Visa, Richard

Rossi, said the SEC rejected his cy thought its member banks would channel the investment funds back to member banking in-

Judge Orders Refunds on Telex Rates

New York Times Service WASHINGTON - An administrative law judge for the Federal Communications Commission has found that Western Union Tele-graph charged unlawful rates for nearly three years to overseas car-tiers for telex service and has ordered the company to refund more than $74.6 million in fees.

Walter C. Miller, the judge, said Monday the company also appeared liable for additional refunds to domestic users who were also overcharged. Western Union, in a statement issued from its New Jersey headquarters, indicated that it almost certainly would appeal the ruling. Richard C. Hostetler, executive vice president, said that Western Union lawyers were studying the matter.

In his ruling, Mr. Miller said Western Union tariffs in effect be-tween Aug. 10, 1978, and May 1, 1981, "were unjust, unreasonable, and unduly discriminatory." A decision on rates applied since May 1, 1981, will be rendered later, the

Mr. Miller ruled that Western Union had employed a discriminatory rate structure and used the revenue to cross-subsidize its other regulated and non-regulated serrices — "seriously" underestimating the company rate of return in 1978 and 1979 on telex and TWX businesses. The rate of return, he said, exceeded the 18.92 percent allowed by the commission since 1971. Mr. Hostetler said: "Based on our knowledge of the issues in this case, we believe there is absolutely no basis in the law or in the facts on which a telex refund could be justified and we intend to take every possible step to establish that position."

Western Union, the parent of the Western Union Telegraph, in 1981 had operating revenue of $907 million, and net income of $69.6 million, including an extraordinary item of $10.6 million.

Until recently Western Union had a monopoly on domestic mes-sage business, and the overseas carriers had to depend upon West-ern Union for domestic transmission of telex messages from abroad. Those companies, under a law signed this year by President Reagan, now have the authority to deliver message service from their overseas customers directly to domestic destinations.

BEAT INFLATION GUARANTEED

We offer term deposit accounts which at the produce maximum interest while at the same time giving flexibility of choice and absolute security for your money. Keep what you have earned and beat inflation with the following interest rates. GUARANTEED.

NET RETURN

Minimum deposit equivalent

withdraweis in any amount can be effected on maturity of the agreed notice.
 Interest poid or credited yearly.
 Amounts quoted are based on t year fixed time deposits.
 All interest paid is net and without deductions (taxes, etc.) at source.

Deposits are unconditionally gue Write to Manager for further infe

DOLLAR (Con.) 17 PESETA (Sport.) 15,25% DOLLAR (U.S.) 17 STERLING (5) 15,75% FRANC (French) 9.75% MARK (Doubleth) 12,75%

NO TAX

Strain Beliding Society Lighthouse Development Europa Pubri P.O. Box 163 - Gibrattor Tel.: 72546, Yeles: 2297 STRABS GB

9,942 MF.

CREDIT NATIONAL

US$200,000,000 Guaranteed Floating Rate Notes 1994 Unconditionally guaranteed as to payment of principal and interest by

THE REPUBLIC OF FRANCE For the six month period

9th March 1982 to 9th September 1982 the Notes will carry an interest rate of 1411/18 per annum Bankers Trust Company, London Fiscal Agent

société nationale elfaquitaine

The consolidated financial statements of the ELF AQUITAINE GROUP for the first three quarters of 1981 provide the following highlights:

-Net sales (*): - Funds generated from operations (cash flow), after deduction of 3,992 MF for the current price reserve for inventories:

- Consolidated net income:

2,257 MF. - Earnings per share: 25 F. The above figures do not include the income statement effect of the sale of the Group's Canadian assets.

The minimal increase of 187 million in the consolidated net income in the third quarter is the result of several factors: - The seasonal downturn of bydrocarbon sales in France and the effect of the exceptional tax levy (cash flow during the third quarter of 914 MF. compared to 2,935 MF. for the first half year). The seasonal decline of the sales of hydrocarbon produced by the foreign subsidiaries of the Group (cash flow of 1,832 MF. in the third quarter compared to 5,319 MF. for the first half year).

- The increase in losses of the refining-distribution sector, in France and abroad (negative cash flow of 903 MF. in the third quarter compared to — 1,095 for the first half year).

These factors are not expected to reoccur during the fourth quarter, for which the cash flow should be approximately 4 billion francs. (*) Excludes sales of 50% owned subsidiaries: petrochemicals, nickel. The Group's share of these companies net sales for the 9 months was 3,970 MF.

Miners, Processors, & Shippers of E.P.A. Compliance and Other Low Sulphur Steam and Stoker Coals

Presently Shipping 1 Million Tons With A Capacity to Ship 21/2 Million Tons

River Processing has the capacity and reserves to ship coal 365 days a year

RIVER PROCESSING. INC.

Main Office River Processing, Inc. P.O. Box 1055 Hazard, Kentucky 41701 Phone: 606-439-2382 Telex: 218-417

E. M. Bowling, Sales & Marketing

Diversified Fuels, Inc. Sune 504 1900 Winston Road Knowille, Tennessee 37919 Phone: 615-690-8967 Randy Edgemon, President

Enquiries Invited Southern Distribution Sales Office Chicago Futures March 9, 1982

Floating Rate Notes

Banks

Nationwide Trading Closing Prices March 9

+++++++++ COMMANDER OF THE PROPERTY OF T 100% 101 100% 101 100% 101% 100% 101% 100% 101

Traffer Frast,
Frontin Frast of Frast of Frast of Frast of Frast of Traffen
Traffen

Eurobond Prices Decline Slightly

LONDON — Eurobond prices eased Tuesday, in line with the trend in the New York bond market, as traders took a bearish view of the short-term outlook, dealers said.

In New York, overnight money traded at 14 percent and in Europe, Eurodollar deposit rates firmed with three-month money quoted at 14½ percent compared with Monday's finish of 14 3/16 percent while six-month money added ½ point at 14 9/16 percent, dealers added.

In the new issue market Beauted laurabed

Cash Prices March 9, 1982 Commodity Indexes March 9, 1982 COPPES C Dividends Tuesday's New Highs and Lows ELUE SIA-89 BR Worms SIA-85 BR Worms SIA-85 BRCE 40-43 BFCE 40-43 BFCE 514-47 BR FCE 514-4 Standico Sonot a Sowst Forest Sonot a Sowst Forest Sonot a Sowst Forest Sonot a Sowst Forest Sonot Son Josen Fred Joyatta s Komebswc Kouf Brood Korf Brood Korf Mrc S a Komebswc Kouf Brood Korf Mrc S a Kopsillt s Ko (BONDS) (PONDS) (PON ++++++++++ CERT, DB POSIT $1 millions pite of led pct After After 1 millions pite of led pct After 1 millions pite of led pct Jum 84.09 84.09 84.02 Seep 85.97 84.02 85.0 Dec 84.09 84.05 84.05 Prev. soles 6,957, Prev. day's open int 4,453, up 371. London Metals Market (Figures in sterling per metric ton) (Silver in pence per tray ounce)

U.S. COMMODITY PRICES

Brazil Planning 1982 Borrowings Of $15 Billion

Reners

RIO DE JANEIRO — Brazil
plans to raise $14.6 billion to $15 billion in foreign loans in calendar 1982, including a rise of $1 billion in its international reserves, Carlos Langoni, the central bank president and Tuesday

Langoni, the central bank president, said Tuesday.

Last year Brazil raised $15.9 billion in foreign loans to finance its balance-of-payments deficit, central bank figures show.

A central bank spokesman said last month Brazil needs $13.6 billion of foreign loans this year to cover its expected 1982 current-account deficit and loan payments.

Central bank figures show that Brazil's gross medium and long-term foreign debt is forecast to reach $70.1 billion at the end of this year compared with $61.4 billion at the end of 1981.

Mr. Langoni said the government will work to maintain its trade surplus to offset the services deficit, swollen by heavy interest deficit, swollen by heavy interest payments. It forecasts a $3-billion trade surplus in 1982, up from a $1.2 billion surplus in 1981 and compared with a deficit of $2.8 bil-

Dutch Unemployment Up

THE HAGUE — Dutch unemployment rose to a postwar record of 454,200 in February from 452,500 in January, according to preliminary figures released Tuesday by the Social Affairs Ministry. The figure is up from 324,200 a

Newrith 7, 1982
Todory
Bid Antend Specification
251.00 252.00 271.00 282.00
851.40 252.00 247.50 280.58
867.68 841.00 847.50 848.30
4.720.00 4.720.80 7,730.00 7,740.00
7,130.00 7,130.00 7,270.00
7,130.00 7,300.00 7,270.00
7,130.00 4,450.00 247.90 380.00
447.00 444.00 444.00 445.00
447.00 446.00 444.00 445.00
447.00 446.00 446.00 446.00
447.00 387.00 385.00
375.00 579.00 572.00 572.30
400.50 401.50 574.00 574.50
1,195.00 3,196.00 2,100.00 3,196.00
1,195.00 3,196.00 2,100.00 3,196.00
1,195.00 3,196.00 2,100.00 3,196.00 Merch 9, 1982 Teday Bid Askad High erode of soot of soot of months country in the soot of months in the soot of months country in the soot of months country in the soot of months of mont London Commodities i Prices in sterling per metric ten) (Geseti in U.S. delters per matric ten) Alarch 9, 1982 High Lew Cless Previs (Bid-Asked) (Cle

| Prices in shufflow per metric font|
| Ganellin U.S. dollars per matric loss|
| March 9, 1982 | Previous (Clean | Previous (Previous (Clean | Previous (Previous (Previ

Paris Commodities
(Figures in Prench froms per metric ton)
Morch 7, 1961
Nigh Low (Blo-Auland) 1.795 1.795 1.795 1.619 1.795 1.619 1.845 1.855 1.850 1.855 1.850 1.855 1.830 1.845 1.875 1.710 1.838 1.950 nivred: 7,570 SUGAR | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 | 1,800 1,880 N.T. 1,885 1,220 N.T. 1,825 1,825 N.T. 1,365 E.T. N.T. N.T. N.T. N.T. 1241 N.T. N.T. N.T. N.T. | 230 | 255 | 246 | 354 | 1270 | 1280 | 1300 | 125 | 126 | 134 | 126 | 135 | 136 | 136 | 136 | 136 | 136 | 136 | 136 | 136

9.16.46 11.37 11.30 11.46 11.46 11

Cords

20 20 20 4 Colored Col

1982 Pombile Programmer Programme の一や2年2月7月日では、10年1月12日では、10年1日では、1

15% 430 1215/16 548 1611/16 8-16 1611/16 8-16 1215/16 538 16 3-7 1215/16 538 16 3-7 137/16 3-17 137/16 3-17 137/16 3-17 137/16 3-17 1415/16 5-17 1415/16 5-17 1415/16 5-17 1415/16 5-17 1415/16 5-17 1415/16 5-17 1415/16 5-17 1415/16 5-17 1415/16 5-17 1415/16 5-17 1415/16 5-17 1415/16 5-17 1415/16 5-17 1415/16 5-17

Non Banks

Non Banks

Francis Start Compon Next

lender Start Compon Next

lender Start Start

1611/14 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5-15

1616/16 151/16 5

Issuer-Mile con-Med.
Actestic Sid-90
Actestic

Selected Over-the-Counter

Closing Prices, March 9, 1982

Semil. 2 Chart. 54-94
Semil. 2 Chart. 54-96
Semil. 2 Chart. 54-96
Semil. 2 Chart. 54-97
Sinche Bit India 44-07
Semil. 2 Chart. 54-97
Sinche Bit India 44-07
Semilaren Fill 54-98
Syamaton Hoodent 5-97
Semilaren 6-97
Semilaren 6-97
Semilaren 6-97
Semilaren 6-98
Syamaton 6-98
Syamaton

1.20 1.54 3.12 70 17. See Middle 17. Se

12% 27 10% 13% 15% 15% 25% 14 14 14 15% 15%

7 REDM 71 RAS EI 4 RSC 51 RTC 81 ROUGH 131 ROHES 50 ROUGH 151 ROUGH 151 ROUGH 152 ROUGH 152 ROUGH 152 ROUGH 152 ROUGH 153 ROUG

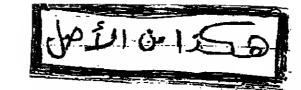

added.

In the new issue market, Pennzoil launched a $75 million, eight-year bond bearing a coupon of 15% percent and priced at 99% to yield 15.35 percent.

The Spanish government is offering $100 million of five-year notes bearing a coupon of 15% percent. Pricing is open and will be set March 18.

Reynolds Metals European Finance Corp., guaranteed by Reynolds Metals, is seeking $60 million. Its five-year paper is being offered with a coupon of 16% percent. Pricing is open and will be set March 11.

In the floating rate sector, Crédit Agricole increased to $250 million from the initially indicated $200 million its 15-year issue.

Chemical on Financial Services:

Managing money with imagination that's what it takes to succeed in today's volatile business climate. For highly creative banking, business is looking to Chemical.

Chemical has always pioneered in innovative nonlending services. We gave you ChemLink, the global electronic cash management system. As its reputation grew, demand for its services spread. So we extended it through other banks as BankLink. Today, the ChemLink/BankLink Network is the largest system of its kind, with more than 4,000 corporate customers around the world. And we continue to expand its capabilities.

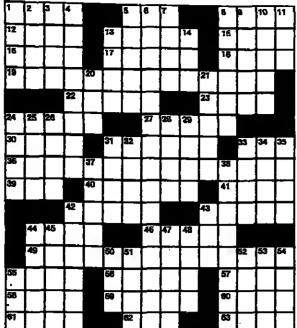

Our Financial Consulting Groups are staffed by experts whose tradition is breaking new ground. Among the oldest of foreign exchange advisors, we developed sophisticated new economic, regulatory and cash management services. Our consultants tackle the tough issues and create imaginative solutions for an impressive group of clients worldwide.

What Chemical has done yesterday, what we're doing today and what we're working toward for tomorrow are all part of the tradition of giving you the very best banking services. At Chemical, we have many traditions, and all of them started as innovations.

CHEMICALBANK

Innovation is our oldest tradition.

CHEMICALTAKES YOU BEYOND TRADITION.

ACROSS

I Kind of way or war 5 Military HQ -at (attack)

13 Attire 15 Brian Boru's domain 16 Aa 17 Bushbuck

18 Outer layer 19 Salinger work 22 Had a bracer 23 Flavoring herb 24 "Forbidden

City," once 27 Admit 30 He duped

Othello 31 Umiaks' kin 33 Unclose, to a poet 36 Witness to Fort

McHenry's bombardment 39 Suffix for puppet 40 Certain alphabet starters 41 Gardener's gear 42 Book fare

43 She wrote "The Black Moth" 44 Malarial symptom 46 Type size

WEATHER

ALGARVE

ALGIERS AMSTERDAM

AUCKLAND

BERLIN

BOSTON

CAPE TOWN CASABLANCA CHICAGO

COSTA DEL SOL

DUBLIN EDIMBURÇH

LAS PALMAS

BANK VON ERNST & Cle AG PB 26/2 8cm
— Id I CSF Fund
— (3) Crossbow Fund
— (3) Crossbow Fund
— (4) ITF Fund N.V.
— (w) Universid Growth Fund
— (w) Jersey Giff Fund Ltd.
— (27350xd

CAPITAL INTERNATIONAL

CREDIT SUISSE

FIDELITY PO Sex 470, Hamilton, B
Imil American Volues Camaron
(mi American Volues Camaron
(mi American Volues Camaron (mi Fidelity Amer. Asserts....
(d) Fidelity American Volues
(d) Fidelity Austrolic Fund....
(d) Fidelity Fig. Sex Fd....
(d) Fidelity Fig. Sex Fd....
(w) Fidelity Fig. Fox Fd....
(w) Fidelity Particle Fund....
(w) Fidelity Particle Fund....

G.T.MANAGEMENT JUKI LTD

Will Berry Pag. Fd. Ltd.

(w) G.T. Asia Fund.

(d) I G.T. Bend Fund.

(w) G.T. Doller Fund.

(d) G.T. Investment Fund.

(d) G.T. Jesen Small Co Fund.

(d) G.T. Technology Fund.

INTERNATIONAL INCOME FUNO
25-34 Hin St. St., Heller, Jersey
— (d) Short Term'A' (Accum) ...
— (d) Short Term'A' (Accum) ...
— (d) Short Term'B' (Accum) ...
— (d) Short Term'B' (Oistr) ...
— (d) Short Term'B' (Oistr) ...
— (w) Long Term

ROTHSCHILD ASSET MGTM (CI):
—(c1 Q.C. Dir Commodity Tr.....

LIMA LISBON

Mel Brooks film 55 Afro, e.g.

57 Bassoon's kin

palindrome

with Buffalo

56 Smirch

58 Start of a

59 Performer

60 Ship's stem 61 Pinochle combination preceder 63 A problem for

Kringle

DOWN

I Game for some

3 Sagan subject 4 Judah, to Isaac

5 Indo-European

6 Phrase for the

8 Narc's concern

10 Tough flooring

11 Tight position?
13 Author Seton

Bosox 20 Blue Eagle org.

MANILA

MEXICO CITY MIAMI

MONTREAL

MOSCOW MUNICH NAIROB! NASSAU NEW DELM! NEW YORK

REYKJAVIK

SAO PAULO SEOUL SHANGHAI SINGAPORE

STOCKHOLM SYDNEY TAIPE) TEL AVIV TOKYO TUNIS VENICE

WARSATS

ADVERTISEMENT

INTERNATIONAL FUNDS March 9, 1982

Other Funds

um Sel Fund.

DM — Deutsche Mork; — Ex-Divident, — St. 1014.

DM — Deutsche Mork; — Ex-Divident, — New, N.A. Not Avaliable; 2F — Seletum Francu, — Luxembourg Francu; 9F — Swits Francu, — Crier Prices; 9F — Asket; b — 3ld Charge P/V 310 to 31 per unit. 5/5 — Stock Solin; — — 50 RT3; "5 — Sweendad, N.C. — Not community."

NICE PARIS PEKING PRAGUE

Sunday drivers

 \mathbf{BIII}

62 Beauty

2 Shebat follower candid

7 Alopecic

9 Moon of 14 One of the

5 46 Cloudy 4 37 Cloudy

24 Recommended choice in Deut. 30:19 25 March animal 26 Culture medium 28 'Into-

29 Successes for Holmes 31 Pound'a metric counterpart

21 Keats, for one

32 Enzymes' suffixes 33 Approve entrant, for sbort 35 Witness 37 Concerned one 38 Perches for crows 42 Pretentious

44 Shade of brown 45 Give the third degree 47" Arabian Nights" 48 Part of a pot 50 ——loss for words 51 Pram pusher 52 Spanish river 53 M 54 Small salamander

LOW C F

1 34 Feir 20 66 Feory 5 41 Cloudy 12 54 Feir 2 36 Feory 4 14 Overcas 1 57 Feir 30 68 Cloudy 4 25 Cloudy 4 25 Cloudy 4 26 Cloudy 5 7 19 Overcas 1 34 Feory 2 28 Snow 5 Overcas 2 5 60 Cloudy 2 5 64 Cloudy 5 5 64 Cloudy 5 7 19 Overcas 2 5 64 Cloudy 5 8 6 Cloudy 5 5 64 Cloudy 5 7 19 Overcas 5 6 Cloudy 5 6 5 Cloudy 5 6 5 6 Cloudy 5 6 5 Cloudy 5 Cloudy

C F

55 Motion

U

O

N

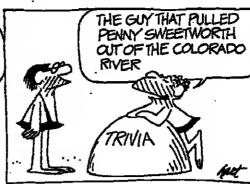

D

MISS BUXLEY, DON'T YOU HAVE ANYTHING ELSE TO DO BESIDES POLISHING

YOUR NAILS?!

15

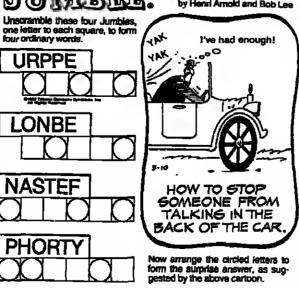

IN THE () Jumbles; DECAY HOIST ASTRAY BAKERY Yesterday's Answer: Might be a current sensation-A SHOCK

Imprime par P.I.O. - I. Boulevard Ney 75018 Paris

"HOW COME YOU NEVER TELL ME TO MAKE MYSELF AT HOME?

BOOKS

The state of the s

HUNGER OF MEMORY The Education of Richard Rodrigues

By Richard Rodriguez. 195 pp. $13.95. David R. Godine, 306 Dartmouth Street, Boston, Mass. 02116. By Le Anne Schreiber

WHEN Richard Rodriguez en-tered his first-grade classroom in Sacramento, Calif., in 1951, he found himself speechless. As the son of working-class Mexican-American immigrants, he couldn't believe that the English language was his to use.

About 20 years later. Rodriguez was in London on a Fulbright Fellowship studying English Renaissance literature. Then came the crisis. Looking around the reading room of the British Museum, he realized he had forsaken his family to join a lonely community. Nostalgia began. Thinking that there still might be time for him to go home again, he returned to California to spend a summer living with his parents. It was, of course, too late. "I re-mained an academic," Rodriguez recalls, "a kind of anthropologist in the family kitchen."

At its simplest level, "Hunger of Memory is about the making of a middle-class U.S. citizen, and, as such, it is unexceptional. After all, up-ward mobility has been making kitchen-table anthropologists out of U.S. citizens for generations.

Intimate Understanding

What matters most about this intensely thoughtful book is that Rodri-guez has given us the fruit of his long meditation upon language — his intimate understanding of how we use language to create public and private selves, his painful awareness of what we gain and lose when we gain and lose languages.

"Language has been the great subject of my life," writes Rodriguez. It became so on his first day of school. became so on his first day of school.

Because his was the only Mexican family in an English-speaking white neighborhood, he grew up thinking that Spanish was his family's private language. He felt divided not between two cultures but between his family and everything outside it.

When he entered school, he became silent. It was not just that he did not know how to speak English. He did not know how to speak any language publicly.

Understanding that Rodriguez needed to speak a public language, three nuns came to visit his parents at home one Saturday morning to sug-gest that they begin to speak to him in English. Eager to help their son, they complied. But for the boy, being cut off from Spanish was being cut off from love, from even the possibility of intimacy. He felt that his private self had been banished.

Of necessity, he went public: "One day in school I raised my hand to volunteer an answer. I spoke out in a loud voice. And I did not think it remarkable when the entire class understood. The belief, the calming assurance that I belonged in public, had at last taken hold." Shortly afterward Richard stopped hearing English primarily as sounds and started hearing it as meaning. Much later, he realized that English was not an intrinsically public language; that languages are not intimate, people are.

It is important to understand that Rodriguez did not become bilingual.

English replaced Spanish.
"Hunger of Memory" is Rodriguez's attempt to come to terms with that exchange: "If I rehearse here the changes in my private life after my Americaniza-tion, it is finally to emphasize the public gain. The loss implies the gain: The

Solution to Previous Puzzle

SOUL POISE COLA
TOMBROWNSSCHOOL APPEARED ARLES GEL SOME SHAPED INVESTS
PAGE AMOUR RAG
ORANGEMARMALAOE
TEM ADAGE EDAM
MARLENE FLEETS
ALLS KEA
ADAME ENTRANCE
BYEBYEBLACKOIRD
ENOL BELCK ULAM
DENE BEAK TEWA

Richard Rodriguez

house I returned to each afternoon was quiet. Intimate sounds no longer rushed to the door to greet me. Once I learned poblic language it would never again be easy for me to hear intimate family voices."

When Rodriguez fled the reading room of the British Museum, he was trying to renee on the bargain he had trying to renege on the bargain he had struck as a child. He quickly discov-ered that was not possible. For better or worse, the Mexican boy had become an American man.

200

100

1 mar 1

التدا

, ,

ger :

. γ•η

72 [157] Y

25.75

Ü١٠٠

1.00 1000

2.51

Jan en

الا ستاريكية الا ستاريكية

are d

17.1

EVII L

LS B

St. Style Mark.
St. Stones
St. Stones
St. Stones
St. Stones
St. Style
St. Style
St. Style
St. Style
St

11.0

Not long afterward, be wrote letters to all the charmen of English depart-ments who shought they had found the perfect answer to affirmative acthe perfect answer to aritmative ac-tion in Rodriguez. He declined their offers of jobs, because he could not withstand the irony of being counted a "minority" when in fact the irrever-sibly successful effort of his life had been to become a fully assimilated member of the majority.

Le Anne Schreiber is on the staff of The New York Times.

Best Sellers

The New York Times This list is based on reports from more than 1,400 cockstores throughout the United States. Weeks on let are not reconstilly consecutive.

FICTION NORTH AND SOUTH, by John

AN INDECENT OBSESSION, by Colleen McCullough. THE DEAN'S DECEMBER, by Saul Bellow. SPRING MOON, by Bette Bao Lord MARCO POLO, IF YOU CAN, by William F. Buckley Jr., A GREEN DESIRE, by Anton

Myser.
THE HOTEL NEW HAMP-SHIRE by John Irving.
RABBIT IS RICH, by John

NOBLE HOUSE, by James Clavell 11.
NO TIME FOR TEARS, by Cynthia Freeman

A MOTHER AND TWO DAUGHTERS, by Gail Godwin ...

15 REMEMBRANCE, by Danielle

NONFICTION

4 WITNESS TO POWER, by John Ehrichman.
5 THE LORD GOD MADE THEM ALL, by Jensea Herrist.
6 AT DAWN WE SLEPT, by Gordon W. Prange.
7 PATHFINDERS, by Gail Sbeehy.
8 THE WALK WEST: A Walk Across America, by Peter and Barbara Jenkins.
9 WEIGHT WATCHERS 365-DAY MENU COOK-BOOK. New American Library.
10 WHEN BAD THINGS HAPPEN TO GOOD PEOPLE by Harold S. Kushner.
11 COSMOS, by Carl Segan.
12 HOW TO MAKE LOVE TO A MAN, by Alexandra Pennsy.
13 ELVIS, by Abert Goldman.
14 LAID BACK IN WASH-INGTON, by Art Buchwald.
15 TERNAGE ROMANCE, by Delia Ephron. WITNESS TO POWER, by John

BRIDGE.

OUALITY apart, there are two measures of the value of a bridge book. You can count the cost per page, or you can estimate the amount of technical help for the read-

For many years there has been a flood of excellent bridge books from England. Virtually all of them fail the first test, but one recent book passes the second triumphantly. It is "Streamline Your Card Play" by Victor Mollo, who for once is in entirely serious mood. The list price for the hard-cover book of 208 pages is an absurd $19.95, but it is available for $16.50 from Bridge World, 39 West 94th Street, New York, N.Y. 10025. The author has crowded more meat into his pages than any previous bridge author. There are 374 quiz questions, and each has two or more

The reader is shown the dummy and one other hand, and invited to test his skill. The answers, with a few rare exceptions, are entirely satisfactory.

The standard is suitable for players of average or above-average skill, and some of Mollo's questions might well defeat an expert in practical play. In the diagramed example, the reader is shown the North and East hands, given the bidding and invited to defend after the opening lead of the spade queen.

It is obvious to East that his partner has the queen-jack of spades support-ed by the ten or the nine. There are 15 high-card points unaccounted for in the other snits, and South must have . them all to justify his opening. (The author speicifies that one no-trump openings show 15-17 high-card points, rather than the 16-18 which are standard on this side of the Atlantic.)

The routine play is for East to over-take in spades and continue the suit, giving the defense four tricks. The declarer will be able to count eight tricks, and will have to guess the location of the club queen.

He may guess right for the wrong reason: East has only three spades, so can be expected to have most of the missing clubs and therefore the queen.

By Alan Truscott

As Mollo points out, East can paint B misleading picture of the distribu-tion, which is almost certain to defeat a good declarer. He must overtake the spade queen with the ace, cash the king and shift to a small diamond. South will inevitably assume that there were five spades on his right originally. He will assume that he can safely lose a trick to East, so he will cash the club king and finesse the jack. His discomfiture will be worth seeing when East produces the club queen and follows with the spade four to defeat the contract.

NORTH 496 ♥KQ32 ♦82 4AJ 1093 WEST EAST ♦Q1105 4 A K 4 V 1065 79874 . 4 1075 00343 4864 ₽Q2 SOUTH (D) 48732 VAJ. O AK96

₽K75 IN.T. Pass Pass 3N.T. 24 Pass Pass Pass

West led the spede queen.

tion's squad of 22 have seen more than 30 birthdays; how many more they alone can tell. Manager Elba de Padua Lima (Tim to friends) is a bit of a fox that way, too. He recently answered that be is 65, which is six years short of the mark most observers credit him with. But you can discount rumors that he will take the field in Spain.

He did his share of that when,

back in the '30s, he blossomed as a teenager (he says) in the Brazilian national teams. Triumphant as a player and as a coach in Brazil and Argentina, Tim accepted the challenge in Peru just a few weeks before they were to meet Uruguay.

He saw his younger Peruvian squad in training, informed the authorities "this team will beat nobody" and persuaded the soccer federation, with government assist-ance, to bring home six former cup stars exiled in lucrative pastures

Of course, he and his men had a

bitle help in overcoming the physically intimidating Uruguayans:

Perhaps you remember the story a year ago of Anna Maria Ayalo Fuentes, clairvoyant from Lima who prophesied the surprise up-turn in form? Come to think of it,

why hasn't Tim turned to her to

But lest you get the impression

it's all fun out there, you should know that the media is helping

Tim pick his teams.

Truly. When the national federation admitted it could not afford to pay foreign clubs to go on releasing their stars for the manager's prolonged World Cup training camp, one television statioo began buying up the exiles' con-tracts. It will sell them after the cup, although at the last count only half of the six were anywhere

Finally, to dispel the theory that

Peru is a happy-go-lucky bunch of geriatric mercenaries, remember the name Julio Cesar Uribe. The "black diamond" of Sporting Cristal of Lima is, on good authority, 24. He organizes the midfield with rare genius and strikes with either near being repatriated.

see off the African gremlins?

In the NIT, It's Business as Usual: Winners, So-So Teams and Gripers talked about that Monday.

Wary Lifini

ers voted right after the game and turned down the NIT. Lefty said he should have waited 24 hours before voting so they could cool

By Dave Anderson

New York Times Service
YUMA, Ariz. — When the manager was dismissed by the Montre-al Expos last year, "lack of com-munication" with his players was

When the shortstop was suspended and hospitalized last year for psychiatric treatment, before he was traded by the St. Louis Car-dinals, "depression" was the medical explanation, and "he only plays when he wants to" was the

Now that Dick Williams and Garry Templeton each wears the brown-and-gold vestments of the San Diego Padres, many baseball

people are wondering when the time bomb will go off.

day's exhibition opener against the California Angels, all was tranquil in this quiet desert outpost.

But as the Padres awaited Tues-

Spring training, of course, is a

Dick Williams

By Angus Phillips

Washington Post Service

WASHINGTON — There were three bears at a hotel here Monday night, two stuffed and one getting the lobby, each bearing a lapel tag commemorating a historic football game. The bear on the left was for Paul Bryant's 300th victory as a college football coach, the one on the right honored the victory that captured all football fans' fancy -

Bryant's 315th, over Auburn last

Nov. 28, the one that gave him more than any other college coach

The third was Bear Bryant himself, the 68-year-old Alabama coach who earned his nickname by wrestling a bruin at age 12 and whose admirers say has grown

A thousand people paid $125

aniece to honor the man at "America's Tribute to Paul (Bear) Bryant." At the head table, under a re-creation of the scoreboard

NBA Standings

tougher ever since.

Philadelphi New Jersey

jajiwaykan Indigan

Utoh

The 6-foot stuffed bears were in along in years.

mentioned as a reason.

dubhouse explanation.

NEW YORK - The National Invitation Tournament was to begin Tuesday night with 32 college basketball teams, some with excellent records, some that barely had winning seasons and, as usual, some that would prefer to be somewhere else.

That somewhere else is the Narional Collegiate Athletic Association's championship tournament After the 48 teams had been chosen Sunday afternoon for that connectation, the NIT selection committee put together its field Sunday night from the colleges not named by the NCAA.

The NII's first three rounds will be played out of town, starting Tuesday with Oral Roberts (18-11) against Oklahoma (19-10) in Tulsa,

The last four remaining teams will advance to Madison Square Garden for the semifinals March 22 and the final on March 24. Coach Billy Tubbs of Oklaho ma, which lost in the final of the Big Eight playoffs, had mixed feelings about playing in the NIT.

"It's not my idea of a bowl trip," said Tubbs. "We don't know anything about Oral Roberts except the name of their coach [Ken Hayes]. "The game may be kind of like a physical education class. We'll just go out there and throw the ball

Angry Words

Angry words came from Coach Dick Versace of Bradley (21-10), whose Missouri Valley Conference regular-season champions were passed over for one of the NCAA's 20 at-large berths.

Bradley is returning to the NIT, where it was a fixture a generation ago.

Versace called the NCAA selection process "an absolute joke" and said "the system reeks of poli-

He said he was incensed that four teams from the Big East Conference — Georgetown, Villanova, St. John's and Boston College were chosen for the NCAA tourna-

Dave Gavitt, the Big East commissioner, is chairman of the NCAA selection committee.

"Look at Boston College's schedule," said Versace, "Bentley, Stonehill, Brown. Listen to this: Merrimack, Rhode Island and are you ready for this? - St. An-

"It's obvious politics influenced the picks."

Why Go Nats?

Iona won the Metro Atlantic Conference title Friday night, but because this was the conference's first year, its champion did not automatically gain an NCAA berth. Still, Iona had been expected to be chosen because of its 24-8 record. When it was not, Coach Pat Kennedy thought back to the celebra- Alabamans Honor a Non-Hibernating Bear' tion after the conference final.

"Why did we go nuts?" he said
"What was the excitement about? 'Maybe we didn't do the political lobbying we should have done."

Coach Lefty Driesell of Maryland (15-12) was happy to be in the NIT

In 1976, Maryland turned down an NIT bid after it was upset by

U.S. Baskethall Polls

The Associated Press 1. No. Caraties (47) 2. DePoul (16) 3. Virginio (1) 4. Oregon St. 111 5. Aliseouci 4. Georgetown 7. Minnesoto 8. Idutio 9. Memphis Si. 10. Tuisa 11. Fresso St. 12. Arkonsos 12. Alebama 14. West Virginia W. UCLA

(Other teams receiving votes in democracies order: Encodery, Evanguille, Hauston, Indienta, Jones Modison, Konsos State, Lamar, Atarquette, Mississippe, North Caroline State, Peppardine, Pittsburgh, Ohio State, St. Joseph's, Po., Son Francisco, Southern Col. Southwestern Leutsburg, Tenmasse, Tenn-Contrasses.

United Press Inter NEW YORK — The United International board of coaches final college basketball retings (first-place visue)-leaf records in persitients):

1, No. Coroline (38) (27-2) 2. DePool 141 (26-1) 3. Virsinio (29-3) 4. Oregon St. (23-4) 5. Missouri (26-3) 8. Idoho (34-2) shie St. (23-41 11. Tuise (34-5) 19. Wake Forest (20-8) 20. Louisville (20-9) at with the National Americ

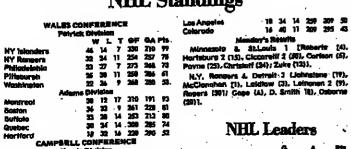

(By ogreement with the National Ameciation of Scateshoti Capchas, learns on NCAA protection are ineligible for top 20 and national chamelorable consideration by UPI, On probation for the 1981-82 seems are: Arkuneas State, New Mexico, South Florida, Texas Christian, UCLA, Wichita State.)

1971-1980-19 200 246 79 26 27 13 257 252 48 28 24 6 244 275 62 60 17 26 14 299 319 30 18 29 12 236 207 48

Minnesot Wignises St. Louis

Gretzky, Ed Greizky, Edon.
Bassy, N. Y.I.
Assruit, Wain.
Troffler, N. Y.J.
P. Stoafny, Que.
Smith, Min.
Sovers, Chl.
Odonne, L.A.
Andersen, Scim.
Ciccarelli, Min.

Virginia in the Atlantic Coast Con-ference playoffs and failed to make the NCAA tournament. Illinois, said he thought his team would have trouble coping with the quickness of 20-10 Long Island Pete Carlesimo, the NIT's executive director, said he and Driesell

University m its first-round game at Illinois Wednesday. "There is no question about it," Henson said, "they have more speed and quickness than any team we've played this year. And they're a great shooting club, too. "Maryland had just lost its con-ference game," said Carlesimo. "In those days, only the champion could go to the NCAA's. The play-

"I doubt if we can run with

LLU led the nation's major colleges in scoring with and 87.3-to first place in the reality of the National League West. Every man-ager is supervising "the best camp" he's ever had, and every player is Judged by his two World Series rings from his days with the Oak-land A's, Williams is the best manager the Padres have ever had, just as Templeton is potentially the most gifted player they've ever

But if the Padres are to work any miracles, Dick Williams and Templeton must coexist effectively, if not peacefully, in the crises that develop in the crucible of the season. For now, another spring-training phrase fits their relationship — "too soon to tell." For now, they're as peaceful as two

"All that talk in Montreal about of baloney," Williams was saying.

"I talk to players. But I don't think every time you walk by a guy, you have to say hello. I'm also oot a believer in a lot of meetings.

What's important to me is execution, fundamentals, bustle and

No Rain Dates, Either

Hustle also was important to

Whitey Herzog, the Cardinal manager, as it is to every manager.

"Templeton doesn't want to play in St. Louis," Herzog said, "he doesn't want to play on artificial

"He doesn't want to play in Montreal, he doesn't want to play in Houston, he doesn't want to play in the rain. The other 80 games, he's all right."

But the Padres, who are sched-

major league team, like to uled to play 162 games, as is every think that Templeton will want to

from the Auburn game, sat the Rev. Billy Graham, comedian Bob

Hope, four other top college

coaches, and the governor, both senators and all the congressmen

In the ballroom sat Alabamans,

They convened, according to

would-be Alabamans and Ala-

Sen, Jeremiah Denton, because "in Alabama, Coach Bryant is second only to God.

"We believe that on the eighth day the Lord created the Crimson

It was no farewell. The mention of Bryant's retiring never crossed the lips of the assemblage. Businessman Holt Rast, who flew up from Birmingham, said discussions of Bryant's departure from the game are not met with pleasure dying," said Rast, who played un-der then-assistant coach Bryant in the '30s. "We all know it's going to happen someday, but we don't disgy-faced Bryant said he'd keep coaching until he was no longer wanted or could no longer contribute. "I wouldn't feel right about losing," he said at a reception before the dinner. "I plan to get better. I sure don't want to go down

The man against whom he became the winningest coach doesn't think there's much likelihood of Bryant's ever giving up voluntarily.

"He's still tougher than anyone in the business," said Anburn Coach

"How long can he go on? I don't

Alabamans are generally easygoing folks, and the seed for Mon-day's event was planted at an easy-going Alabama-style evening out.

It was a happy little party [at a restaurant] across the bay from Mobile," said Denton, who was one of the partygoers. The idea was a national tribute in the national stribute in the nati tion's capital to honor a national Originally, said Denton, the plan was to fly up the restaurant's

Cajun cook to prepare an Alabama meal, but there was an illness in

Scott Hunter, who quarter-

backed Alabama in the late 1960s, helped orchestrate. He flew up with Bryant on Sunday and said

"the coach was really excited." If so, he didn't show it. For a man shunning retirement, Bryant had a lot to say about retirement activihe's — talking about bird hunting and bass fishing with Dye, and golf with Graham and Hope and anyone else who happened by.

President Reagan phoned from the White House to offer congratulations. Reagan said he'd read in Bryant's book about a game in which Alabama was down, 12-0, with three minutes to go and with-any.

know. Forever.

For his part, the towering, crag-

"It's sort of like talking about

Contin

from Alabama.

bama lovers.

padres at prayer.

showing up on time.

working harder" than ever.

larly the cocky, gullible Scottish team) fell for the line that Peruvi-LONDON — Pre-World Cup Peruvian sorcery takes to the road ans were withered with age and sickness. Peru walloped the Scots, 3-1, with some mercinial play from fore turning over Iran, 4-1.

SOCCER SCENE

At the crunch, when Peru needed to stop Argentina from scoring

some darker force affected Peru,

On a four-year cycle, the Peruvians — seemingly the same, ageless Peruvians — reach the finals. Every fourth year, their publicists drum up a dash of entertaining. the black wizard of the 1970 cmp, Teofilo Cubillas. Next, Cubillas & Co. drew with the Netherlands bedistracting mumbo jumbo. Every fourth year the players perform with fleeting, pure skill, before disappearing from the stage.

By Rob Hughes uemational Herald Tribune

The vibes oow flying the media waves between Cameroon and Peru, vibes colored with talk of witch doctors and voodoo, are par for the course.

grew up.
"According to the doctors who examined him for us," says Bob Chandler of the front office, "Garry had a minor chemical imbalance that causes depression. With the Cardinals, that imbalance was ag-gravated by the [artificial] turf and being away from Southern Califor-

Templeton doesn't sound aggra-vated now. He's talking about winning the National League batting championship, stealing 60 bases and making the All-Star team.

"I almost won the batting title

two years ago, when I hit 319, but Bill Buckner of the Cubs hit 324," he said. "I was a leadoff hitter then. But this year I'll be hitting third. With not as many at-bats - it might be easier to lead the league. I've had more than 30 stolen bases twice. No reason I was selected as a reserve on the

For the 1980 All-Star Game, be

"I'll go to Montreal this year if I'm picked, even as a backup, but only as a backup to David Con-cepcion," he said, referring to the Cincinnati shortstop. "Concepcion and myself are the only shortstops who can do it all - arm, range, drive in runs, steal bases and hit

Several years ago, Templeton was at Tulsa, in the Cardinal farm system, when Satchel Paige touted him as the best shortstop the age-

Williams raves about Templeton, too, saying he's got "better mechanics" than any other shortstop he's seen over three decades

as an outfielder and a manager in out the ball, but came back to win.

those same people," Reagan said.

In the ballroom, the gathering listened to Dixieland, heard the rock band Alabama's original Bear

Bryant song ("In Our Hearts He's

No. 1"), ate filet mignon and paid its respects to a gray-haired gent of the word quit.

Bryant's name.

who's never grasped the meaning the dinner will go to an academic scholarship fund at Alabama in Organizers said proceeds from

"I never saw Homs Wagner," less pitcher had ever seen.

can't get 60."

for average."

the majors.

a lack of communication was a lot National League squad, but de-four times, the team surrendered 6-0, and Argentina instead of Brazil went through to the next round. We still cannot be sure whether age, superstition, the occasion or in 1978, Peru's opponents (particu-

All Quiet — for Now — on the Williams-Templeton Front Newspapers everywhere are running these stories — some as if they believe them. Having had a tranquilizer anyway, especially during the early weeks. Every team is in first place now, even the Padres, who have never been close from Santa Ana, Calif., where he grew up.

"According to the doctors who have never been close examined him for us," says Bob tions and range. This gny does it tions and range. This guy does it tions and range. This guy does it so easily, so gracefully."

Templeton hits better, too. He's got a 305 career average. He won't be 26 years old until later this month, but has already accumulated 911 hits. At that pace, he's got a chance for 3,000 hits and the Hall of Fame.

"I think I'll have good enough years to make the Hall of Fame some day," he said, waiting his turn in batting practice. "But that's a long way off. I just want to play 10, 12 more over 10. play 10, 12 more years.

Wrong

"What happened last year is in the past, but I know it's going to follow me. And when it follows me, I'll just put it to the side and play. If it stirs up again, I'll walk away from it."

His problem in St. Louis erupted with obscene gestures to the fans during a game there. "I was wrong," he said. "I know was wrong. In the hospital there, l had a psychiatrist, but I don't need one no more. I know I'm not crazy. I'm not on any medication "What happened last year made me aware of a lot more things going on around me. It made me appreciate my own talent more. Made me know not to waste it. I know I got the talent. It's just a matter of putting it together."

And adjusting to a new mana-"Tve always got along with all my managers," Templeton said. Said Williams: "I talk to Garry every day."

World Championships Led by French Skater

the manager said, referring to Pittsburgh's turn-of-century short-The Associated Press COPENHAGEN - Jean-Chrisstop, who is generally considered play on the natural grass of Jack to have been baseball's best at that ... I talk to players.' Murphy Stadium down the coast position. "But I've seen Pee Wee toobe Simond of France took the lead after the men's compulsory igures at Tuesday's opening of the World Figure Skating Champion-ships. World champion Scott Hamilton of the United States was second place, with 1.2 points to Simond's 0.6. David Santee of the The president said he under-stood there was a pile of angry telegrams in Bryant's hotel room United States was third with 1.8 and Igor Bobrin of the Soviet Union, whom Hamilton rates his when he got back, from people who hadn't listened to the end of most dangerous challenger, was fourth with 2.4. the game. "Twe been bearing from Simond was runnerup in the European championships last month. The winner of the European title, Norbert Schramm of West Germany, was in sixth Thesday, one spot behind Canadian Brian Pockar.

Hearns-Hagler Fight Said "All Set" for May

The Associated Press DETROIT - A showdown be tween undisputed middleweight champion Marvin Hagler and challenger Thomas Hearns is "all set" for May 24 at the Pontiac Silverdome, according to a report published in Tuesday's Detroit Free Press. "There are a few minor details left in the contract," Hearns' manager, Emanuel Steward was quoted saying, "but everything has been agreed to."

The official announcement of the fight will be made next week in New York, the newspaper said, adding that Hagler could earn $3 million and Hearns $2 million.

Peruvians' Mumbo-Jumbo Act Hits World Cup Stage Again

but the late Brazilian Manager

Claudio Coutinho left the pugnent

But pride simply overflowed

for age and lack of preparation, outplayed Uruguay weeks after the latter was adorned with that pretense crown as Gold Cup winners. Uruguay had "beaten" the previkidded itself it was a modern power: Peru pushed Uruguay aside in

There, the South Americans will the qualifying battle for Spain.

the next World Cup."

Golf Cart F/Sale: Apprx $18,000, Can Carry Clubs

DAYTON, Ohio — The sag-ging anto industry may have it hard these days, bot try unload-ing an $18,000 golf cart. "There are only two of them in the whole world," said owner Richard Seiter. "They were de-signed and built by George Barris, the custom automaker.

Barris, the custom automaker. Each one cost $17,645." Seiter and his wife held the winning ticket in a raffle conducted by the man who had originally ordered both carts but decided he wanted only one after all. "If someone would like to trade a late-model pickup or a van," said Seiter, "I'd talk to them." Neither Seiter plays The Rolls Royce of the fairways has a television set, a CB radio, a weather forecaster, a cassette tape player and a dis-penser for liquids.

It also has a space for golf

Kite Wins Playoff In U.S. Golf Event

ORLANDO, Fla. - Tom Kite chipped in from 20 feet for a birdie on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff to beat Jack Nicklaus and Rhodesian Denis Watson and win the Bay Hill golf tournament Mon-

Nicklaus, who had a one-stroke lead going into the final round but shot a 4-over-par 75, missed a 12-foot birdie putt. Watson, whose final round was 72, was wide with a 15-foot birdie attempt. Kite had started the day six shots behind Nicklaus, in a five-way tie for ninth, bot shot a 69-278 to gain a playoff berth. At 279 were Craig Stadler with a closing 70 and Lanny Wadkins with a 71. Fuzzy Zoeller (67) and Ray Floyd (76) finished at 280 and Gil Morgan (68), Tom Jenkins (69) and Scott Hoch (72) were at 3-un-beat them narrowly and fortui-tously in 1978; Italy, which wobtaste of bribery hanging in the air when he said: They [the Peruvian bles into neurotic fever at the drop of a witch's hat; and Cameroon, the relatively unknown African qualifier. Into the vacuum of that players] should feel no pride when they hear their national anthem at ignorance, someone stirs deep, mysterious tales. when Peru, gathering its team at a moment's notice and apologizing

Guess why Peru had to cancel World Cup warmups against Czechoslovakian and Hungarian opposition? Cameroon witch doctors. They apparently cast illness among the Peruvians, inflicting a type of typhoid on Jose Valasquez, the midfield veteran.

Vorld Cup champions and And guess what Peru is doing about it? "Tim," the Brazilian who emerged from history to coach the Peruvian success, is flying home to call on the high priestess of the Amazon Macumbas. That should fix those devilish Cameroonians.

most friendly recent correspond-ence from Cameroon, I reckon there are two more plausible reasons for Pern's calling off its friendly matches. The first is the little matter of destitute Pernyian finances - if the matches didn't look like paying, they wouldn't want to be playing. The second is that Peru may again have decided that what little the opponents know of their current form is more than enough - better to keep the mystery boiling.

Mystery there ain't about the qualities, the beautiful, mellifluous running, breathtaking touch-play and intuitive shooting of the likes of Cubillas and Juan Carlos Oblitas, Percy Rojas and Guillermo la Rosa. Nor do we lightly forget "El Gran Capitan," Hector Chumpitaz, who combines a granitelike solidity with crafty defensive moves, and the eccentricity of Ramon Quiroga, a goalkeeper well remembered for rushing to the halfway line to perform a crash tackle in the Argentine World Cup.

No, we know their styles per fectly well. We are merely baffled by their true ages.

Peruvian sportsmen like to cover their tracks with that dash of mystery that blurs age. Thus we are

Coe Will Receive Owens Award as Top '81 Amateur

NEW YORK - Sebastian Coe of Great Britain was named the winner of the first Jesse Owens International Amateur Athlete Award late Monday. Coe, who holds world records for 800 meters, 1,000 meters and the mile, will receive the award here next week at a dinner that will benefit the American Cancer Society and the Jesse Owens Memorial Foundation.

Coc received 50 first-place votes, easily beating American 400-meter burdler Edwin Moses, who finished second with six firsts. Third place went to U.S. sprinter Evelyn Ashford, followed by U.S. et gymnast Olga Bicherova.

Coe set four world records during the 1981 outdoor season, including a 1:41.72 for 800 meters and a 3:47.33 mile. That clocking was the secood time last the summer that Coe broke the mile mark.

In between, countryman Steve Ovett had regained the record. Coe and Ovett are scheduled to race each other three times in 1982: at 3,000 meters in London my track season."

BASKETBALL FOOTBALL

National Fostball League
HOUSTON—Wolved Carl Mauck, can Canadian Fostball League
MONTREAL—Named Joe Galaf ha

ARIZONA ST.-Fired Ned Wulk, head ARICUTED STATE—Announced the real state of footboll couch. BRIGHAM YOUNG—No n casistant feetbell cooch. SO, CAROLINA -Nomed Terry Kelly head

Menday's Results
Atlanto S. Les Angeles 0
Montreol 2. Boltimore 0
Boston 4, Detroit 1
New York (AL.) 18 1 2, Atlanto 16 1 2
Toronto 4, Chicago (Al.) 3 Teronto 4, Chicago (AL) 3 Oaklend 3, Son Francisco

ESCORTS & GUIDES

ROME ELECTE Club Excert & Guide Service. Tale 06/589 2604 - 589 1146 (10 cm. - 10 pm.) REANCOURT ESCORT SERVICE, near Frankfurt Airport. Tel; 06/771-73508. HAMMING ESCORT SERVICE. Tel: 0-00/4105228

PRANKFLIKT - WIISHADIN - MAINZ SHIRLEY Esset Service 0611/262728. PRANKFLIKT-WIISHADIN Esset Service. 06121-562184 or 842157.

Tel: 0611-481642.

Tol. 0511-051642.
DUBSELDORF ESCORT SERVICE Tol.
(2211-972605
REARCTURT - SIMONE AUSTRIAN ESCORT SERVICE. Tol. 052-054
Tol. 052/31 95 09.

ZURICH. VP BEOORT SERVICE: Tel: 057/5 18 76; 11:30om - Tom & ot dom . GENEVA. CHARLENE GUEST Service. Tel: 20 39 35.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS (Continued from Back Page)

ESCORTS & GUIDES ESCORTS & GUIDES ESCORTS & GUIDES ■ ZURICH - GENEVA ● A-AMERICAN ESCORT SERVICE CAPRICE Omega Excert Service Germany TEL: 0049-6103-82048 ESCORT SERVICE EVERYWHERE YOU ARE--OR GO AMSTERDAM IN NEW YORK America-Transworld ESCORT GUIDS SERVICE Tok 247721.

> CACHET U.S.A. NEW YORK 212-242-0638 or 212-274-1310 MAM, FORDA 305-944-8482 TLAUDEDALE, FLA. 305-943-847

TEL: 212-737 3291.

Other major cities available. LONDON

Portman Escort Agency 67 Chiltorn Street, Lenden W1 TBL: 486 3734 or 486 1 158

HONESTY ESCORT AMSTERDAM

TEL: 233143.

LONDON

Tol: 56 78 55.
VENNA - Y.L.Pr. HOSTESSES Excert Agency. Tel: 0222-903582
VENNA: MICHELLE Scort Service. Tel: Vienno: 52 51 28.
BRUSSES: MARTINE Excert Service. Tel: 428 01 42 ofter 2 pm.
TALY MELAN ANNA ESCORT Service. Prone 7363801

our AU 37 35.

ATHENS RECORT SERVICE. Telephorns Athens 360 30 42.

LONGON DISSUE Excert Service, Tele-01 589 0451. ON JAQUELINE Escort Service LONDON: JACKELINE Escort Service Tal. 01 402 7949 LONDON: MALE Escort Service. Tel. 01 404 0407. LONDON JUDY ESCORT, SERVICE, TEL-01 883 4187. IDNOON JUTY RECORT, SERVICE, TEJ 01 883 4187.

BISCUITWE CLASS OF London Excert Service. Tek 262 3108.

HEATHROW 2 SWINDON Excert Agency. Tek 0452 23146.

IDNOON BLANCA Excert Service. Tek 01 382 3667.

IONDON MARIE CLASE ESCORT Service. Tek 01 402 9538.

IONDON LANGEST Excert Agency. London / Heathrow. Tek 01 747 3304.

All KNIGHT ESCORT Service. Heathrow / London. Tek 01 747 3304.

IONDON. CHANTELLE ESCORT Service. Heathrow / London. Tek 01 747 3304.

IONDON. CHANTELLE ESCORT Service. Heathrow / London. Tek 01 747 3304.

IONDON. CHANTELLE ESCORT Service. New YORK CITY, Mio & Renee Escort Service. 272-888-166.

AMSTERDAM—IB ESCORT Service. AMSTERDAM-JB Escort Service: 222785 Builton Wieringenskroot, 3 - 5. ZIJEICH - SIMONE ESCORT Service. Tel: 241 63 76. MADRID. RUTH ESCORT SERVICE. Tel: 242:27 92. MURRICH STAR ESCORT Agency. Murrich 311 7900

COLOGNE - DUESSELDORF - ESSEN Escort Service. Tel: 0214/45749

Sebastian Coe

July 17; at 800 meters in Nice in August, and at a mile in Eugene, Ore., in September. "Those races," said Coe, "will be a major part of

National Basketball Association CLEVELAND—Fired Chuck Daly, head coach. Named Bill Musselman interim head

HOCKEY

Reflect Hockey Lespus

LEAGUE—Assisted Por Hickey, left win from the N.Y. Rongers to Quebec to complet the Jon, 4 trade that brought Robble Plerek from the Nordicues to the Ronners.

DETROIT—Traded Jim Korn. defensemen. 1
Toronto for future considerations,
EDMONTON—Traded Walt Podubny on Phil Deroultiand, left wings, to Toronto for Lourie Boschroon, center.

SOCCER

North American Sector Leepus
SAN JOSE—Signed Willem Suurbie defender.

Exhibiton Baseball

RICHFIELD, Ohio - Cleveland Cavalier Owner Ted Stepien fired

sistant before he succeeded then-

AND PROMOTIONS. Travel anywhere with multilingual excerts.

Major Credit Cards Acces

Musselman coached the team to a 25-60 mark last year before being

ESCORTS & GUIDES 06103-8612 Cologno - Bonn - Dusselderf -Even - Berlin - Huder Stotter - Barlin - Hunderg Stottgert - Munich FWITZERLAND: 0049-6103-8612: Zurich - Basel - Lucerno - Borno Lauceanno - Gonova. TALY: 0049-6103-8612

MGLAND: 01-428 796 Tol: Germany 0-6103-86122

212-765-7896 212-765-7754 330 E-56th St., N.Y., N.Y., 10019
This service has been feathers in U.S.A. & International modification profile & T.V. International excepts medical.

fired. He was replaced by Delancy. who previously had coached only at high schools and small colleges Monday's was the team's fifth Vanessa Escort Service coaching change since Stepien Bear Bryant ... I plan to get better.

Coach Daly Fired By NBA Cavaliers

Coach Chuck Daly late Monday and named Player Personnel Di-rector Bill Musselman as interim coach of the National Basketball the cook's family and she couldn't come. So they settled for dinner for 1,000 at a hotel here. Association team. Daly was a Philadelphia 76er asinterim coach Bob Kloppenburg and former coach and current general manager Don Delaney last Dec. 6. Since then Daly, who has a three-year Cleveland contract estimated at $500,000, has posted a 9-32 record. The Cavaliers are 13-46 this season; they returned Monday from a 1-6 West Coast road trip.

took over less than two years ago.

INTERNATIONAL

LONDON OXFORD ST EXCORT STRVICE Tel: 01 582 2408 WEST BAD & HEATHROW ZURICH

Tel: 01/47 02 12 - 69 22 45

e. ESCORTS NY &

212-591-2934 212-461-6091 212-961-1945 Clirls, be an escart. Call or write POI 176, Fresh Meadows, NY 11365, USA

> REGENCY - USA MORLOWIDE MULTILINGUAL NEW YORK CITY Tel: 212-838-8027 4 212-753-1864

> > By reservation only. * SHE * Escert Service

AMSTERDAM MULTILINIGUAL TEL: 222940

'ELLE' ENTERPRESES & ESCORT AGENCY Multiinguol Escrit 328 E 44 St, New Yark, NY 10021 Tel; 212-744-3838.

BELGRAVIA Escart Service tel: 736 5877.

LONDON ZARA ESCORT Agency Lordon, Heathrow & Galwick creak Tel: 01 570 8038. res: 01 570 BOSE.

AMSTRIDAM APOLLO Escort Service.
76 Apolloom, Amsterdom (0) 20766176.
VIENNA - EXCLUSIVE Escort Service.
764-07-74-61.

ALEXANDRIA'S

ESCORT SERVICE LONDON TEL 794 5215

RITA ESCORT SERVICE. Frankfuri Wiesbaden-Maira & surroundings. Tel

ONDON - CHILLEA COL Boot Ser vice, 51 Searchamp Place, Lando SW3. Tel: 01 584 6513/2749, 4-12 pm.

GENEVA V.I.P. Service. Noon to midnight. Talk 41 20 36.

Wiesboden A 06190-1624

To Do or Not to Do?

By Russell Baker

NEW YORK — Everybody wanted the president to do something. There was no agreement on what the president ought to do, but everybody thought he ought to do -well, something.

That's what presidents were for.

-

wasn't it? ting tight. It got people's goat. Sitting tight wasn't what presidents got paid for. Presidents got paid for doing something People began saying.
"The president can't cut the mus-

And there was the president sittard. All he does is sit tight." If you asked, "What would you like the president to do?" they said, "Planning and operations are not my business; they're presidents' business; let him quit sitting tight and start doing something and I'll support him."

Supporting presidents when they do something is what citizens do though sometimes they don't. Lyndon Johnson discovered that after he started doing something in Vietnam. And so when everybody started asking Jimmy Carter what he was going to do about the em-bassy people held prisoner in Iran,

Jimmy Carter sat tight.

The ever-helpful public opinion polls recorded the crash in his stock. It was the end of President Carter. He was a president who did not do something.

President Reagan is now experiencing the Carter effect. True, the press and television have been kinder to him than they were to Carter. TV newsmen do not yet sign off with "And that's the news on this 42d day of the recession." There is no nightly news special entitled "America Held Insol-

Still the oews shows present a nightly display of car dealers, homebuilders, farmers, shop owners and similar good Repoblican types talking about bankruptcy. Like Carter, Reagan sits tight. Rome is not built in a day, hostages not freed in a year, budget bloat not shrunk between autumn and spring. Thus the president's cool, sit-tight approach suggests. It is hard to fault him unless you are a car dealer at the edge of bankruptcy, or a Republican up for election in the fall.

One assumes, at least if one is American and therefore credulous about the inevitability of eventual happiness, that the recession will eventually get tired of itself and give away to renewed prosperity. If so, Reagan will doubtless claim political credit for his policy of sit-

It's harder to say what Reagan can do that is politically advanta-geous than it is to say that he ought to do something — do anything, for heaven's sake. It always is, as Carter learned in his efforts to cope with the Ayatollah Khomeini.

Reagan has created his own ayatollah by adopting a radical tax scheme and betting his — and the country's — future on its success, despite warnings from conventioneconomists and businessmen that it was potentially disastrous.

Pushing the tax program through Congress with the help of members now meaning about its results was the great victory of his first year in office. Though the vic-tory now looks pyrrhic it's hard to see how he can satisfy his former supporters in Congress and busi-ness by scuttling the tax program without conceding that his great victory was a flop.

In short, it's hard to see how he can do anything about the recession except sit tight. His best political hope may be that Congress will step in and reverse the policy in spite of him.

In that event if the economy remains sour he can go to the public with the charge that it's Congress' fault for not giving his policy time to work. What's more, most reversals being discussed in Washington would deny voters their so-called Reagan tax cuts." Politically, a president with a Congress to blame for taking his tax goodies away from the folks is a president profoundly blessed.

This could give him the best of both worlds; freedom from screwball economics endorsed for campaign purposes and a villainous Congress to blame for heavy taxa-

Sitting tight may be not only the only thing he can do right now, but also the best thing. Aside from

New York Times Service

Psychical Society's Centenary

By Robert Musel

FE

United Press International ONDON — On Aug. 10, 1901, Miss C.A.E. Moberly, first principal of St. Hughes College in Oxford, and her assistant and successor, Miss E.F. Jourdain, took a walk through the grounds of the French royal complex at Versailles that has been the subject of controversy ever since. As they moved slowly in the heat of summer, they recounted later, there was a feeling of oppression. Distances seemed to lengthen. People in ancient costumes waved and shouted urgently at them. There was the sound of court music and a lady, so richly dressed they felt she had to be important,

held up a sketch she had been drawing. Later, when the two educators realized that they had apparently walked along paths that had ceased to exist more than 100 years earlier, they decided to write each other an account of that extraordinary episode. They came to the conclusion they had somehow entered into the memory of Marie Antoinette on ber last day in the gardens before the French Revolution swept her away.

It was 1911 before they decided finally to publish their letters as "An Adventure." It caused a sensation. Misses Moberly and Jourdain might have drawn the wrong conclusions from what they thought they saw and heard but they were women of impeccable character and high intelligence. Nowhere was their account subjected to more intensive scrutiny than at the Society for Psychical Research, which this year celebrates its centenary as the leading scientific body in its field.

The SPR figures largely in a dramatization by Anglia Television of the mystery that, lightly fictionalized as "Miss Morison's Ghost," was a focal point of the recent International Television Festival in Monte Carlo.

It is one of thousands of cases examined by the SPR since it was founded in 1882 by Prof. Sir William Barrett, Alfred Wallace, who advanced a theory of evolution similar to Darwin's, and other leading scholars. They were protesting the refusal of many scientists to consider "unorthodox" phenomena. Its promise was to investigate with all the resources of science any happening "not explicable by any generally accepted hypothesis," and the SPR headquarters in London's Adam and Eve Mews has become a treasure house of the unusual.

The SPR does oot seek publicity but one of its researchers, Andrew MacKenzie, whose

REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE

PARIS AREA FURNISHED

field is hauntings and apparitions, discussed "An Adventure" and other cases.

What has eluded us is the meaning," he said. "We just don't understand them at all. In other words we've established that hauntings and apparitions happen but why and how is not known. Perhaps physics may provide an answer. Quantum mechanics deals with the unpredictable nature of sub-atomic particles. There is now a whole range of strange things — the backward flow of time, for example — which are accepted by scientists but seem to be quite beyond the grasp of even educated people.

"One of our former presidents, Henry Price [professor of logic at Oxford], suggested that apparitions might be something between mind and matter. In his theory they had a life of their own, existing in what he called the psychic ether and could be developed into visible images by a form of energy. Some people seem to have the power that "There may be more than one type of reality. These experiences may happen in an altered state of consciousness which is not fully understood, something between the conscious and the subconscious. We're not talking about people returning as ghosts from the dead. In fact we've been overlooking the significance of apparitions of the living - peo ple who see a living person where he or she shouldn't and couldn't be."

Misses Moberly and Jourdain were not the only persons who felt they had gone back-ward in time at Versailles. In 1908 John Crooke and his wife and son reported they saw a sketching lady. In 1928 Claire M. Burrow, mistress of a girls school, and a pupil, said they were shouted at in hoarse, uni gible French by an old man in a green and Misses Moberly and Jourdain also claimed to have seen men in green livery identified from the royal archives as probably the garas Claude Richard and his son Autoine. Miss Burrow drew a picture of a man of Claude's age (60) in 18th-century-type costume. The green livery was puzzling. The roy-al household uniform was red with blue facings. Then research turned up a note from Marie Antoinette asking that the livery be changed from green to red and blue.

As part of the centenary commemorations the society's experts are writing a series of books on its work. Mackenzie said his section, titled "Hauntings and Apparitions," has new material on four celebrated and, in his view, authentic cases.

 "The Cheltenham Ghost." The house in that English city still stands. Over a period of nine years 17 people say they saw a tall wom-an in black and more than 20 heard the dragging sounds associated with ber.

 The Abbey House at Cambridge where, for more than a century, the phantom of a little brown animal and the more sedate figure of a min were reported to have been seen.

• The Mill House at Willington is the only site MacKenzie knows of at which a man who came specifically to see a ghost reports that he saw one. A doctor asked permission to spend a night in the house and listen to the noises often reported. Suddenly there was an old lady standing before him, he recounted. "He had the most enormous fright and collapsed." MacKenzie said. Lord and Lady Carson thought they had a bargain when they bought Cleve Court in Kent and 20 acres for $5,000 in 1930. But they found they apparently also had acquired the resident ghost whose persistent presence accounted for the low price. MacKenzie thinks he has traced the source of the haunting and will reveal it in his book. With many members distinguished in various fields, down to the recent Nobel Prize winner, Prof. Brian Josephson, the society's researches have naturally ranged widely.

Did the psychic Daniel D. Home predict the assassination of Abraham Lincoln and did he, as some prominent Victorians swore, float out a window and back again? Did a Hungarian bishop really dream the assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand at Sarajevo on June 28, 1914, while it was actually happening? Did Robert Lees, Queen Victoria's clair-voyant, really predict a Jack the Ripper murder before it happened?

Can the human will influence games of chance? Does telepathy really exist? Some members believe it does. Some think otherwise, despite the society's remarkable experiments with the great classical scholar, Prof. Gilbert Murray, who sometimes came very close to mind-reading.

Stumping the Experts

The society met some interesting - and irate — people in the days when it was physi-cally grabbing flesh-and-blood "ghosts" in phony seances. There was one lady who at least baffled, if she did not convince, all the researchers of her time. She was a medium named Mrs. Piper and SPR members spent 25 years, beginning in 1886, studying her.

In a trance Mrs. Piper once claimed to be controlled by the spirit of one George Pelham, not long dead, and the researchers assembled 30 of Pelham's friends and scattered them in a crowd of 150 scenners. Mrs. Piper them in a crowd of 150 strangers. Mrs. Piper, according to one account, had no trouble picking Pelham's friends out of the crowd.

Twenty years ago the society gathered a new batch of cases. Few of them could match the older ones for richness and variety. It is possible that in this materialistic world the ability to generate psychic phenomena is fad-ing. It is also possible that the standards of inquiry may be higher today.

But the search goes on into its second century. As one member put it:

"It takes only one black sheep to prove all

Nugget Found in Store PEOPLE: Starts Mini-Coal Rush

in South Portland, Maine, Lor-raine Leary paid $4.50 for a 50-pound bag of coal, but she got a little something extra along with it: a one-ounce gold ougget. Leary was eleaning out her stove when she saw something glittering in the ashes. She recovered a chunk about the size of a kidney bean, and took it to an appraiser who certified that it was gold. They told me the gold content was a question mark, but said the nugget was definitely gold. They said if it was pure gold, it would be 24-carat and would be worth twice the market value of gold," she said. An ounce of gold now sells for about $325. The discovery prompted Leary to go out and buy another 200 pounds of coal from the same store. She plans to put all 200 pounds through a meat grinder in search of more ouggets. Mrs. Leary apparently is not the only "We sold out of coal over the weekend from people in the neigh-borhood. The story spread quick," said Barney Drillen, owner of the Paris city officials have ap-proved an idea to turn 6.5 tons of ron beams removed from the Eiffel Tower into souvenirs. The girders, removed last year during restoration of the 984-foot monument, will be shaped, varnished and sold in jewel boxes for $100 each, the officials said. About 20,000 souvenirs, weighing 10.65 ounces each, will be produced. Jean Kar-das, an unemployed worker, thought of the idea because he felt it was a waste to merely melt down the girders, some of which were 19 feet long, "This affair started out a little like a joke," he said. "When we found out what was going to happen to the iron girders of this celebrated monument so appreci-ated by foreigners, we immediately thought these pieces of the Eiffel Tower could find a better end." Kardas founded the "Association for the Consciousness of French Historical and Scientific Patrimooy" to save the girders. To prevent forgeries of the "iron originals," each of the 20,000 souvenirs will be indexed by computers and stamped with a red wax seal.

hardware store, "I guess a lot of people might be sifting through their ashes today."

Diana, Princess of Wales had a wish come true when she met actress Elizabeth Taylor after a charity performance of "The Little Foxes" at London's Victoria Palace Theatre, Royal aides said the 20-year-old Princess of Wales had long wanted to meet Taylor, but at the actress request the conversa-tion was kept secret. "The princess was charming, gracious and beau-tiful," Taylor told reporters after the meeting, "I was more than thrilled to meet her." The princess laughed uproariously when a Welsh Guardsman in scarlet maic went on stage to present Taylor with a bouquet, and the curtain was lowered on him by mistake. Earlier, Princess Diana missed a cue of ber own. As she dithered at the doorway to the royal box, the state trumpeters began their fan-fare and the spotlight fell on an empty seat. Lillian Hellman's drama opens to the public Thursday.

Leonid M. Zumyatin, a leading foreign policy spoketruan for Sovi-et President Leonid L Brezhner, has been awarded the Soviet Union's highest decoration on his 60th birthday. Tass said Zamyatin, who headed Tass from 1970 to 1978, was given his second Order of Lenin "in recognition of his services to the Communist Party and the Soviet state." He won his first Order of Lenin in 1971. Zamyatin acted as party spokesman to the foreign press during the party's 26th congress in February, 1981, and frequently handles media questions when Brezhnev travels

Add to the list of comic book beroes such as Captain Marvel and Spider Man a oew entry — Pope John Paul II. The Marvel Comics Group will publish a 64-page comic book on the pope's life this spring. Consultant on the book was the Rev. Micczyslaw Mainsid, official biographer and lifelong friend of the pope. The idea for a comic book based on the life of Karol Josef Wojtyla was born in Japan, where Marvel representa-tive Gene Pelc met Malinski, a member of the entourage that accompanied the pontiff on his trip to the Far East.

Former playwright and diplomat Clare Boothe Luce is selling her $4.5-million beachfront estate in Hawaii. Luce, 78, said she has put the 14-year-old home on Oahu's Kahala Beach on the market so she can return to Washington, where she serves on Preside Reagan's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board. She was U.S. ambassador to Italy in the 1950s and before that, an editor of Vanity Fair and a member of Congress from

SERVICES

TO USA or WORLDWIDE, contact your US travel agents Park 225 12 39.

HOLIDAYS & TRAVEL

THE HOLDAYS ARCAY OWNER-SHEP TIME-SHARENG SCHEME is on extension of the well

HOTELS RESTAURANTS

NIGHT CLUBS

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

REAL ESTATE WANTED/EXCHANGE

INT'L OFFICE

SEEKS FOR ITS MANAGEMENT,

uniful high class opartment, 4 ro and more, Paris 281 10 20.

ANNOUNCEMENTS SUBSCRIBE to the INTERNATIONAL HERALD

AMERICA CALLING

EKT27TH DPA22.FL Trovelers' mes soges. Write: Box 6262, Olympia, WA

98502, USA.

TRIBUNE AND SAVE. As a new subscriber to the International Herald Tribuns your can save up to 50%

For details on this special introductory offer, errite to:

HT Subscriptions Department, 21, Avenue Charles-de-Gaulle, 2200 Neully-sur-Seine, France, phone Paris 747-12-65 act. 306. IN ASIA AND PACIFIC

contact our local distributor on International Horald Tribuna 1801 Tal Sang Commercial Build 24-24 Honneagy Road HONG KONG Teh HK 5-286726 –

Ask the leading separation to tool and compile your PAMEY HETORY IT research To COAT OF ARMS.

A chievement, Northpice, Conterbury, Cert, UK, CTI HAHT. Tels (2027) 62618

DOMINICAN DIVORCE SMIVICES 24 Hours. Bufete Dominicono, Box 11187
Sontures, Puerto Rico 00910 U.S.A.
TELLING 1ew? - herving probleme?
SOS HELP grist-line in English 3 p.m.11 p.m. Telt Porio 223 80 80. Silve N.Y. TIMES. for Euro-delivery Write PCB 2, 1000 Brussels, Belgium. AA in English civily, Parls. Tel. 325 76.03./551.38.90.

> MOVING INTERDEAN

Who else for your next international move POR A FREE ESTIMATE CALL

CONTINEX, TEL. 281 18 81 PARIS (Near OPERA). Air & Sea to all countries. Economy rates. Also baggage. BAGGAGE Sea/Air Freight, remo vols, TRANSCAR, Poris, (1) 500 03 04.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

CERMANY ETURN 16.6%, Lessing Company, full-automotic, 1027 sq.m., fodory + office building, built 1975. DM 3,700,000. Write Imme Brailmonn, Sc-ingralies 29, 757 Baden-Baden, W. Germanne.

GREAT BRITAIN SOUTH KENSINGTON operiment.
Close menum, West End theatres. Dischart for the terminal from from the property of the terminal private garden with occase. I double bedroom, reception, fitted kitchen / cirrer, bothroom, phone. £ 26,000. Tel. London 373 01 32 (2 p.m. - 8 p.m.)

USA RESIDENTIAL LA JOLLA, CA. ON THE BLUFF. 3 rose LAS VEGAS, NEVADA, Hotel Cosino. Jockey Cub. 2-bedroom, 2-both con-do. By owner. Tol: Innsbruck, Austria, 777 452 (evenings). Iving + 2 Bedrooms, All comfor triplex, leat floor, Sunny, Veit Wednesdoy, 10th Moret, 2PM-4PM and Thursday, 11AM - 1PM. I Quai Montabello, 3th SERGE ANYSER, 229 60 60,

RUE DE LILLE

2nd TRIPLEX

MONTAIGNE

REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE GREAT BRITAIN

London 435 7122. Telests 29960.
LONDON: New Loary furnished flots.
Gorden setting. Heated pool. Convenient of ports. Suit 1-4, £130-180/week.
Tel: London 886 4062 or 202 3010.
LONDON. For the best furnished flots grad houses. Consult the Specialists.
Philips, Koy and Lewis. Tel.: London 839 2245.

LONDON houry properties, short/long lets - HERRIST 01 434 3717/8/9. Renthouse international

EMBASSY SERVICE 8 Ave. de Messine, 75008 Poris Your Real Estate Agent in Park 562 78 99

AT SACLE STUDIO TO 7 ROOMS, UNIVERSIBLE OR FURNISHED. SHORT TELM ACCEPTED. 45 rus de Noples 563 66 65 75008 Paris 563 66 65

MERCURE INT'L short term accepted for furnished opartments.

QUAI d'ORSAY

EXCEPTIONAL VIEW Seine & Notre Dame

IN 17th CENTURY TOWN HOUSE

haracter, beautiful reception, 3 bed-sons, 2 bathrooms, terroes. In the heart of Paris, Colm and withdrawn. A.13, 276 57 57.

receptions, 7 rooms, pres receptions, Tel: 387 58 24 / 551 68 39 mornings.

PLACE PLANCOIS 1 er. Old building, lovely 100 sq.m. flot, very quiet. COTAG 369 23 01.

VERSAILLES, OLD CHAPEL. 190 sq.m. to be modernized, possible commer-cial activity. F 650,000 very rare. Off-ica 951 51 86, evenings 750 61 43.

LONDON - For furnished flots & houses, the service leading US Corpora-tions use: Anscombe & Ringland, Tal-London 435 7122, Telexs 297660.

020-448751 (4 lines) Amsterdom, Bolestein 43. Paris area purnished

Magazine-oriented U.S. publishing com-pany with circulation throughout North America for sale. Now profitable, excel-lent growth potential. Principals calling $6 million. Box 15411, Hergid Tribuna, 92521 Neully cadex France. Kinchen, both, phone, F7200.

Specious duples, character, FACING SCUTH ON GARDEN EXCEPTIONAL CHARM Reception, 4 bedrooms, 2 belts, SMALL TERRACE, PARKING. F 3,700,000, VERNIE, 526 01 50

16th Trocadero - iena

OLD MARAIS - LOVELY 220 SQM + private 100 sq.m. garden, vost living + 3 bedrooms, 2 boths, perfect condition, mala's room, parting. COTAG 256 14 7E.

★ in 1966 the Frime Rate in the U.S. changed 3 times ★ in 1990 in changed 42 times. ★ in 1982 you can expect frequent changes again. We offer personal service, Stop Los Limits and automitration on profits. As for our free Lingdoore

UK & OFFSHORE LIMITED COMPANIES FORMED FROM £74 "U.K. + hile of Man
Anguilla + Gibrothar
Guarnay + Jersey
Pranana, Liberia, etc.
Registered Office
Namines Storeholders Directorial Services
Bank Introductions
Ready-mode Companies
SELECT COMPANY PORMATIONS
1 Affect St., Douglas, I.O.M.
Tel. office & office hours
Douglas (0624) 23718 (3 Fees)
Telex 628554 Select G

ACUPUNCTURE

BECTRONIC DEVICE

Without needles. Portable battery model. Cures pain of stiff shoulders, humbago, nustele poins, etc., "RYUSB" approved by Ministry of Health and Western I. Jopan. Tested by Kohnlechner-Institute in Germany. WMO approved acupuncture for 43 different sicknesses, Shown in magazines and TV around Europe. Looking for agents in different apuntiles. Prieg $220. Sample of $110 ctree. Train European Agency: Avrita Luncherg, Carvajal 9, Las Palenos, Canary Islands. 563 66 65

FROM STUDIOS TO TOWN HOUSES. r. St Philippe to Roule, Paris 8 256 30 57

REAL ESTATE PARIS & SUBURBS

tea included, Tel: 575 27 21. GELLE ST. CLOUID, well furnished, large living, 3 bedrooms, 2 boths. F4250. Solcony, Tel: 969 43 36 187H. NO AGENT. Luxerious living, bedroom, both, lines supply, 2 phones, 2 T.V.'s, madd: rooms. Tel: 647 76 60 provides on catrocine break from ho-lets, with fully equipped studio to 5-room appartments, including likehen, and hotel service if desired, from story of one week upwards. Information / central booking from PLATOTEL 43 use 5t Charles, Paris 15th, Teb 577 54 04, To 200406. PUBLET NEAR BITTEL TOWER. Lovely quiet 2-bedroom apartment, April 1st to July 31st or less. F3000/month utili-ties included, Tel. 575 27 21.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

WHO IS AFRAID OF THE

PRIME RATE?

COMMODITY TRADERS (LONDON) I.M. 7 Graville St, London BCI Tel: (01) 831 8778/9, Tel: 22553.

PUBLISHING COMPANY

REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE

PARIS AREA FURNISHED

H. INTERNATIONAL

SHORT TIRIM near Luxembourg Ger-dens, No Agent, Tel; 329 38 83, SHORT TIRIM. Lovely studio focing Ef-fel Tower, F3,000/month, 578 92 73 IST, CLASS APARTMENTS & HOUSE FURNISHED & UNIFURNISHED 15th HIGH CLASS 2 bedrooms, 100 sq.m., morble both, Weekly, 776 03 42 51 La Bourdonais 551 66 99 PARIS AREA UNFURNISHED NEAR CHAMPS ILYSIES, F11,500 charges included. Totally colin, on trees, 5-6 rooms, 29 baths, complete kitchen & loundry, fireplace, private CHARP DE MARS, Freezone building, beautiful gallery, triple reception, 2 bed-rooms, moid's room, Lucariously fur-rished, F8000, Tel. 555 82 33. kitchian 8. leundry, firepleies, private porking. Mernings, 563 64 64.

LE PERREUZ, next to RER, 4-room modnra oportment, quier oreo, garage, F3500 per month + charges. Available Immediately, 226 07 18 momings.

CEDENG LEASE 2 rooms, high class twoury, lasy money, 9 ne. J. Gougeon (nearMontpigne), 8th. Today 11 a.m. - 7p.m. HORT STAYS IN PARIS, FLATOTE

BUSINESS

WE ARE THE BIGGEST

WE ARE THE BEST

IN REAL ESTATE

JORN USI Self completely develope lots in Florido, Testa, Colorado, ciffornia, We pay highest commissio CAU, TOOM Y 603 565-667 OR TELEK 80-3728 In Preferred Enterprises, Inc 3000 N.E. 30th Place, Port Louderdale, Florida 33306

BAXHOR TRADING LTD

17 Raderass Way
London, SE? 118, England
Tab 01 402 $564
Tab 291112 AB / SOTRAD G
If you are purchasing or saling goods from or to Great Britain wa can provide compatitive sources of supply, quotations inclusive of freight & praurance, france Laterar of Credit, Worshousing, padding and distributions. Commission extended to agents.

OFFSHORE

BANK & TRUST CO.

FOR SALE

$79,500-CASH

Box 15357, Herald Tribune, 92521 Neutly Cedex, France.

COLOMBIAN EMERALDS
US$ 438,000 certified opposed. 30
certifie, 25 overage size, Held as loan collateral. Quick liquidation US$ 130,000 or with terms / borter. For

JAMES PSCHER & ASSOCIATES Investments in Precious Gens 1755 E. Plumb Lone, Suite 269 Rano, Nevada 89502, USA, Tel: [702] 322-1118.

COMPUTER PORTRAITS. Printed or T-drirts, on of-outh business that our own you $6000 - $8000/month. Color. B & W. new & used systems for instruction delivery. $12,000-$29,000. Kenno GmbH, Dept. M10, Postfoch 174082, 6000 Frankfurr, West Germany. Tel. 0611-747808. Tip. 412713, 10 cm-6 pm.

SEEK ART GALERIES in U.S.A., Germony, Switzerland etc. to sell reproductions of WOOD SCALE MODELS OF CLD SHIPS. Write: Maxime of Authorics Gildox de Kerting 75 rue Perronet 92200 Neully France.

FOR RENT in Grand-Lancy (Geneval LARGE HOUSE rooms, living room with fireplace equipped litteren, 1500 sq.m. garden. SF 3200 per month. Geneva 022 / 98 46 75.

EMPLOYMENT INTERNATIONAL LAW FIRM in Ports typist to operate word processing ma-chine, Apply with CV to Bar 537, Her-old Tribrine, 92521 Neutly Cadex, France.

JUNIOR SPACE SALES PERSON, preferable English mother tongue, good French, wanted for Paris office of American Company, Write with C.V. to Box 576, Hereid Tribune, 92521 NeWly Cedex, France. GENERAL POSITIONS WANTED POLISH PEMALE, 27, Masse's Agricul-ture, single, English, Russian, some German, cor driver, Interesting, citif-voted, discreen, inclustious, seeks for Anything serious considered. Write to P.O. Box 261, Telmidd, Theasoladid,

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

OPPORTUNITIES

HIGH TECHNOLOGY U.S. Video production company seeks investment for major European expansion project. European bonks involved. Akolor Investment Intentives. S1,000,000 minimum. Equity and or interest perfetopation ecopied. Serious inquiries carly reply-healtheath, Box 15422, Heredd Tribure, 72521 Neufly Cadea. Frames or felt 212-947-2500. Ext. 106 or The $2888 ICSNY UF - for details. INVESTMENT FIRM, syndicating American real estate is expanding its operations in Europe. We are looking for a successful businessman or firm who can sell our properties in Europe, has constacts with investors and can build a network of representatives, we offer superb products, integrity & Special commissions. Sox 15219, Heredd Tribune, 72521 Neufly cedes France. WORLD CUP, $PAIN 1982. Old Pool firm licensed to promote worldwide roofbul Fox 200,000 for promotional experiess. Chiers insurence & profit shorting. Also looking for local Agents, high commission. Write: Secretory, P.O.B. 2940 VAOUZ FL, Switzerland.

2940 VAOUZ FL, Switzerland.

REAL ESTATE COMPANY for sois.
South of Europe (not France), because of retirement, Very profitable. Net profit 1981: £100,000. Assets in real estate £130,000. Price £230,000 cash. Fully companer stoff. Only serious enquires to Box 15423, Herald Tribune, 92521 Neurilly Codes, France SCOTCH COMPUTER SERVICES is looking for component decline in company.

looking for companies dealing in computer hardware, - Le, printers, disc units, topes site, - who are interested in distribution for Holland, Places and details to: Position 51286, 1007 EG AMSTERDAM,

AMSTERDAM,

COTTON CANVAS - lents & terpovine for ormy & civil uses available. Conlact manufacturers and exporters. N.P.
Waterproof Industries tell, 207-P. Teutile Plazso, M.A. Jench Rood, Korachi, Pakistan, Telsan 24428 WPIOF PK Cable Waterproof Korachi,
U.S.-COMMODITY & Stock Broker
Company, cushorized capital $1 million, best broker connections, to sell for $12,000 cash, Write Box 15421, Harada Tribuna, 92821 Nasilly Cedex, France.

GOLD IN CANADA, Producing mining

GOLD IN CANADA. Producing mining unidately, wares to self. Transcribes, Box 215, CH-5401 Boden. Tel: London 937 9801, Switzerland 056/227125.

HOW TO MAKE A FORTUNE public

ing your own newsletter. Any country Lone, GPO 3845, Hong Kong.

BUSINESS SERVICES

GENEVA - INT'L ACCOLINITING + ADMINISTRATION SERVICES Iducioire Accolec, 15 rue de la Proini CH-1202 GENEVA.

International Business Message Center

LR.C. RECRUITS for permanent posi-tions English mother-tongue or fully bi-langual secretaries for int'l company, Paris. Teh 236 97 49 Paris. SECRETARIES AVAILABLE SECRITARY, 10 YEARS EXPENSIONS Shorthond 120 / hyding 83. American, 31, light French, Box 15419, Herold Tribures, 92521 Neully Cedex, France. NEED A TOP TEMPORARY or permanant secretary! Call G.R. Intertini 225 59 25 Paris.

EMPLOYMENT

GENERAL POSITIONS WANTED

TRANSLATOR, deponer Ports University, French, Dutch, English, some German, Highly experienced at commerce, christistroton, amport, export, Seels challenging post, 8ox 540, Heroid Tribute, 2521 Neurly Cedex, France GEMOLOGIST from GIA laboratories. Diamonds and colored stories. Owns complete portable laboratory, Will study every proposal, 566 77 93 Poris.

SECRETARIAL POSITIONS AVAILABLE

POSITIONS AVAILABLE

BUSINESS SERVICES

sperts specializing in incorporation strainstration of companies in ril or low lox areas, Coli or writes C. S.A. PO Box 164 St. Peter Port. Guernary, C.L. It Guernary 20200 / Tix 4191504

AIR COURIERS INT'L

The only way to send your urgest documents, serving over 100,000 clies workdwide. Telt Paris 862 24 62, 862 55 25 or 8.P. 10449-9707 Rosey, Fronce, Telex 230151 for ACI office in your own country

ENTERNATIONAL MANAGEMENT Services evaluable for Corporate Administration, Accounting, Incorporations & Consultancy, Writer SMS, Box 74, Europe House, World Trade Central, London El 9As.
OFFSHORE Off. Engineering Project Consultant evaluable. Paris based, Comton: L. Girard, 81 Route de la Raine, Boulagne 92100, France. Tel: [01] 604 67 02.
U.S. TAX RETURNS ROME / NICE prepared by a los lowyer. Tel: Rome 5561856/Nice 87127/4
HTHCENT TRANSLATIONS (English, Franch, Dutch, Indian, Forsi), Tel: 738 12 40 ext 311 Poris.
DONT VISTI PARIS ALONE. Take a high standard private guide with car.

high standard private guide with Call AFOS: 541 01 89/539 55 75.

US A PRENCH TAX ADVICE & return Ports-based US C.P.A. Tel: 052 31 35.

FINANCIAL INVESTMENTS

Swiss Medical Leasing Company Offers High Interest Yielding

CAPITAL

INVESTMENT

YOUNG PRESENTABLE WOMAN for office & sight housekeeping. Photo & reference. Dr. Gross, 3757 Green Vis-to Drive, Endino, Calif. 91436 USA.

DOMESTIC POSITIONS AVAILABLE POSITIONS AVAILABLE AU PAIR POR GREENWICH, Connecticut fornity, 4 children, oges 2, 4, 6, 10, Some housework, cooking, other help, Must drive. Photo required plus references. P.O. Box 372, Greenwich, CT 06830, U.S.A. FREELANCERS WANTED One of Europe's lorgest publishing componies seeks freelance experts for writing and consulting assignments or subjects such as a robotics - CAD/CAM DOMESTIC POSITIONS WANTED MARRIED PRENCH / AMERICAN couple with child seek to but corretuler in the USA. Husbonds good hondy-mon. Wife- good cook & housekeeper. U.S. postport, free to travel. Crit 370 MOTI, Vister good son U.S. postport, free to travel. Call (93) SS 11 85 or write Mrs. Lapierre, Chemin de L'iscours, La Colle sur Loup, 06480 France. BAGLISH NANNIES & Mothers' Helps free now, Nosh Agency, 27 Grand Fo-rade, Brighton, UKC Teli 682 666.

Condidates must have excellent subject laterwisedge & be familiar with industrial automation developments in one or more European countries. Please send curriculum vitae to: Publisher P.O. Box 71952 1006 ED Amsterdam The Hetherlands

EMPLOYMENT

EXECUTIVES AVAILABLE EXECUTIVE ASSISANT, Low student, 26 strong O & G, securities, EEC, Int'l bockground. Fluent German & Spanish. Seeks related poelflor May-Sept. Rocky Box 15420, Heroid Tribune, 71321 Neutily Cadax, France.

FINANCIAL INVESTMENTS

PLORIDA COMMERCIAL PROPERTY.
Portham needed, First-class incomeproducing properties. We are owners a builden not rections, Sort retiremenet ovellable. DRP Co., PO Box 57054, Birmingham, Ala 3259 USA.
SMALL INVESTORS NEWSLETTER,
Free copp. ASC, N. Ebbesens VEJ 25, 1911 Copenhagen V, Denmark.

OFFICE SERVICES

Your Office Base

Modrid

BN PRESTIGE LOCATION
Legal Company Domicillation
Individual Telephone & Telex Service
Multilingual Staff
Lusary Describe & Conference &oone
Expert Marketing & Legal Assistance

AUTOMOBILES WILL TRADE 1980 Remout 18 station wagon, outomotic transmission, 32,000 kms, French plates & specifications for our of equivalent value on East acoust of US. 1sh Frence (s) 424 91 17 AUTO SHIPPING

EMPLOYMENT

GENEVA Full Service is our Business

Translation and secretorial services.

LEXINGTON - LB.S. Pasea de la Castellana 141 Madrid 16 Tek 4590150, Tix: 48614 LEXLE Your Office Base Munich IN PRESTIGE LOCATION Legal Company Domiciliation
Individual Telephone 8, Telex Service
Multilingual Staff
Lutury Executive 8, Conference Rooms
Expert Marketing 8, Legal Assistance

1.8.5. - LEXINGTON GmbH Archellastr. 5 8000 Munchen 81 Tel: (87) 916001, Tbq 5215772 LONDON FURNESHED OFFICES. Softee of all sizes lunuriously furnished for sen-ior especiatives, Band Street and Soville flow. Teles, secretarial and reception fa-cilities. Albermarke Administration Ltd. UK 01 437 3306. Tix 275113 ALBMIN G

PARIS ADDRESS, Sport Paris, Sport 1937 (S.P. provides mod., Paris, Sport 1937 (S.P. provides mod., Paris, Sport 1937 (S.P. Tali, 339 4704 Thu 642504 F. For detailed information, please write nt? Herold Tribune, Bax 1713, Friedrich Str. 15, 6000 Frankfurt / W. Germany. MOLESCELS Business Address / Office Teles, phone, secretorial services. Con ract Men. Tel. 511 22 26. Telesu 61344 LONDON BUSINESS ADDRESS/ PHONE/TELEX, Executing, Suite 66, BY Regent St., W1. Tol.: 439 7094. MADISON AVE. N.Y. Excling new retail investment apportunity. Established and proven, we have the complete package ready to go. Nothing like it in the big capia. A read louch of class. For information write to licox $33, Herold Tribune, $7231 Newlify Cedes, France. B7 Regent 51., W1. 1000 LONDON BUSINESS ADDRESS. Phone conference subs, Morbie / talex / conference suite, Arch, Tel: London 723 2482 EURO CENTER AMSTERDAM, Full service. Keizersgrocht 99. Teli. (020) 265749, Teles 16183,

ATTENTION BUSINESSMEN: Publish your Business Message in the the International Herald Tribune; over a third of a million readers worldwide, most of whom are in business and industry, will read your message. Just telex us Paris 618595, before 10:00 a.m. ensuring that we can telex you back and your message will appear within 48 hours. You will be billed at U.S. 38.45 or local equivalent per line. You must include complete and verifiable billing address. OFFICE SERVICES

BUSINESS ADVISORY SERVICES S.A. 7, Rue Muzy, CH-1207 Geneva. Tel.: 36 05 40 Teles: 23342 A LONDON OFFICE WHEN YOU NEED IT

INTERNATIONAL
BUSINESS CIUB
A fundated office in London's West End or City with the status of a Branch Offiice, but only when you need it. Use of Cuty offices for business stationary, Secretarial services and messages dealt with of all times. Write for details:
IFC HOUSE
1/3 Montimer Street
London Wil England.
Or Telex 299/230 IPCENT G.

Your PERSONALIZED PARIS OFFICE Champs System Boile Business & legal address, mell, har massances & secretarial servir

YOUR OFFICE IN COLOGNE burness + Logal address, mail, taken + secretarial services. Logal tax casish max. Pandu GmbH, Neusser Sta. 26, 5000 Kools I, W. Germany, Tak 0221-720704, The 8883373

AUTO SHIPPING YOUNG WOMAN to accompany bus-ness executives in Ports, 541 17 40. SHIP YOUR CAR TO A PROM U.S.A. VIA ANTWERP AND SAVE Free to tel, Reguler sollings, JRK/McGuire Air port delivery, AMESCO, Kribbestroof 2, Antwerp, Belgium. Yeli 31 42 39, Teleso 71 409. ress executives in Ports, 541 17 40, YOUNG PR LADY, Excellent presents non, 4 longuages, Teli 633 91 86 Paris PR. YOUNG LABY, transport, excellent opportunes. Paris 527, 01 93. Telesa 7140v. FRANKPURY/MAIN - W, GERMANY H. Isermann Grabh, Tel. 0611-448071. Pick-up all over Europe * ro/ro-ships. LOW COST FLIGHTS

AUTOS TAX FREE TAX FREE CARS

Lorgest inventory in Europe.
Europeon, Jopanese and American core.
All broad new, Some day delivery and revolution registration.
P.C.T. Expart International Ltd.
604, Breddonan - 2060 MericannAntwern-Belgium, Tal. 031/46-50.15 or 46-50 3 The 46-70 1 The 25564 46.50.31 or 46.70.91, Tix 35546, TAX FREE CARS

FOR INMIDIATE DILIVERY SYMBOL INT. GROUP 66-70 Park Lane London, England Tel: 0] 491 8845 Teles: 8813663

TRANSCO TAX PRIM CARS
LARGUST STOCK IN BURGHT
Send for free cotalog & stock list 9:
Noorderborn, 2030 Antwerp, Beighten
Tel: 031-426240. The 35207 TRANS-B.

FUROPORT TAX INSE CARS All makes, Coll for free cotolog. Box 12011, Reterdom Airport, Holland Tel. 010-623077. The 25071 EFCAR N.

BOATS AND RECREATIONAL VEHICLES

SOUTH OF PRANCE - £ 44,800
Really beautiful condition, 45th, mater years absolutely 100% ready for immediate private or clarate use. Seeps 12 in 5 calcins, including lusury master state ratificant very low time since new. Perists V8 510 classil. Litter generator, 11 ft, dary with 25th Johnson, sutopilial, sallor VHF, electric 5 & G log, 8 & G sch-asunder, Kant deep screen. Fully sautoped with warps, fire equipment, crodery, glosses, swerything down to the last point brush. Lying Connes. Owner very causious.

Castlemain Mediane Franco., 45 Avenue Pastery (6600 Arribes. Tal. 173) 3 57 17, Telex 470009 F. CASTLE.

AVIATION AIRCRAFT FOR SALE Executive Bosing 707-1238. Two HS-125-700's

Cortech Dr. Abdul Fettah No. Mr. Humain T famirly. Teles: 401492 AVCO SL Soudi Arabia. Tak 6692628. LEGAL SERVICES

Principals only

ALL U.S. COURTS - HAGUE, N.I.
Tricks, finance, oil mothers, inhegrify in Who's Who in America. Fluen
German-tel' detected.
P.C., State Tower Bldg., Syracuse
NY 13202. Tel: 315-471-$$22. US TAX. VISA & IMAMIGRATION specialist. Tos returns grepored Consultantulión, 91 Flog. St. Honore Ports 8s. Tal. 266 90 75, The 642066 F. US IMAMIGRATION & VISA mother Law office Edwards. S. Gudeon, F.C. 62 Poll Molt, Landon SW1. 930 6451. SERVICES

PR/INTERPRETER & TOURISM GUIDI Presentation, English Para 562 05 87. PLINGUAL NUMBERS & traveling unarion. Para 500 58 17.

PARES - YOUNG LADY: F.R. excellent appearance, multilingual, 553 62 62.

EUROPE Amsterdente Alfons Grim Tel.: 26 36 15. Tel., 361 83 97/360 24 21. Frankfurtz H. Jung or S. Korrad Tel.: 72 67 55. Lisborie Rije Amber Tel.: 67 27 93 8, 60 25 44

OTHERS

Hong Kongs C. Chency Tel.: 5 - 420 906. New Yorks Sandy O'Hero Tel., 752 38 90. ol Aviva Dan Ehrlich Tel., 229 873.

established fine-tharing of property.

Med. A (NOA)—PROOF PACIFICATY

Instance for five years or

LLOURY YACHT

With a seet of less than year recent ear.

Time-sharing when opposed to yearts makes the droom or readily.

Year was have years own yearth its. makes this dream a reality.
Yes wan here year even years to IALY, White a reality.
The best holidays for you, your family, your friends, at the best price plus at the end of 5 years, the prospect of having a large percentage of your while invesment returned to you. Credit terms profilets, All anguirtes to HOURAYS ARLOAT BET.
P.O.B. 346, CH-1211 Geneva 12. 38,115 41 3

DOO

TUDGE HOTEL 304 East 42nd St., New York City. In fushionable, East Side Manhanen, y block from UN, Single from $45 doubles from $40. Teleso 422951, Tel: 800-522-7538 FOR SALE & WANTED POR SALE COMPLETE KITCHINA, of most new, application 8. colorens white, F20,000. Tell Peris 764 97 62 * 1 EDUCATION . .

2031,

ing. Ita

ir.

UM

 $\mathfrak{f}_{\mathfrak{l}_{[1]_{H}, \frac{1}{2}}}$

REALISTICALLY learn French, French cooling and wines in a commercials French home in rurel BURGUNDY. Small rymnium, adults only, For informa-tions YETABO, Pally, 87140 Ponts-Yonne, France. PAGE 15 FOR MORE

For advertising into contact the TRIB's office in your country. HEAD OFFICE Paris: Max Ferrero Tel.: 747.12.65.

CLASSIFIEDS

onders Michael Mitchell Tel.: 01 836 4802. Medicials A. Unicoff Son Tel., 679 34 37 Viennes McKim White Tel: 52-03-97 & 54-15-06.

 $h^{\mathrm{out}_{1}^{\mathrm{out}}}$ ٠١,٠